Allies Reach Reservoir; Bitter Resistance in West

Losing Fight

Boerker Says Forest Slashing Causes Many Flood Troubles

High Prices for Lumber, Lack of Replanting Cited as Basis of Trouble

A lot of the flood troubles in the Catskill Mountain area comes from "slashing off our Catskill forests," is the opinion of a conservationist who has devoted considerable study to the region.

Dr. Richard H. D. Boerker, former teacher at Kingston High School and conservationist of note, in a recent letter to a Freeman staff member stressed that "In the last 10 years we have been slashing and denuding the mountains at an alarming rate."

Dr. Boerker said he was thinking particularly of "just the region hit by the floods: Woodland Valley, Chichester, Mt. Tremper," and others.

Consequences Not Regarded

High lumber prices are an inducement for getting everything out of the woods, "regardless of consequences," he said, and because of this, "the water-absorbing leaf mold is soon destroyed, and the water comes down pronto into the streams instead of soaking into the ground. You have high water now and maybe drouths in summer."

The last flood, he felt could not be blamed on Dr. Howell, although he might have "filled the reservoir by his rainmaking and thereby the water had no place to go except over the dam."

Dr. Boerker said he had some interesting conservation experiences since leaving Kingston, and a "big thrill" in visiting Fontana dam in the Great Smokies of North Carolina."

Classified as 'Nut'

"This," he said, "goes back to the days when Teddy Roosevelt and Pinchot were just making the word 'conservation' known. I was at college at the time and became interested. I wrote articles for my college paper, for local newspapers, and for magazines on why the forests of the Appalachian mountains should be preserved, pointed out the great need of controlling erosion and the terrific floods by protecting the mountain forests. Of course, this was a voice shouting in the wilderness. My kind was classified as 'a nut' and for a long time effusions fell on deaf ears, for in those days as now, anyone advocating government ownership was a socialist and therefore an enemy of the people. Worst of all there was not even a law whereby the government could acquire these mountain forests. However, we conservationists kept pounding away for the only logical solution. If private industry does not take care of the public welfare, then the government must step in.

"Hence you can understand the great thrill I got on top of Fontana dam—480 feet high, one half mile long, 350 feet thick at the base—backing the water up in the Smokies for 29 miles. There I saw a dream come true after some 45 years. To the north of me were the Great Smokies with Gregory Bald and the fire tower, and to the right Thunderhead Peak 5,530 feet — all within the National Park. In back of me were two great National Forests. There is no timber cutting in the National Park and it is strictly under control in the National Forests.

Reminds Him of Catskills

"This portion of the mountains reminded me a lot of the Catskills. Slopes were steep, soils shallow, but the stand was open pine very poor for stopping the water. Parts of these mountains have over 140 inches of rain a year; about three times as much as at Kingston. Therefore, when it rains there, brother, get a rowboat or be washed away. It was not uncommon before the dam was built for the Little Tennessee river to rise 14 feet in one day and carry everything with it. Now this river and the Big Tennessee is made to behave by a score or more dams all

Spring Clean-Up Week Announced

Mayor and Fire Chief Ask Participation of All in Kingston

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk announced today that the week of April 23 will be Spring Clean-Up Week in the city.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, in support of the annual spring drive, urged every resident to participate conscientiously and to eliminate common fire hazards as the house and grounds are cleared by all local residents.

Attention should be given to accumulations of paper, magazines and rags, discarded furniture, old mattresses and other useless articles piled in basements, attics and closets, the chief said.

"Don't burn this material, but sell it or turn it in for salvage," he said. He also referred to dirty chimneys and heating plants as some of the other fire hazards needing attention in the drive.

"Statistics show that 90 per cent of all fires could be prevented by eliminating common hazards. We pay an appalling price in life and property for our negligence," the chief said.

"But this need not be the case in Kingston. Let's clean out these fire hazards in our homes, stores, offices and factories. Let's be safe instead of sorry."

The clean-up drive in the city, the chief said, is being conducted in conjunction with the campaign sponsored nationally by the National Fire Protection Association.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 10 (AP)—The position of the treasury April 6: Net budget receipts $198,153,664.62. Budget expenditures $133,865,426.21. Cash balance $8,148,460,088.51. Customs receipts for month $12,256,381.23. Budget receipts fiscal year July 1 $36,233,711,146.46. Budget expenditures fiscal year $31,106,581,116.46. Budget surplus $5,127,130,030.00. Total debt $254,869,853,022.29. Decrease under previous day $20,040,988.82. Gold assets $21,806,157,861.88.

Memorial Tablet Committee Named To Honor Veterans

A local Memorial Tablet Committee was named last night at a meeting of local aldermen and delegates from various veterans organizations to study the proposal to build a permanent honor roll for those who served the armed forces in various wars.

The group which met with Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk decided the city should have a centrally located honor roll, and the committee named is composed of the presidents of the veterans organizations and Second Ward Alderman Benjamin Storms and Alderman John Buboltz, Fourth Ward.

James M. Krom, secretary of the Kingston Veterans Association, was elected chairman and Mayor Newkirk, honorary chairman of the committee.

The mayor called the presidents of the veterans organizations and the aldermen to discuss the possibilities of the larger permanent honor roll. Various wards of the city now have separate honor roll boards and displays which are not of permanent structure. It was the concensus that a permanent tablet should be built.

Those attending were Charles R. Stall, Colonial Camp. No. 75 United Spanish War Veterans; Raymond K. Meyer, Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386 V.F.W., Harold A. Sanford, Company M Veterans Association; Bernhardt S. Kramer, American Legion Post 150; and Albert J. Melville, Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League.

Mac Arthur Denies Pace Reprimand

General Will Continue Fight for Freer Hand in Korea; Spokesman Gives Statement

Holds to Views'

MacArthur Defends His Beliefs on Ways to Fight War

Tokyo, April 10 (AP)—General MacArthur made it plain to his superiors today that he intends to keep right on fighting for a freer hand in the Korean war.

He authorized a spokesman to sharply deny news reports that Army Secretary Frank Pace, Jr., had reprimanded him for recent public statements deemed to be verging on politics.

The spokesman added that since the reports were carried by a British news agency, Reuters, "probably the wish was father to the thought."

With some British voices already clamoring for MacArthur's scalp, this seemed like fresh defiance from the United Nations commander-in-chief.

Sticks to Ideas

Informed sources also said that MacArthur stood pat during a two-hour conference Monday with Pace on views that have provoked a storm of controversy in Washington, London, Paris and elsewhere.

These views include belief that an all-out war must be waged against communism wherever that threat appears; that it would be a mistake to neglect Asia in order to emphasize defense of Europe. He is understood to have asked Pace for more troops.

Informed sources said MacArthur not only had asked Pace for more troops but for greater latitude in fighting the Korea war. (Presumably MacArthur sought the right to bomb Chinese bases in Manchuria which are supply heads for Communist troops in Korea. MacArthur has railed frequently at the "privileged sanctuary of Manchuria.")

MacArthur Accused

Critics have accused MacArthur of departing from purely military problems to engage in discussions of a political nature.

Just what is MacArthur trying to do?

From this war-conscious capital, it appears that he is fighting for a sincere belief in a military necessity.

The general obviously believes what he says: That U.N. forces can win in Korea only by expanding the war to Red China; that otherwise the allies face a devastating stalemate.

There are growing indications that the general and his aides are appealing to American public opinion, either over or around the administration. For one thing, a close check of editorial comment is made here.

Views Gain Popularity

Officers say the general's views are becoming increasingly popular. They insist also that he is speaking of military necessity with no intention of embarrassing the Truman administration.

The issue is much older and embraces more than the immediate point of whether Red China should be bombed and Chinese Nationalist troops employed. It involves the fundamental question of whether the western powers should concentrate upon Europe's defense to the relative exclusion of Asia.

It concerns basic differences between the thinking of American

President Asks Help From Unit

Washington, April 10 (AP)—Business, labor and farm leaders have an appeal from President Truman to quit playing economic leap-frog and team up against inflation.

The President's plea to his 17-member mobilization advisory board at the White House yesterday was:

"I've got to have the complete cooperation of every segment of our population."

With that Mr. Truman asked his new advisory group to face up to two of his toughest mobilization problems. The board is headed by Economic Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson and has four members each from agriculture, labor, business and the public.

One problem is what can be done to change the Defense Production Act, expiring on June 30, to help do a better job in controlling inflation.

Another is the stalemate on the Wage Stabilization Board. It has been inactive for nearly two months since labor members walked out in fury over mobilization policies.

Support Is Good

Mr. Truman hopes he can thresh out his domestic mobilization problems within the board and, by achieving agreement there, get the country's support.

Newsmen were given a report on the board's initial meeting by Joseph Short, White House press secretary. Short said the discussion on possible changes of the Defense Act, which contains the authority for price, wage and other controls, was general.

There was "considerable discussion" about the wage board impasse. The administration has been reported considering establishment of a new wage board composed entirely of public members, instead of the present board representing industry, labor and the public.

From other sources it was learned Mr. Truman told the new group that efforts to set up a new Wage Stabilization Board could be attributed largely to industry's reluctance to hand over to the proposed new agency any dispute handling powers, as organized labor has advocated.

The objection has been that to give dispute settling powers to the wage board would interfere with normal collective bargaining and with the Taft-Hartley Act.

Short said he expected nothing would be done about the problems at least until after another meeting of the Mobilization Advisory Board Thursday morning.

Disposition of the wage board situation is pressing. Hundreds of negotiated labor-management contracts have piled up, waiting for approval.

The army has decided to allow only 1½ cents of a six-cent hourly pay boost due by agreement to 1,000,000 non-operating railroad workers. A special panel to consider whether the remaining 4½ cents hourly increase can be paid the workers within stabilization policy is due to be named soon.

Taylor Is Named

Washington, April 10 (AP)—President Truman today named Robert B. Taylor, Adams, Ore., farmer, as a member of the National Advisory Board on mobilization policy.

Hayden Admits He Joined Communists, Then Resigned

Declares His Approach Was Unsound and Emotional; Asked by Woman

Washington, April 10 (AP)—Movie star Sterling Hayden said today he joined the Communist party in 1946, but that he now thinks this "was the stupidest, most ignorant thing I've ever done in my life."

"I went into it with an emotional and very unsound approach," Hayden told the House Un-American Activities Committee.

He said he joined the party in June, 1946, and broke with it in December.

He said he was turned against the party upon finding there wasn't anything democratic about it, something he had been led to believe while he was working with the Yugoslav underground as a marine lieutenant during the war.

"It took me a couple of months to realize that they believe they alone have the key, that they know what is best for everyone.

"I decided to get out. And I got out."

Hayden said he signed up with the party at the request of a Bea Winters.

Former Secretary

Miss Winters, he said, was a former secretary for a Hollywood agency, Allen Berg, Inc., which later became the William Morris Agency. He told the committee he doesn't think the agency knew about Miss Winters' beliefs.

He joined the party, he testified, after his discharge from service in December, 1945, and his return to a civilian life which he said he found "disturbing."

The 35-year-old actor said he went back to Hollywood uncertain whether to go to his original job as a seaman, or whether to do something "about this political thing" he discovered while serving in the Yugoslav Partisan movement as a U. S. Army agent.

Finally, he said, Miss Winters asked him:

"Why don't you quit talking and

Builder Was Well-Known in Kingston; Operated in County

Baltimore, April 10 (AP)—Samuel R. Rosoff, who carved out a fabulous career as a digger of subways, owner of railroads and builder of tunnels and canals in many countries, died last night in Johns Hopkins Hospital. He was 68.

A resident of New York, he entered Johns Hopkins April 1. He failed to rally from an operation Saturday for what a hospital spokesman termed a "chronic intestinal condition."

One of Rosoff's boasts was that he never went to school a day in his life. But he made and lost several fortunes—and was rich when he died, although he said it was fun to make money, not to keep it.

Rosoff left his native Russia as a youth after his father died. He worked his way to England on a cattle boat.

Arrived Early in Century

He arrived in the United States in the early 1900's and since then had:

Worked as a candy and newspaper butcher on trains;

Made some money raising a sunken vessel in the Gulf of St. Lawrence—then lost it all on a flyer in Irish potatoes.

Using what one biographer called "gall and promissory notes," turned a $200,000 profit by buying up scrap stone from quarries and selling it for use in Cape Cod Canal breakwaters.

Former Officer In Navy Suspended On Security Count

Brunauer and Wife Are Called Subversive on List Made by McCarthy

Washington, April 10 (AP)—The State Department said today the navy has suspended former commander Stephen Brunauer "under Navy Department loyalty and security procedures."

Brunauer has been employed as a civilian on explosives research for the navy.

Along with his wife, Mrs. Ester Caukin Brunauer, the former officer was named by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) last year in a list of government employes McCarthy regarded as subversive.

In announcing the navy action, the State Department said it had suspended Mrs. Brunauer from a department job pending the outcome of navy action on Brunauer. She has been employed by the department's United Nations staff as a liaison officer.

Wife Makes Denial

At the time of McCarthy's charges last year, Mrs. Brunauer declared she was not, "never have been, and couldn't possibly be a Communist."

She described her husband as a "thoroughly loyal American" a vigorous anti-Communist and "able and brilliant scientist who made a distinguished contribution to the war effort." She said he received a navy letter of commendation and the order of the British Empire decoration.

"As a result of what he did during the war in the field of high explosives, certain new explosives were developed which were of great value in anti-aircraft and undersea warfare," Mrs. Brunauer said then in a statement.

Shad Roe Catch

Tom Ferraro, a well known local shad fisherman, reported the catch of a shad roe at 11:30 a. m. today. Ferraro landed an eight-pounder in the waters near Bill Edelmuth's summer camp on the Rondout creek at Eddyville.

Macy Says Dewey Asked He Destroy Letter; Denial Made

Islip, N. Y., April 10 (AP)—Former Congressman W. Kingsland Macy says Gov. Thomas E. Dewey asked him four times to destroy the "Hanley letter" before it became public during the 1950 campaign.

Macy says he refused, because "I'd be part of the scheme if I destroyed the letter."

"I was the unwitting recipient of an unwanted letter," the Republican ex-congressman added.

A copy of the letter—written to Macy by Joe R. Hanley, then lieutenant governor—fell into Democratic hands and it became a hot issue in the New York state campaign.

The Democrats charged the letter was evidence of a "payoff" to Hanley to step aside as the outstanding candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination and leave the field clear for Dewey to run for reelection.

Hanley wrote the letter shortly before the GOP state convention, which made nominations for various offices.

After Macy made the statement last night, Dewey's secretary, James C. Hagerty, issued a statement in Albany.

Hagerty said Dewey and Frank C. Moore—then state comptroller and now lieutenant governor—"received Mr. Macy once" at the Republican State Convention.

"On that occasion," Hagerty said, "they both advised him that he should either destroy the letter or return it to Mr. Hanley because

Allied Warships Hit Communist Dumps, Routes; No Contact With Enemy

Artillery Used

Both Sides Employ Big Guns, Foe Also Tosses Mortar Shells

Tokyo, April 10 (AP)—Allied troops reached the southern shores of the sprawling Hwachon reservoir today but stopped short of the big North Korean dam and hydro-electric plant.

A.P. Correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported from the central front battleground that the water behind the dam still is about 200 feet deep. The Reds opened 10 of the reservoir's 18 floodgates Monday in a try to halt the allied drive. But water quickly subsided to near-normal levels in the Pukhan river, resorvoir outlet.

American units paced the allied assault on the dam. The Communists fought back with a steady barrage of mortar shells.

Bradshaw said it was believed the Chinese lacked the equipment necessary to blow the dam.

In the air, American F-86 Sabre jets shot down one Russian-type MIG-15 jet fighter and damaged another, the air battle was fought at low level over "MIG Alley" near Sinuiju in northwest Korea.

Other Fifth Air Force planes Tuesday flew close support missions for the allied infantry and continued their dawn-to-dusk attacks on Red supply lines.

Resistance Is Bitter

Bitter Communist resistance was reported from the western front as allied patrols probed deeper into Red Korea. Intelligence reports said the Reds were sending more troops to this sector.

On the east coast allied warships hammered Communist supply dumps and traffic routes. There was no report of ground contact on this front.

As the allied offensive punched northward, informed sources in Tokyo said General MacArthur had asked for more troops and greater latitude in fighting the Korean campaign.

He reportedly told Army Secretary Frank Pace it would be a mistake to neglect Asia in order to emphasize the defense of Europe.

Tuesday's heaviest fighting swirled near the Hwachon reservoir.

American tanks rumbled northward on the Chunchon-Hwachon road through the narrow Pukhan river gorge.

Communists Fight Hard

On a 15-mile front to the east, allied infantrymen ran into die-hard Communist forces. The Reds opened up with mortar, machine gun and artillery fire.

About 800 Reds dug in south of the reservoir threw a heavy mortar barrage at advancing American troops. Other Red units attacked French troops driving on the reservoir's eastern tip.

Farther east strong and stubborn Communist forces bitterly resisted an American advance in the Yanggu area.

American and South Korean patrols thrust inside Communist lines on the western front Tuesday against strong resistance from dug-in Red troops.

Are Building Forces

General MacArthur's communiques reported the Reds were trying to build up their forces all along this front.

The Communist jet fighter shot down Tuesday was the sixth destroyed by the Sabre jets this month. Seventeen MIGs have been damaged, one of them in a brief mix with four F-80 Shooting Stars over Chongju in Tuesday's second jet air battle.

The Fifth Air Force flew more than 200 sorties by noon Tuesday. They were after the 1,800 Communist vehicles spotted moving south Monday night.

Preliminary claims included three tanks and 20 vehicles destroyed.

B-29 Superforts Tuesday dropped 100 tons of high explosives on Pyongyang, North Korean capital. They hit the Pyong-

Mr. Truman hopes he can thresh out his domestic mobilization problems within the board and, by achieving agreement there, get the country's support.

Newsmen were given a report on the board's initial meeting by Joseph Short, White House press secretary. Short said the discussion on possible changes of the Defense Act, which contains the authority for price, wage and other controls, was general.

There was "considerable discussion" about the wage board impasse. The administration has been reported considering establishment of a new wage board composed entirely of public members, instead of the present board representing industry, labor and the public.

From other sources it was learned Mr. Truman told the new group that efforts to set up a new Wage Stabilization Board could be attributed largely to industry's reluctance to hand over to the proposed new agency any dispute handling powers, as organized labor has advocated.

The objection has been that to give dispute settling powers to the wage board would interfere with normal collective bargaining and with the Taft-Hartley Act.

Short said he expected nothing would be done about the problems at least until after another meeting of the Mobilization Advisory Board Thursday morning.

Disposition of the wage board situation is pressing. Hundreds of negotiated labor-management contracts have piled up, waiting for approval.

The army has decided to allow only 1½ cents of a six-cent hourly pay boost due by agreement to 1,000,000 non-operating railroad workers. A special panel to consider whether the remaining 4½ cents hourly increase can be paid the workers within stabilization policy is due to be named soon.

Samuel Rosoff Dies in Baltimore

Builder Was Well-Known in Kingston; Operated in County

Baltimore, April 10 (AP)—Samuel R. Rosoff, who carved out a fabulous career as a digger of subways, owner of railroads and builder of tunnels and canals in many countries, died last night in Johns Hopkins Hospital. He was 68.

A resident of New York, he entered Johns Hopkins April 1. He failed to rally from an operation Saturday for what a hospital spokesman termed a "chronic intestinal condition."

One of Rosoff's boasts was that he never went to school a day in his life. But he made and lost several fortunes—and was rich when he died, although he said it was fun to make money, not to keep it.

Rosoff left his native Russia as a youth after his father died. He worked his way to England on a cattle boat.

He arrived in the United States in the early 1900's and since then had:

Washington, April 10 (AP)—Movie star Sterling Hayden said today he joined the Communist party in 1946, but that he now thinks this "was the stupidest, most ignorant thing I've ever done in my life."

"I went into it with an emotional and very unsound approach," Hayden told the House Un-American Activities Committee.

He said he joined the party in June, 1946, and broke with it in December.

He said he was turned against the party upon finding there wasn't anything democratic about it, something he had been led to believe while he was working with the Yugoslav underground as a marine lieutenant during the war.

Brunauer and Wife Are Called Subversive on List Made by McCarthy

Washington, April 10 (AP)—The State Department said today the navy has suspended former commander Stephen Brunauer "under Navy Department loyalty and security procedures."

Brunauer has been employed as a civilian on explosives research for the navy.

Along with his wife, Mrs. Ester Caukin Brunauer, the former officer was named by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) last year in a list of government employes McCarthy regarded as subversive.

In announcing the navy action, the State Department said it had suspended Mrs. Brunauer from a department job pending the outcome of navy action on Brunauer. She has been employed by the department's United Nations staff as a liaison officer.

Wife Makes Denial

At the time of McCarthy's charges last year, Mrs. Brunauer declared she was not, "never have been, and couldn't possibly be a Communist."

She described her husband as a "thoroughly loyal American" a vigorous anti-Communist and "able and brilliant scientist who made a distinguished contribution to the war effort." She said he received a navy letter of commendation and the order of the British Empire decoration.

"As a result of what he did during the war in the field of high explosives, certain new explosives were developed which were of great value in anti-aircraft and undersea warfare," Mrs. Brunauer said then in a statement.

Macy Says Dewey Asked He Destroy Letter; Denial Made

Islip, N. Y., April 10 (AP)—Former Congressman W. Kingsland Macy says Gov. Thomas E. Dewey asked him four times to destroy the "Hanley letter" before it became public during the 1950 campaign.

Macy says he refused, because "I'd be part of the scheme if I destroyed the letter."

"I was the unwitting recipient of an unwanted letter," the Republican ex-congressman added.

A copy of the letter—written to Macy by Joe R. Hanley, then lieutenant governor—fell into Democratic hands and it became a hot issue in the New York state campaign.

The Democrats charged the letter was evidence of a "payoff" to Hanley to step aside as the outstanding candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination and leave the field clear for Dewey to run for reelection.

Hanley wrote the letter shortly before the GOP state convention, which made nominations for various offices.

After Macy made the statement last night, Dewey's secretary, James C. Hagerty, issued a statement in Albany.

Hagerty said Dewey and Frank C. Moore—then state comptroller and now lieutenant governor—"received Mr. Macy once" at the Republican State Convention.

"On that occasion," Hagerty said, "they both advised him that he should either destroy the letter or return it to Mr. Hanley because

Allied Warships Hit Communist Dumps, Routes; No Contact With Enemy

Artillery Used

Both Sides Employ Big Guns, Foe Also Tosses Mortar Shells

Tokyo, April 10 (AP)—Allied troops reached the southern shores of the sprawling Hwachon reservoir today but stopped short of the big North Korean dam and hydro-electric plant.

A.P. Correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported from the central front battleground that the water behind the dam still is about 200 feet deep. The Reds opened 10 of the reservoir's 18 floodgates Monday in a try to halt the allied drive. But water quickly subsided to near-normal levels in the Pukhan river, resorvoir outlet.

American units paced the allied assault on the dam. The Communists fought back with a steady barrage of mortar shells.

Bradshaw said it was believed the Chinese lacked the equipment necessary to blow the dam.

In the air, American F-86 Sabre jets shot down one Russian-type MIG-15 jet fighter and damaged another, the air battle was fought at low level over "MIG Alley" near Sinuiju in northwest Korea.

Other Fifth Air Force planes Tuesday flew close support missions for the allied infantry and continued their dawn-to-dusk attacks on Red supply lines.

Resistance Is Bitter

Bitter Communist resistance was reported from the western front as allied patrols probed deeper into Red Korea. Intelligence reports said the Reds were sending more troops to this sector.

On the east coast allied warships hammered Communist supply dumps and traffic routes. There was no report of ground contact on this front.

As the allied offensive punched northward, informed sources in Tokyo said General MacArthur had asked for more troops and greater latitude in fighting the Korean campaign.

He reportedly told Army Secretary Frank Pace it would be a mistake to neglect Asia in order to emphasize the defense of Europe.

Tuesday's heaviest fighting swirled near the Hwachon reservoir.

American tanks rumbled northward on the Chunchon-Hwachon road through the narrow Pukhan river gorge.

Communists Fight Hard

On a 15-mile front to the east, allied infantrymen ran into die-hard Communist forces. The Reds opened up with mortar, machine gun and artillery fire.

About 800 Reds dug in south of the reservoir threw a heavy mortar barrage at advancing American troops. Other Red units attacked French troops driving on the reservoir's eastern tip.

Farther east strong and stubborn Communist forces bitterly resisted an American advance in the Yanggu area.

American and South Korean patrols thrust inside Communist lines on the western front Tuesday against strong resistance from dug-in Red troops.

Are Building Forces

General MacArthur's communiques reported the Reds were trying to build up their forces all along this front.

The Communist jet fighter shot down Tuesday was the sixth destroyed by the Sabre jets this month. Seventeen MIGs have been damaged, one of them in a brief mix with four F-80 Shooting Stars over Chongju in Tuesday's second jet air battle.

The Fifth Air Force flew more than 200 sorties by noon Tuesday. They were after the 1,800 Communist vehicles spotted moving south Monday night.

Preliminary claims included three tanks and 20 vehicles destroyed.

Mac Arthur Denies Pace Reprimand

General Will Continue Fight for Freer Hand in Korea; Spokesman Gives Statement

Holds to Views'

MacArthur Defends His Beliefs on Ways to Fight War

Tokyo, April 10 (AP)—General MacArthur made it plain to his superiors today that he intends to keep right on fighting for a freer hand in the Korean war.

He authorized a spokesman to sharply deny news reports that Army Secretary Frank Pace, Jr., had reprimanded him for recent public statements deemed to be verging on politics.

The spokesman added that since the reports were carried by a British news agency, Reuters, "probably the wish was father to the thought."

Sticks to Ideas

Informed sources also said that MacArthur stood pat during a two-hour conference Monday with Pace on views that have provoked a storm of controversy in Washington, London, Paris and elsewhere.

These views include belief that an all-out war must be waged against communism wherever that threat appears; that it would be a mistake to neglect Asia in order to emphasize defense of Europe. He is understood to have asked Pace for more troops.

Informed sources said MacArthur not only had asked Pace for more troops but for greater latitude in fighting the Korea war. (Presumably MacArthur sought the right to bomb Chinese bases in Manchuria which are supply heads for Communist troops in Korea. MacArthur has railed frequently at the "privileged sanctuary of Manchuria.")

MacArthur Accused

Critics have accused MacArthur of departing from purely military problems to engage in discussions of a political nature.

Just what is MacArthur trying to do?

From this war-conscious capital, it appears that he is fighting for a sincere belief in a military necessity.

The general obviously believes what he says: That U.N. forces can win in Korea only by expanding the war to Red China; that otherwise the allies face a devastating stalemate.

There are growing indications that the general and his aides are appealing to American public opinion, either over or around the administration. For one thing, a close check of editorial comment is made here.

Views Gain Popularity

Officers say the general's views are becoming increasingly popular. They insist also that he is speaking of military necessity with no intention of embarrassing the Truman administration.

The issue is much older and embraces more than the immediate point of whether Red China should be bombed and Chinese Nationalist troops employed. It involves the fundamental question of whether the western powers should concentrate upon Europe's defense to the relative exclusion of Asia.

It concerns basic differences between the thinking of American

President Asks Help From Unit

Washington, April 10 (AP)—Business, labor and farm leaders have an appeal from President Truman to quit playing economic leap-frog and team up against inflation.

The President's plea to his 17-member mobilization advisory board at the White House yesterday was:

"I've got to have the complete cooperation of every segment of our population."

With that Mr. Truman asked his new advisory group to face up to two of his toughest mobilization problems. The board is headed by Economic Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson and has four members each from agriculture, labor, business and the public.

One problem is what can be done to change the Defense Production Act, expiring on June 30, to help do a better job in controlling inflation.

Another is the stalemate on the Wage Stabilization Board. It has been inactive for nearly two months since labor members walked out in fury over mobilization policies.

Support Is Good

Mr. Truman hopes he can thresh out his domestic mobilization problems within the board and, by achieving agreement there, get the country's support.

Newsmen were given a report on the board's initial meeting by Joseph Short, White House press secretary. Short said the discussion on possible changes of the Defense Act, which contains the authority for price, wage and other controls, was general.

Spring Clean-Up Week Announced

Mayor and Fire Chief Ask Participation of All in Kingston

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk announced today that the week of April 23 will be Spring Clean-Up Week in the city.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, in support of the annual spring drive, urged every resident to participate conscientiously and to eliminate common fire hazards as the house and grounds are cleared by all local residents.

Attention should be given to accumulations of paper, magazines and rags, discarded furniture, old mattresses and other useless articles piled in basements, attics and closets, the chief said.

"Don't burn this material, but sell it or turn it in for salvage," he said. He also referred to dirty chimneys and heating plants as some of the other fire hazards needing attention in the drive.

"Statistics show that 90 per cent of all fires could be prevented by eliminating common hazards. We pay an appalling price in life and property for our negligence," the chief said.

"But this need not be the case in Kingston. Let's clean out these fire hazards in our homes, stores, offices and factories. Let's be safe instead of sorry."

The clean-up drive in the city, the chief said, is being conducted in conjunction with the campaign sponsored nationally by the National Fire Protection Association.

Memorial Tablet Committee Named To Honor Veterans

A local Memorial Tablet Committee was named last night at a meeting of local aldermen and delegates from various veterans organizations to study the proposal to build a permanent honor roll for those who served the armed forces in various wars.

The group which met with Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk decided the city should have a centrally located honor roll, and the committee named is composed of the presidents of the veterans organizations and Second Ward Alderman Benjamin Storms and Alderman John Buboltz, Fourth Ward.

James M. Krom, secretary of the Kingston Veterans Association, was elected chairman and Mayor Newkirk, honorary chairman of the committee.

The mayor called the presidents of the veterans organizations and the aldermen to discuss the possibilities of the larger permanent honor roll. Various wards of the city now have separate honor roll boards and displays which are not of permanent structure. It was the concensus that a permanent tablet should be built.

Those attending were Charles R. Stall, Colonial Camp. No. 75 United Spanish War Veterans; Raymond K. Meyer, Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386 V.F.W., Harold A. Sanford, Company M Veterans Association; Bernhardt S. Kramer, American Legion Post 150; and Albert J. Melville, Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League.

High Prices for Lumber, Lack of Replanting Cited as Basis of Trouble

A lot of the flood troubles in the Catskill Mountain area comes from "slashing off our Catskill forests," is the opinion of a conservationist who has devoted considerable study to the region.

Dr. Richard H. D. Boerker, former teacher at Kingston High School and conservationist of note, in a recent letter to a Freeman staff member stressed that "In the last 10 years we have been slashing and denuding the mountains at an alarming rate."

Dr. Boerker said he was thinking particularly of "just the region hit by the floods: Woodland Valley, Chichester, Mt. Tremper," and others.

Consequences Not Regarded

High lumber prices are an inducement for getting everything out of the woods, "regardless of consequences," he said, and because of this, "the water-absorbing leaf mold is soon destroyed, and the water comes down pronto into the streams instead of soaking into the ground. You have high water now and maybe drouths in summer."

The last flood, he felt could not be blamed on Dr. Howell, although he might have "filled the reservoir by his rainmaking and thereby the water had no place to go except over the dam."

Dr. Boerker said he had some interesting conservation experiences since leaving Kingston, and a "big thrill" in visiting Fontana dam in the Great Smokies of North Carolina."

Classified as 'Nut'

"This," he said, "goes back to the days when Teddy Roosevelt and Pinchot were just making the word 'conservation' known. I was at college at the time and became interested. I wrote articles for my college paper, for local newspapers, and for magazines on why the forests of the Appalachian mountains should be preserved, pointed out the great need of controlling erosion and the terrific floods by protecting the mountain forests. Of course, this was a voice shouting in the wilderness. My kind was classified as 'a nut' and for a long time effusions fell on deaf ears, for in those days as now, anyone advocating government ownership was a socialist and therefore an enemy of the people. Worst of all there was not even a law whereby the government could acquire these mountain forests. However, we conservationists kept pounding away for the only logical solution. If private industry does not take care of the public welfare, then the government must step in.

"Hence you can understand the great thrill I got on top of Fontana dam—480 feet high, one half mile long, 350 feet thick at the base—backing the water up in the Smokies for 29 miles. There I saw a dream come true after some 45 years. To the north of me were the Great Smokies with Gregory Bald and the fire tower, and to the right Thunderhead Peak 5,530 feet—all within the National Park. In back of me were two great National Forests. There is no timber cutting in the National Park and it is strictly under control in the National Forests.

Reminds Him of Catskills

"This portion of the mountains reminded me a lot of the Catskills. Slopes were steep, soils shallow, but the stand was open pine very poor for stopping the water. Parts of these mountains have over 140 inches of rain a year; about three times as much as at Kingston. Therefore, when it rains there, brother, get a rowboat or be washed away. It was not uncommon before the dam was built for the Little Tennessee river to rise 14 feet in one day and carry everything with it. Now this river and the Big Tennessee is made to behave by a score or more dams all

Macy says he refused, because "I'd be part of the scheme if I destroyed the letter."

"I was the unwitting recipient of an unwanted letter," the Republican ex-congressman added.

A copy of the letter—written to Macy by Joe R. Hanley, then lieutenant governor—fell into Democratic hands and it became a hot issue in the New York state campaign.

The Democrats charged the letter was evidence of a "payoff" to Hanley to step aside as the outstanding candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination and leave the field clear for Dewey to run for reelection.

Hanley wrote the letter shortly before the GOP state convention, which made nominations for various offices.

After Macy made the statement last night, Dewey's secretary, James C. Hagerty, issued a statement in Albany.

Hagerty said Dewey and Frank C. Moore—then state comptroller and now lieutenant governor—"received Mr. Macy once" at the Republican State Convention.

"On that occasion," Hagerty said, "they both advised him that he should either destroy the letter or return it to Mr. Hanley because

Local Death Record

Karen T. Cummings

The funeral of Karen Theresa, infant daughter of Orville G. and Nannette Laurencelle Cummings of 207 Hurley avenue, was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Body Is Buried

The unidentified body of a drowned man found in the Rondout Creek was buried Monday in New Paltz by Coroner Ernest A. Kelly. Efforts at identification failed, and because the corpse was in a bad state of decomposition burial was necessary after several days. Religious rites were conducted by the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, who also held the committal services.

Albert N. Wells

The funeral of Albert N. Wells was held from the Ernest A. Kelly Funeral Home Monday at 2 p. m. and religious services conducted by the Rev. Harry E. Christiana of the Port Ewen Reformed Church were largely attended. Floral pieces surrounding the casket were profuse and beautiful. During the bereavement many called to express condolence to the family. Burial was in Montrepose Cemetery, where the Rev. Mr. Christiana conducted the committal.

Mrs. Frank H. Trow

Mrs. Frank Hamant Trow, 75, died February 16 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Cornelius Cahalien, 26 Parkwood Boulevard, Poughkeepsie, where she had made her home since the death of her husband in 1944. Mr. Trow was chief engineer for the Winston Company, builders of the Ashokan reservoir. On his retirement in 1931 he moved to Red Hook. Mrs. Trow, the former Miss Sadie L. Sawyer, was born in West Boylston, Mass., where interment took place. Beside Mrs. Cahalien, two sons Stanley of Arlington, Va., and Harold Trow of Red Hook survive.

Joseph K. Roedell

Joseph K. Roedell, of Rhinebeck, an uncle of Lt. William T. Roedell of the Kingston police department, died on Monday in Poughkeepsie. A native of Pekin, Ill., where he was born in 1883, the son of the late Herman F. and Amelia Froebe Roedell, he was a retired moulder, having been employed for several years by the Fairview Foundry of Poughkeepsie. Besides his widow, Elma West Roedell, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Michael Mitchell of Rhinebeck; a brother, Edward Roedell of Quinlan, Oklahoma; a sister, Mrs. Carrie Jacob of Birmingham, Ala.; and two stepsons, Frederick King of Schenectady and Clarence King of Philadelphia. The funeral will be held from the William E. White Funeral Home in Rhinebeck on Wednesday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Rhinebeck Cemetery.

Rose Price

Funeral services for Mrs. Rose Price of 157 Washington avenue were held Monday afternoon from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool of the Old First Dutch Church officiating. Services were largely attended by relatives and her many friends and representatives of the New York Central Railroad. Floral tributes were many and beautiful. Sunday evening Cyprus Temple, No. 18, Daughters of the Nile and Clinton Chapter, No. 445, O. E. S., held ritualistic services for their deceased sister and these services were attended by large delegations. The Daughter of the Nile services were conducted by Mrs. Florence C. Bell and Anna M. Bristol, chaplain and Clinton Chapter Services were conducted by Mrs. Alma R. Simpkins, worthy matron, and Lamont V. Simpkins worthy patron, and Mrs. Rhoda Klippel as chaplain. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Scrapped a 41-mile railroad he owned (the Delaware and Northern) for metal for World War 2 guns.

Invested millions in such things as excursion boat lines, lumber mills, railroads, breweries, racing stables and Broadway shows.

"I haven't got any education," he once said "What I got is what it takes to make guys with an education do the job I want done."

Nearing completion here is one of his last jobs—the construction of a 17-mile tunnel under north Baltimore and its suburbs that will link the city's water supply sytem with the Patapsco river.

He is survived by his widow and two sons, Stanley Rosoff of Stevenson, Md., and Nathanial Rosoff of New York.

Funeral services will be held Thursday (11 a. m.) from Riverside Memorial Chapel, New York. Burial will be in Mt. Lebanon Cemetery, Queens, Long Island.

Well Known in Ulster

Samuel R. Rosoff was well known in Ulster county since 1917, when he began operating the Rosoff Sand and Gravel Company at Marlborough.

He maintained an office in Kerhonkson for several years while he was contractor on a section of the Delaware Aqueduct where it crossed under Route 209 at Wawarsing. The section was completed in 1938 or 1939. The aqueduct is the one which connects Lackawack with West Branch reservoirs in New York city's water system.

At that time, he established a sand and gravel pit at Wawarsing, which, like the Marlborough company, is still in operation under new management.

Frequent Visitor To City

During this time he was a frequent visitor in Kingston. For approximately 30 years, he maintained a summer home at Marlborough, for several years making that his main residence.

Among Rosoff's many ventures were the purchase of the old Central Hudson Steamboat Company, whose ships used to winter at the docks of the sand and gravel company at Marlborough; and the purchase of the Delaware and Northern Railroad, which once operated between Arkville and East Branch.

He contributed to many charitable drives in Ulster county.

In recent years, his name was mentioned as being interested in the purchase of the Ontario and Western Railroad and the Hudson River Dayline, but nothing definite was consummated in either case.

GARDINER

Gardiner, April 10 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Barl Gray and two children of Forest Hills, L. I., were at their summer cottage on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boland and son Jack spent the week-end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Williamson, Sr., of Walden.

Mrs. Anna DuBois and daughter Dorothy of New York and Robert Clinton of Peekskill spent the week-end here.

The Rev. John Van Strien, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Agor, Miss Edna Dugan and Mrs. A. D. McKinstry attended the installation of the Rev. Joseph E. Carlin, Ph. D., at the Bloomingdale Church in Bloomington last Thursday evening.

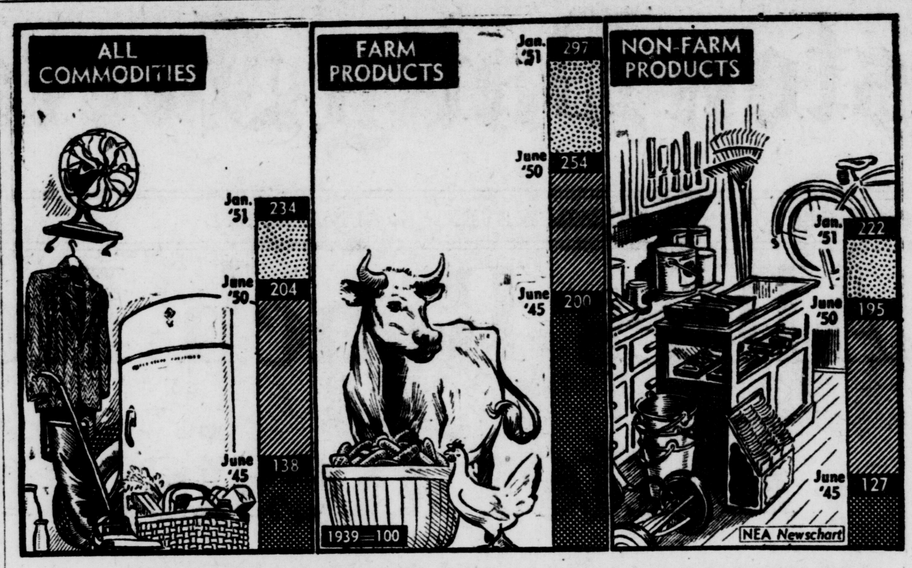
Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McKinstry attended the rural mail carriers' dinner at Bullville on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wiese of Wawarsing were Sunday guests of his brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. David Wiese.

Miss Viola Elting of Kingston spent Saturday with her aunts the Misses Mary and Jennie Elting.

The Forest Glen Home Bureau will meet at the home of Mrs. George Brannigan on Thursday, April 19. It will be an all-day meeting beginning at 10 a. m. The second lesson on foods will be given. Those attending are requested to bring lunch.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Gardiner Fire Department will hold a regular meeting on Monday, April 16 at the firehall at 7:30 p. m. Hostesses will be Mrs. Edytha Dusinberre, Mrs. Roy Every and Mrs. Christian Ecker. In charge of entertainment will be Mrs. William Stametedes and Mrs. Marion Smith.



THE WHOLESALE PRICE PICTURE—The Newschart above compares wholesale prices at three critical dates, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Taking all 1939 prices as 100, farm products —which got a big jump on other commodities in World War II—had risen to 297 when the government's January wage-price freeze went into effect. Non-farm products stood at 222 then, while all commodities combined were at 234. From pre-Korea to price freeze, wholesale farm prices rose about 17 per cent, while all commodities rose 15 per cent.

ACCORD

Accord, April 10—The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Accord Fire Company will hold a card party at the firehouse on Friday evening, April 13. There will be games for all and refreshments are to be served. All desiring to help the ladies in their program are urged to attend. Tickets will be on sale at the door.

A food sale will be held at the store of Edward Carle on Saturday, April 14 from 1 to 4 p. m., for the benefit of the Accord school aid. There will be homemade bread, cakes, pies and rolls for sale.

Mrs. Floyd Countryman, Jr., is employed at Valley Gardens Nursery.

The Central Hudson crew removed some trees in town on Monday.

About 2,800 languages are spoken in the world today according to estimates by the National Geographic Society.

Late Bulletin

Washington, April 10 (AP)—The White House said today it canceled an appointment for National Legion Commander Erle Cocke, Jr., because Cocke first publicly announced what he planned to tell President Truman —that he supports Gen. Douglas MacArthur's controversial position on Far Eastern policy. This eliminated the need for the conference which had been set for noon today, the White House said.

Judge Assigns Two to School To Learn Driving

City Judge Raymond J. Mino today gave two youthful drivers a chance to avoid a 10-day jail sentence by assigning them to the current high school drivers' course.

Edward Reilly, 18, 37 Stuyvesant street, and Richard Langton, 18, of 35 Jansen avenue, were arrested on Broadway at Grand street by Officer Walter Van Steenburgh Sunday on charges of reckless driving. Their cases were put over until today when they faced Judge Mino yesterday morning.

His disposition of the case, the judge said, is intended to serve "as an example to other hot rods," and those, who, he stressed, should learn "to respect the right of others" as well as the laws of the road and proper driving.

The two young men will have three months to learn these lessons from the driving course during which time their sentence will be suspended, and after which they will be expected to drive carefully.

The officer reported at the time of the arrest at 8:25 p. m. Sunday that they had been racing each other on Broadway.

Claims New Record

Indio, Calif., April 10 (AP)—Jacqueline Cochran claimed a new world's speed record for propeller-driven airplanes today. She averaged 469 miles an hour yesterday over a 16-kilometer course. Officials of the National Aeronautic Association recorded Miss Cochran's flight in an F-51 Mustang on film and timing instruments.

SHOKAN

Shokan, April 10 — The Old School Baptist meeting scheduled for Sunday, April 15, in the Olive and Hurley Church, has been postponed to the fifth Sunday in April. The change was made so that Elder Arnold Bellows of West Hurley could attend a yearly Baptist meeting at Smith Mills, Md., on the earlier date.

Louise Saurez has word from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Saurez of Olive Bridge, that they have arrived safely in Spain. The couple's arrival in the old country was in the nature of a very pleasant surprise for their relatives over there.

Herbert Avery, who died in Catskill after a brief illness in March, was buried in the Tongore Cemetery. He is survived by a brother, Eugene Avery, and a sister, Mrs. William Votee of Kingston.

The hemlock borers which pose a serious threat to this valuable commercial wood in some sections of the state, apparently have reached the reservoir area. A local man who owns a large tract of woodland reports that he has one tall hemlock, about 15 inches in diameter, which has been riddled by woodpeckers in their efforts to dig out the borers. Practically every species, from the kingly sugar maple down to the lowly black alder of the lowlands, has become host to these insect pests.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lockwood, well known Old Hurley road business couple, were callers here Saturday. Mrs. Lockwood is a native of the Tonche neighborhood of Ashokan.

Birthdays falling on Tuesday, April 10, include those of Fred Brooks and Max Holzer. Fred who has seen many years of service with the Ashokan Reservoir department, was born at Brown's Station, a son of John Brooks, and was married to Neva Fenny of Boiceville...Max bought the H. Eignor place at Ashokan and came here as a summer resident in 1946. He is employed in New York and is married to Eva Cox of Ashokan and Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Justus North, Mr. and Mrs. Earl North, Mrs. Alonzo Davis, Lester Davis and Donald North, all of Olive, and Gail DeWitt of Kingston attended the wedding of Barbara Odenwald and Norman North in Brooklyn last Saturday.

The Queen Esther Society of the Glenford M. E. Church will meet Wednesday evening with Mrs. Earl Stoutenburgh of the Ohayo Mountain road. The Wesleyan Service Guild of the West Hurley Church meets the same evening at the home of Mrs. Alfred Nussbaum, Jr.

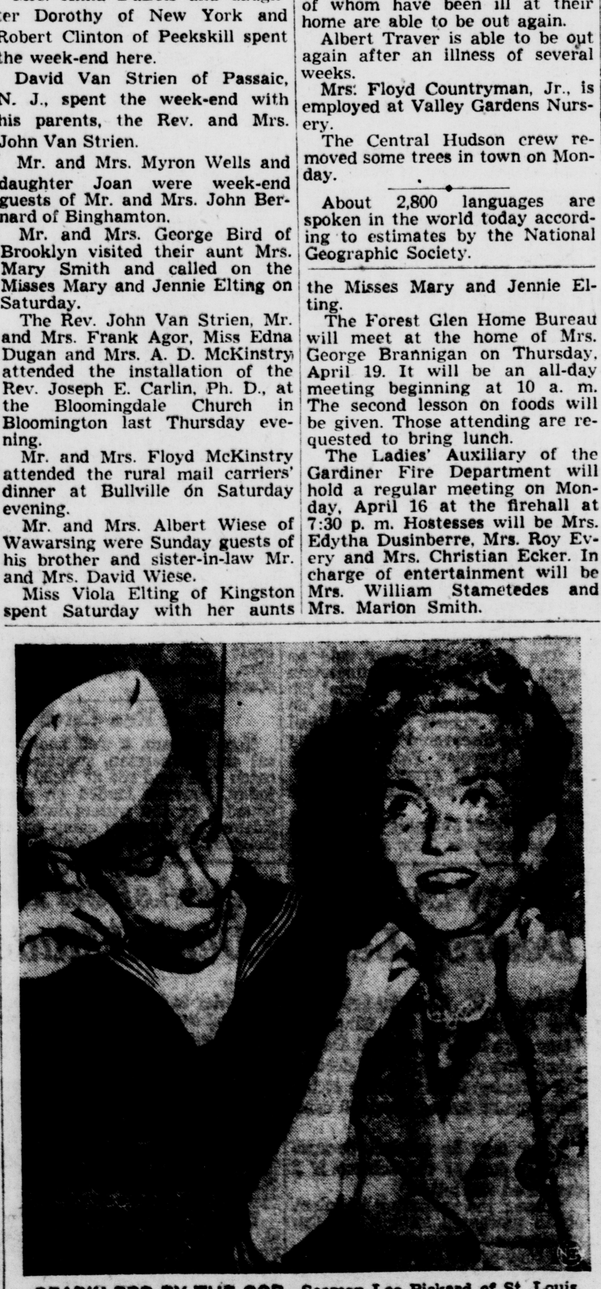
A human hair would have to be split into four equal pieces to fit between the piston and cylinder bore of the modern automobile engine.



SPARKLERS BY THE GOB—Seaman Leo Pickard of St. Louis, Mo., whistles over the $1,500,000 Star of the East diamond worn by Martha Percilla. The fabulous, 100 karat gem, part of a collection owned by New York jeweler Harry Winston, is now on display in San Francisco.

"WHERE DO YOU THINK YOU'RE GOING?" — Floating traffic cops now see to it that there is no "Sunday driving" by gondoliers on the canals of Venice. Here a water taxi-driver is stopped by a cop. While his two tourist passengers look on, he gets a ticket for crashing a red light. Like many other large cities, Venice has a growing traffic problem, complicated by the fact that most of its "streets" are canals.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 10 (AP)—Lagging railroads were a drag today on the stock market.

Carriers were off from a few cents to around a dollar a share in active trading.

The slump followed announcement by New York Central of layoffs because of shrinking revenue and mounting costs in the last quarter.

Outside of the rails, most sections attempted to get ahead, and they were able to hold to small gains.

A dollar covered the range of gains and losses, although it was noted that a number of leaders traded unchanged for lengthy periods.

Steels and motors showed considerable activity at unchanged to slightly higher prices.

Air lines had an early run of popularity with Eastern Air Lines leading. Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, president, said Eastern had gross revenues in March of more than $10,000,000 for the first time in any month in company history.

The market tried hard to extend its advance of yesterday, but the going was tough. The slight bulge Monday managed to top the spectacular upward rush of last week when the market regained almost half of the loss suffered in the slump from the February peak.

Smoke House Is Damaged by Fire

The roof and ceiling of the one-story frame structure housing the smoke house at the rear of the Fred Scholl meat market, Broadway and Foxhall avenue was damaged by fire early this afternoon.

Firemen were called at 12:35 p. m., and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy sent for extra apparatus two minutes later. Flames were shooting out of the upper part of the building when firemen arrived. The fire was checked, however, before it caused serious damage.

Joseph Disch, Jr., who lives in an apartment above the market, discovered the fire while he was home on his lunch hour. Equipment from central and Cornell stations and Wicks Engine and Truck Company responded. Damage was slight, the chief said and he indicated the blaze might have started from a chimney spark.

Another call at 10:51 a. m. was for a grass fire off Emerick street.

Request Delay

Washington, April 10 (AP)—The government today asked the U. S. Court of Appeals to hold up contempt of court proceedings against Secretary of Commerce Sawyer and eight other federal officials. The Appeals Court had directed that Sawyer and the others show cause by Thursday why they should not be punished for contempt for failure to comply with a court order in connection with long litigation between the government and private individuals over a $68,000,000 steamship empire.

Late Bulletin

Washington, April 10 (AP)—The White House said today it canceled an appointment for National Legion Commander Erle Cocke, Jr., because Cocke first publicly announced what he planned to tell President Truman —that he supports Gen. Douglas MacArthur's controversial position on Far Eastern policy. This eliminated the need for the conference which had been set for noon today, the White House said.

Judge Assigns Two to School To Learn Driving

City Judge Raymond J. Mino today gave two youthful drivers a chance to avoid a 10-day jail sentence by assigning them to the current high school drivers' course.

Edward Reilly, 18, 37 Stuyvesant street, and Richard Langton, 18, of 35 Jansen avenue, were arrested on Broadway at Grand street by Officer Walter Van Steenburgh Sunday on charges of reckless driving. Their cases were put over until today when they faced Judge Mino yesterday morning.

His disposition of the case, the judge said, is intended to serve "as an example to other hot rods," and those, who, he stressed, should learn "to respect the right of others" as well as the laws of the road and proper driving.

The two young men will have three months to learn these lessons from the driving course during which time their sentence will be suspended, and after which they will be expected to drive carefully.

The officer reported at the time of the arrest at 8:25 p. m. Sunday that they had been racing each other on Broadway.

Indio, Calif., April 10 (AP)—Jacqueline Cochran claimed a new world's speed record for propeller-driven airplanes today. She averaged 469 miles an hour yesterday over a 16-kilometer course. Officials of the National Aeronautic Association recorded Miss Cochran's flight in an F-51 Mustang on film and timing instruments.

SHOKAN

Shokan, April 10 — The Old School Baptist meeting scheduled for Sunday, April 15, in the Olive and Hurley Church, has been postponed to the fifth Sunday in April. The change was made so that Elder Arnold Bellows of West Hurley could attend a yearly Baptist meeting at Smith Mills, Md., on the earlier date.

Louise Saurez has word from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Saurez of Olive Bridge, that they have arrived safely in Spain. The couple's arrival in the old country was in the nature of a very pleasant surprise for their relatives over there.

Herbert Avery, who died in Catskill after a brief illness in March, was buried in the Tongore Cemetery. He is survived by a brother, Eugene Avery, and a sister, Mrs. William Votee of Kingston.

The hemlock borers which pose a serious threat to this valuable commercial wood in some sections of the state, apparently have reached the reservoir area. A local man who owns a large tract of woodland reports that he has one tall hemlock, about 15 inches in diameter, which has been riddled by woodpeckers in their efforts to dig out the borers. Practically every species, from the kingly sugar maple down to the lowly black alder of the lowlands, has become host to these insect pests.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lockwood, well known Old Hurley road business couple, were callers here Saturday. Mrs. Lockwood is a native of the Tonche neighborhood of Ashokan.

Birthdays falling on Tuesday, April 10, include those of Fred Brooks and Max Holzer. Fred who has seen many years of service with the Ashokan Reservoir department, was born at Brown's Station, a son of John Brooks, and was married to Neva Fenny of Boiceville...Max bought the H. Eignor place at Ashokan and came here as a summer resident in 1946. He is employed in New York and is married to Eva Cox of Ashokan and Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Justus North, Mr. and Mrs. Earl North, Mrs. Alonzo Davis, Lester Davis and Donald North, all of Olive, and Gail DeWitt of Kingston attended the wedding of Barbara Odenwald and Norman North in Brooklyn last Saturday.

The Queen Esther Society of the Glenford M. E. Church will meet Wednesday evening with Mrs. Earl Stoutenburgh of the Ohayo Mountain road. The Wesleyan Service Guild of the West Hurley Church meets the same evening at the home of Mrs. Alfred Nussbaum, Jr.

"WHERE DO YOU THINK YOU'RE GOING?" — Floating traffic cops now see to it that there is no "Sunday driving" by gondoliers on the canals of Venice. Here a water taxi-driver is stopped by a cop. While his two tourist passengers look on, he gets a ticket for crashing a red light. Like many other large cities, Venice has a growing traffic problem, complicated by the fact that most of its "streets" are canals.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 10 (AP)—Lagging railroads were a drag today on the stock market.

Carriers were off from a few cents to around a dollar a share in active trading.

The slump followed announcement by New York Central of layoffs because of shrinking revenue and mounting costs in the last quarter.

Outside of the rails, most sections attempted to get ahead, and they were able to hold to small gains.

A dollar covered the range of gains and losses, although it was noted that a number of leaders traded unchanged for lengthy periods.

Steels and motors showed considerable activity at unchanged to slightly higher prices.

Air lines had an early run of popularity with Eastern Air Lines leading. Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, president, said Eastern had gross revenues in March of more than $10,000,000 for the first time in any month in company history.

The market tried hard to extend its advance of yesterday, but the going was tough. The slight bulge Monday managed to top the spectacular upward rush of last week when the market regained almost half of the loss suffered in the slump from the February peak.

Smoke House Is Damaged by Fire

The roof and ceiling of the one-story frame structure housing the smoke house at the rear of the Fred Scholl meat market, Broadway and Foxhall avenue was damaged by fire early this afternoon.

Firemen were called at 12:35 p. m., and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy sent for extra apparatus two minutes later. Flames were shooting out of the upper part of the building when firemen arrived. The fire was checked, however, before it caused serious damage.

Joseph Disch, Jr., who lives in an apartment above the market, discovered the fire while he was home on his lunch hour. Equipment from central and Cornell stations and Wicks Engine and Truck Company responded. Damage was slight, the chief said and he indicated the blaze might have started from a chimney spark.

Another call at 10:51 a. m. was for a grass fire off Emerick street.

Request Delay

Washington, April 10 (AP)—The government today asked the U. S. Court of Appeals to hold up contempt of court proceedings against Secretary of Commerce Sawyer and eight other federal officials. The Appeals Court had directed that Sawyer and the others show cause by Thursday why they should not be punished for contempt for failure to comply with a court order in connection with long litigation between the government and private individuals over a $68,000,000 steamship empire.

Local Death Record

Karen T. Cummings

The funeral of Karen Theresa, infant daughter of Orville G. and Nannette Laurencelle Cummings of 207 Hurley avenue, was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Body Is Buried

The unidentified body of a drowned man found in the Rondout Creek was buried Monday in New Paltz by Coroner Ernest A. Kelly. Efforts at identification failed, and because the corpse was in a bad state of decomposition burial was necessary after several days. Religious rites were conducted by the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, who also held the committal services.

Albert N. Wells

The funeral of Albert N. Wells was held from the Ernest A. Kelly Funeral Home Monday at 2 p. m. and religious services conducted by the Rev. Harry E. Christiana of the Port Ewen Reformed Church were largely attended. Floral pieces surrounding the casket were profuse and beautiful. During the bereavement many called to express condolence to the family. Burial was in Montrepose Cemetery, where the Rev. Mr. Christiana conducted the committal.

Mrs. Frank H. Trow

Mrs. Frank Hamant Trow, 75, died February 16 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Cornelius Cahalien, 26 Parkwood Boulevard, Poughkeepsie, where she had made her home since the death of her husband in 1944. Mr. Trow was chief engineer for the Winston Company, builders of the Ashokan reservoir. On his retirement in 1931 he moved to Red Hook. Mrs. Trow, the former Miss Sadie L. Sawyer, was born in West Boylston, Mass., where interment took place. Beside Mrs. Cahalien, two sons Stanley of Arlington, Va., and Harold Trow of Red Hook survive.

Joseph K. Roedell

Joseph K. Roedell, of Rhinebeck, an uncle of Lt. William T. Roedell of the Kingston police department, died on Monday in Poughkeepsie. A native of Pekin, Ill., where he was born in 1883, the son of the late Herman F. and Amelia Froebe Roedell, he was a retired moulder, having been employed for several years by the Fairview Foundry of Poughkeepsie. Besides his widow, Elma West Roedell, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Michael Mitchell of Rhinebeck; a brother, Edward Roedell of Quinlan, Oklahoma; a sister, Mrs. Carrie Jacob of Birmingham, Ala.; and two stepsons, Frederick King of Schenectady and Clarence King of Philadelphia. The funeral will be held from the William E. White Funeral Home in Rhinebeck on Wednesday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Rhinebeck Cemetery.

Rose Price

Funeral services for Mrs. Rose Price of 157 Washington avenue were held Monday afternoon from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool of the Old First Dutch Church officiating. Services were largely attended by relatives and her many friends and representatives of the New York Central Railroad. Floral tributes were many and beautiful. Sunday evening Cyprus Temple, No. 18, Daughters of the Nile and Clinton Chapter, No. 445, O. E. S., held ritualistic services for their deceased sister and these services were attended by large delegations. The Daughter of the Nile services were conducted by Mrs. Florence C. Bell and Anna M. Bristol, chaplain and Clinton Chapter Services were conducted by Mrs. Alma R. Simpkins, worthy matron, and Lamont V. Simpkins worthy patron, and Mrs. Rhoda Klippel as chaplain. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

been more miles of subway than any other man.

Constructed roads, canals, aqueducts and water tunnels in many countries.

Turned down a Russian offer of $200,000,000 to build subways and a water system in Moscow.

Scrapped Railroad

Scrapped a 41-mile railroad he owned (the Delaware and Northern) for metal for World War 2 guns.

Invested millions in such things as excursion boat lines, lumber mills, railroads, breweries, racing stables and Broadway shows.

"I haven't got any education," he once said "What I got is what it takes to make guys with an education do the job I want done."

Nearing completion here is one of his last jobs—the construction of a 17-mile tunnel under north Baltimore and its suburbs that will link the city's water supply sytem with the Patapsco river.

He is survived by his widow and two sons, Stanley Rosoff of Stevenson, Md., and Nathanial Rosoff of New York.

Funeral services will be held Thursday (11 a. m.) from Riverside Memorial Chapel, New York. Burial will be in Mt. Lebanon Cemetery, Queens, Long Island.

Well Known in Ulster

Samuel R. Rosoff was well known in Ulster county since 1917, when he began operating the Rosoff Sand and Gravel Company at Marlborough.

He maintained an office in Kerhonkson for several years while he was contractor on a section of the Delaware Aqueduct where it crossed under Route 209 at Wawarsing. The section was completed in 1938 or 1939. The aqueduct is the one which connects Lackawack with West Branch reservoirs in New York city's water system.

At that time, he established a sand and gravel pit at Wawarsing, which, like the Marlborough company, is still in operation under new management.

Frequent Visitor To City

During this time he was a frequent visitor in Kingston. For approximately 30 years, he maintained a summer home at Marlborough, for several years making that his main residence.

Among Rosoff's many ventures were the purchase of the old Central Hudson Steamboat Company, whose ships used to winter at the docks of the sand and gravel company at Marlborough; and the purchase of the Delaware and Northern Railroad, which once operated between Arkville and East Branch.

He contributed to many charitable drives in Ulster county.

In recent years, his name was mentioned as being interested in the purchase of the Ontario and Western Railroad and the Hudson River Dayline, but nothing definite was consummated in either case.

A local man who owns a large tract of woodland reports that he has one tall hemlock, about 15 inches in diameter, which has been riddled by woodpeckers in their efforts to dig out the borers. Practically every species, from the kingly sugar maple down to the lowly black alder of the lowlands, has become host to these insect pests.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lockwood, well known Old Hurley road business couple, were callers here Saturday. Mrs. Lockwood is a native of the Tonche neighborhood of Ashokan.

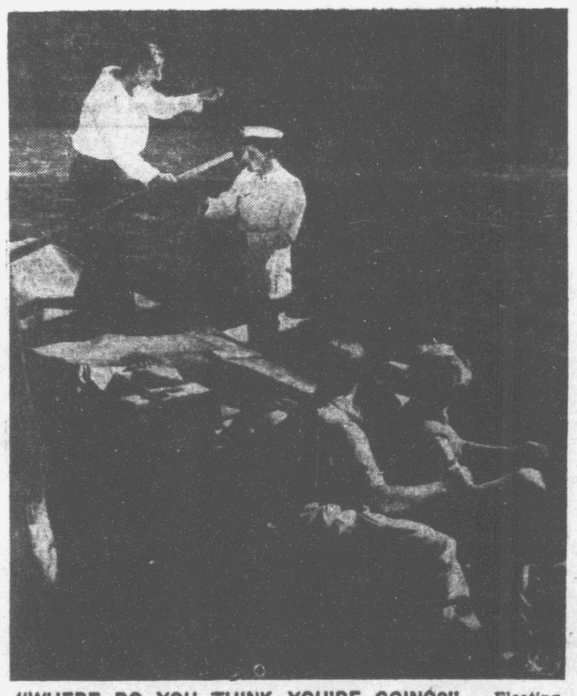
Birthdays falling on Tuesday, April 10, include those of Fred Brooks and Max Holzer. Fred who has seen many years of service with the Ashokan Reservoir department, was born at Brown's Station, a son of John Brooks, and was married to Neva Fenny of Boiceville...Max bought the H. Eignor place at Ashokan and came here as a summer resident in 1946. He is employed in New York and is married to Eva Cox of Ashokan and Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Justus North, Mr. and Mrs. Earl North, Mrs. Alonzo Davis, Lester Davis and Donald North, all of Olive, and Gail DeWitt of Kingston attended the wedding of Barbara Odenwald and Norman North in Brooklyn last Saturday.

The Queen Esther Society of the Glenford M. E. Church will meet Wednesday evening with Mrs. Earl Stoutenburgh of the Ohayo Mountain road. The Wesleyan Service Guild of the West Hurley Church meets the same evening at the home of Mrs. Alfred Nussbaum, Jr.

Small Clearance

A human hair would have to be split into four equal pieces to fit between the piston and cylinder bore of the modern automobile engine.



"WHERE DO YOU THINK YOU'RE GOING?" — Floating traffic cops now see to it that there is no "Sunday driving" by gondoliers on the canals of Venice. Here a water taxi-driver is stopped by a cop. While his two tourist passengers look on, he gets a ticket for crashing a red light. Like many other large cities, Venice has a growing traffic problem, complicated by the fact that most of its "streets" are canals.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 10 (AP)—Lagging railroads were a drag today on the stock market.

Carriers were off from a few cents to around a dollar a share in active trading.

The slump followed announcement by New York Central of layoffs because of shrinking revenue and mounting costs in the last quarter.

Outside of the rails, most sections attempted to get ahead, and they were able to hold to small gains.

A dollar covered the range of gains and losses, although it was noted that a number of leaders traded unchanged for lengthy periods.

Steels and motors showed considerable activity at unchanged to slightly higher prices.

Air lines had an early run of popularity with Eastern Air Lines leading. Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, president, said Eastern had gross revenues in March of more than $10,000,000 for the first time in any month in company history.

The market tried hard to extend its advance of yesterday, but the going was tough. The slight bulge Monday managed to top the spectacular upward rush of last week when the market regained almost half of the loss suffered in the slump from the February peak.

Smoke House Is Damaged by Fire

The roof and ceiling of the one-story frame structure housing the smoke house at the rear of the Fred Scholl meat market, Broadway and Foxhall avenue was damaged by fire early this afternoon.

Firemen were called at 12:35 p. m., and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy sent for extra apparatus two minutes later. Flames were shooting out of the upper part of the building when firemen arrived. The fire was checked, however, before it caused serious damage.

Joseph Disch, Jr., who lives in an apartment above the market, discovered the fire while he was home on his lunch hour. Equipment from central and Cornell stations and Wicks Engine and Truck Company responded. Damage was slight, the chief said and he indicated the blaze might have started from a chimney spark.

Another call at 10:51 a. m. was for a grass fire off Emerick street.

Request Delay

Washington, April 10 (AP)—The government today asked the U. S. Court of Appeals to hold up contempt of court proceedings against Secretary of Commerce Sawyer and eight other federal officials. The Appeals Court had directed that Sawyer and the others show cause by Thursday why they should not be punished for contempt for failure to comply with a court order in connection with long litigation between the government and private individuals over a $68,000,000 steamship empire.

Veterans May Lose Insurance Rights

Veterans whose first period of service in the armed forces began after September 2, 1945 will lose all rights to any further G.I. insurance if they let their present term policies expire.

Veterans Administration, in making the announcement today, said these veterans must do one of two things before their term policies expire if they wish to retain National Service Life Insurance thereafter under the present law. They are:

1. Renew for another five-year term; or,

2. Convert to one or more of the six available permanent plans of NSLI.

The requirement is contained in the NSLI Act of 1940, as amended, which stipulates that after discharge, only those who had active service between October 8, 1940 and September 2, 1945 may be granted new insurance.

This means, VA said, that if a veteran's first period of service began after September 2, 1945 and he permits his term policy to expire without renewing or converting, he cannot apply for new insurance unless he re-enters active service.

Term NSLI policies issued before January 1, 1946 expire eight years from the date of issue. Term NSLI policies issued on or after January 1, 1946 expire five years from the date of issue.

These expiration periods are significant for veterans whose first period of service began after September 2, 1945 and who took out term NSLI while in service.

If they took out their term policies before January 1, 1946, they have eight years from the date of issue to renew or convert before the expiration of the policies.

If they took out their term NSLI policies on or after January 1, 1946, they have only five years from the date of issue to renew or convert before expiration.

There is still a third group affected by another date. This group includes those who took out NSLI term policies on or after January 1, 1948. These policies, under the present law, may not be renewed at their expiration, but they may be converted at any time prior to their expiration.

Senate Gives Its Citations to Saypol

New York, April 10 (AP)—The U. S. Senate has turned over its contempt citations of gamblers Frank Costello, Frank Erickson and Joe Adonis to U. S. Attorney Irving Saypol here.

Saypol told newsmen yesterday he had received the official transcript of the records for study. He said he would present evidence to a federal grand jury for possible indictments.

The three men were cited for contempt after balking at certain questions asked them during the Senate Crime Committee hearings here last month.

Erickson is serving a two-year penitentiary term for bookmaking.

If indicted and convicted, they would face a possible maximum penalty of 12 months imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

Will Talk to Club On Good Shipping

At the April meeting of the Mid-Hudson Traffic Club in Newburgh Wednesday, the principal speaker will be Frank A. Dansereau, loading and container engineer of the Association of American Railroads, New York. His topic will be Perfect Shipping.

His talk will stress that during the present emergency there is extra necessity to be sure that freight is packed right, marked properly, stowed sensibly and handled carefully.

All shippers are invited to the meeting in the Newburgh Hotel. Dinner is scheduled for 7 p. m. and the meeting at 8 o'clock.

Wages Must Conform

Washington, April 10 (AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board today ruled wages paid baseball players must conform generally with club payroll practices of 1950. Officials said that means no individual ball player can be paid more this year than the highest salary a player on the same club received during 1950. The ruling was made at the request of attorneys for the major and minor leagues. They asked whether wages paid ball players are exempt from wage controls. The board said they are not.

Veterans May Lose Insurance Rights

Veterans whose first period of service in the armed forces began after September 2, 1945 will lose all rights to any further G.I. insurance if they let their present term policies expire.

Veterans Administration, in making the announcement today, said these veterans must do one of two things before their term policies expire if they wish to retain National Service Life Insurance thereafter under the present law. They are:

1. Renew for another five-year term; or,

2. Convert to one or more of the six available permanent plans of NSLI.

The requirement is contained in the NSLI Act of 1940, as amended, which stipulates that after discharge, only those who had active service between October 8, 1940 and September 2, 1945 may be granted new insurance.

This means, VA said, that if a veteran's first period of service began after September 2, 1945 and he permits his term policy to expire without renewing or converting, he cannot apply for new insurance unless he re-enters active service.

Term NSLI policies issued before January 1, 1946 expire eight years from the date of issue. Term NSLI policies issued on or after January 1, 1946 expire five years from the date of issue.

These expiration periods are significant for veterans whose first period of service began after September 2, 1945 and who took out term NSLI while in service.

If they took out their term policies before January 1, 1946, they have eight years from the date of issue to renew or convert before the expiration of the policies.

If they took out their term NSLI policies on or after January 1, 1946, they have only five years from the date of issue to renew or convert before expiration.

There is still a third group affected by another date. This group includes those who took out NSLI term policies on or after January 1, 1948. These policies, under the present law, may not be renewed at their expiration, but they may be converted at any time prior to their expiration.

Senate Gives Its Citations to Saypol

New York, April 10 (AP)—The U. S. Senate has turned over its contempt citations of gamblers Frank Costello, Frank Erickson and Joe Adonis to U. S. Attorney Irving Saypol here.

Saypol told newsmen yesterday he had received the official transcript of the records for study. He said he would present evidence to a federal grand jury for possible indictments.

The three men were cited for contempt after balking at certain questions asked them during the Senate Crime Committee hearings here last month.

Erickson is serving a two-year penitentiary term for bookmaking.

If indicted and convicted, they would face a possible maximum penalty of 12 months imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

Will Talk to Club On Good Shipping

At the April meeting of the Mid-Hudson Traffic Club in Newburgh Wednesday, the principal speaker will be Frank A. Dansereau, loading and container engineer of the Association of American Railroads, New York. His topic will be Perfect Shipping.

His talk will stress that during the present emergency there is extra necessity to be sure that freight is packed right, marked properly, stowed sensibly and handled carefully.

All shippers are invited to the meeting in the Newburgh Hotel. Dinner is scheduled for 7 p. m. and the meeting at 8 o'clock.

Wages Must Conform

Washington, April 10 (AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board today ruled wages paid baseball players must conform generally with club payroll practices of 1950. Officials said that means no individual ball player can be paid more this year than the highest salary a player on the same club received during 1950. The ruling was made at the request of attorneys for the major and minor leagues. They asked whether wages paid ball players are exempt from wage controls. The board said they are not.

LETTERS TO CONGRESS

Indications that local residents are writing to their senators and congressman expressing their opinions and desires on proposed legislation before the national legislators may be seen in the number of requests received by The Freeman for the names of the lawmakers in Washington, D. C.

As a service to the readers of The Freeman, who may desire to contact the two United States Senators from New York State and our Representative in Congress from the 30th Congressional District, which comprises the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Columbia, Greene and Schoharie, we are publishing their names and party affiliation:

U. S. Senators
Irving M. Ives, Republican
Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat-Liberal
Representative in Congress
J. Ernest Wharton, Republican

The address of both the senators and the congressman is Washington, D. C.

NEED A 'CODE OF CONDUCT'

A lot of argument is being stirred up about whether it's a good thing to televise such affairs as the Kefauver Committee's celebrated New York hearings.

A pretty fair answer would be: Yes, if proper safeguards can be erected to protect the rights of witnesses and prevent the debasing of the proceedings. This would seem to be also the idea of Senator Kefauver, who has just declared that Congress should draft a "code of conduct" to govern its hearings.

By now everyone knows the video version of the crime hearings hit the viewing public with the impact of a pile-driver. Probably at no time in history have so many people become so thoroughly aroused over the sordid side of U. S. life as were the millions whose eyes popped at the committee-room doings of Frank Costello, Joe Adonis, Frank Erickson and company.

If the steam pressure generated by those hearings had been sustained long enough to direct several jets toward the polling booths, every politician with the slightest smirch on his record might well have been blasted sky-high.

This high pitch couldn't be maintained, of course. But even as it is, many a politician may rue the day TV was invented. For what the people see they apparently remember longer than what they hear.

Who can doubt this is a tremendously healthful thing for a democratic citizenry? The popular response to the crime hearings was so great it seems possible the force of public opinion might almost gain a new dimension if televising of such events were to continue. To those who believe public opinion is the wellspring of democracy, this outcome could only be viewed as desirable.

Yet there's another side to the issue—an important side. To begin with, the very decision to televise one event and not another inevitably amounts to an editing of what the people shall know, or at least know by immediate visual experience. Unless extreme care is taken to present a balanced picture of government, the public will not in the long run be well served by TV broadcasts of major events. Who should exercise the vital power of deciding what the public shall see?

Complete stress on the obviously dramatic investigations into wrong-doing or other official failures can only give the citizen a distorted immage of his nation's public affairs.

Moreover, if congressional inquiries are to be televised frequently, then long overdue reforms in committee practice ought to be instituted forthwith. The investigative power of Congress is a cardinal feature of i law-making process; it cannot be hedged about with seriously hampering restrictions. Without full information, wise laws cannot be made.

But Congress has almost always allowed itself considerably more latitude than necessary to this purpose. Its committees' rules are extremely flexible, leaving broad room for discretion—and abuse. Only roughly do they resemble the careful procedure of the courtroom.

THE IPR SAGA

In connection with the forthcoming investigation by the McCarran Committee, I have been recounting the history of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which is a central point of any studies made of the Asiatic policy of the United States. The IPR has, since its organization (1925), been a great factor not only in determining Far Eastern policy but in the training and selection of personnel.

In previous articles, I have discussed the origin and changes in this organization. Now, we come to the biennial conference held at Banff, Canada, August 14-26, 1933.

It was at this meeting that the American group appeared in full control, E. C. Carter, the secretary of the American Council, becoming secretary-general of the international organization.

The Russians were absent at Banff and the reason officially given was:

". . . But lack of recognition of the Soviet government by the governments of Canada and the United States, and passport regulations that fall short of according visitors from the Soviet Union complete equality with representatives of other countries, prevented this proffered co-operation from materializing. The Pacific Council, in taking cognizance of this situation, not only expressed deep regret but determined to make sure that the time and place for the next conference, in 1935, should be chosen with the fullest regard for the wishes of this important member group."

Considerable concern was expressed over the absence of the Russians and the preface to the 1933 report says:

". . . Indeed, some of the questions for discussion drafted months earlier almost seemed designed to draw out issues in which the U.S.S.R. is especially interested: As, for example, those relating to the effect of national economic policies on international conflict—specifically those relating to trade expansion—to the industrialization of new areas, and the quest for underlying causes and motives of such policies. Government monopolies, the effect of 'anti-dumping' laws, embargoes, controls over the export of capital, and other subjects of that nature were discussed in some instances with illustrations directly relating to conflicts between the union and other powers with interests in the Pacific.

"Towards the end of the economic discussions, questions came up concerning the efficacy of methods tried by different governments in adjusting their internal machinery of economic controls to the international situation; and here again the lack of first-hand evidence from the Soviet republics distinctly limited the discussion, although a few members, such as Colonel Hugh Cooper, an American engineer with long experience in Russia, were relatively well informed. In one of the round tables on education, statements were made about Soviet propaganda in neighboring states of the Far East which, in the absence of a Soviet spokesman, remained unchallenged though to some they seemed to be contrary to the known policies of the Soviet Union.

"That these difficulties due to the absence of one of the most important groups in the Institute were realized by many of the members appears also from the discussions of the International Programme Committee which, in planning for the main theme of the 1935 conference, placed in the forefront of its considerations the widely felt need for a full presentation of the economic and social policies of the Soviet Union, with the philosophy and concrete objectives at the back of them."

It was decided to call the 1935 conference at a place where the Russians would be welcome. It was, however, known in August, 1933, that the Roosevelt administration intended to recognize Soviet Russia. This was achieved in November, 1933.

Jerome D. Greene, who had been chairman of the American Council, had resigned and Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, had taken his place. Among those who were on the American group at Banff were: Philip Jessup, B. H. Kizer, Owen Lattimore, and Henry R. Luce. The secretaries of the American group were:

Joseph Barnes, Miss Caroline Corbett, Mrs. F. V. Field, T. J. Kreps, Miss Harriet Moore, Lawrence S. Rockefeller, Miss Caroline Thompson, Grover Clark, Miss E. Fabyan, Miss Nan Y. Hewitt, Miss Kate Mitchell, Miss Carol Riegelman, Mrs. Maude W. Stewart, Miss Charlotte Tyler.

Frederick Vanderbilt Field, who was at this time one of the most effective men in the organization and was swiftly moving from a Norman Thomas Socialist to a Communist, does not appear as an officer, but merely as a member of the conference staff.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

FUNNEL CHEST

Most of us have seen what is called "pigeon chest" in which the breastbone stands out like that of a pouter pigeon. In young individuals much of this deformity can be corrected by hanging apparatus and exercise to widen the chest.

However, there is another deformity of the chest, which may be present at birth, in which the breastbone does not stand out prominently but is sunken into the chest, forming a sort of funnel. It is called funnel chest. Unfortunately, funnel chest cannot be corrected by apparatus and exercise; it requires surgery.

Persons afflicted with funnel chest not only endure physical discomfort, but feel that they cannot expose the chest in swimming or games because of this, to them, "terrible deformity."

In Journal of Pediatrics, St. Louis, Dr. C. W. Lester reports that he operated on 42 patients with a funnel chest, a deformity present at birth which seems to run in some families. "It has serious physical, physiological and psychological effects." Surgery is the treatment and type of operation depends on the age of the patient. The operation consists of removing the pull on the lower end of the breastbone (sternum) and then lifting it up into a normal position.

The lower end of the breastbone cannot be loosened and raised without cutting into the tissues in and about it, both pleurae (covering of the lungs), the pericardium (covering of the heart) and occasionally the peritoneum (lining of the abdomen and the covering of the organs of the abdomen). Dr. Lester states that despite the exposure of all these tissues, the risk of the operation is not great. There were no deaths in these 42 cases and the results were highly satisfactory from the functional standpoint.

From the age standpoint, almost complete correction was obtained by this surgical operation up to the age of 5 years. At least 75 per cent correction of funnel chest was obtained in all patients over 5 years, and, in most of them, the correction was 90 per cent or better.

I am passing this information to parents of children with this deformity who, naturally, do not like to think of their youngster undergoing operation. However, if they could look ahead and see the lifetime embarrassment of their youngsters, even the development of an inferiority complex, they will likely, after consultation with their doctor, have the condition corrected.

Double Entry

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—For almost a year the President and those around him have blown hot and cold regarding the most spectacular military leader in the nation—Douglas MacArthur. At times, as when MacArthur barges into things political, Mr. Truman has been on the verge of firing him. At other times, as when he returned from Wake Island, the President has sung MacArthur's praises.

The truth is that the administration has a bear by the tail and doesn't know how to let go.

Probably at no time in American history has there been a comparable situation between the White House and a powerful, popular military commander. The facts, briefly, boil down to these:

MacArthur has been an active candidate for President on the opposite ticket from that of Mr. Truman, entered the Wisconsin primaries in 1948, and maintained campaign headquarters at the Philadelphia convention in 1948—the same year Truman was re-elected. Thus he is a political opponent, as well as a military subordinate.

MacArthur maintains his own personal publicity representative inside the Republican national committee — Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers. Gen Fellers is in frequent contact with G.O.P. leaders on Capitol Hill, helps to plant speeches in the House and Senate.

MacArthur has the vigorous support of some of the most powerful leaders of the Republican party, has entertained many of the nation's leading publishers, is the personal friend of Hugh Baillie, head of the far-reaching United Press; also of Roy Howard, whose Scripps-Howard chain newspapers and United Press are controlled by the same interests. And it is obvious to the casual newspaper reader from the special, copyrighted interviews issued by MacArthur to his friends, that his press treatment is of a nature equalled by few other public figures—certainly not by Harry Truman.

The result has been that some Truman advisers have wanted their chief to fire the 71-year-old MacArthur on the ground that he was long past retirement age and was paying more attention to politics than to Korea. Other advisers have turned pale at the thought of any open break with MacArthur, argue that it would give the general an excuse to come back and attack the administration.

However, all groups agree that the poltical and military tug-of-war between Tokyo and the White House probably has been the most spectacular and difficult ever to exist between any president and a commander in the field.

Labor Smiles Again

Inside reason why the recent conference between labor leaders and their old friend Harry Truman went off so well was a private tip passed out to labor in advance that defense mobilizer Charlie Wilson's wings would be clipped.

The clipping would begin, labor chiefs learned via the grapevine, with the creation of the new 17-man mobilzation advisory board, a superstructure that will pass on such hot policy questions as labor's demand that the wage stabilizaton board handle disputes over working conditions as well as wages.

The labor chiefs were also tipped off, as they headed for the White House, that the "disputes" issue would be decided in their favor. In other words, the wage stabilization board would handle hours and working conditions in addition to wages.

At the meeting the President went even further, promising that future control over all mobilization policies would be vested in the new 17-man board, rather than in Wilson.

To make sure that Wilson's wings are clipped, the President reported that he would personally "sit in" with the new board, composed of four public, four farm, four labor and four management representatives "at least once a month."

His labor callers took this to mean that Truman would act as chairman, instead of Wilson, in such cases, but the President didn't clarify what his status would be at the meetings he attended.

Truman Listens

At no time during his chat with labor did the President criticize Wilson or indicate that the dynamic, former head of General Electric was on his way out as boss mobilizer. He did not concur when CIO President Phil Murray bluntly declared:

"Wilson is unpalatable to every man here except yourself. He is the reason labor has not been able to serve in its proper place in the mobilization program. Labor wants to serve and would serve if Wilson and big business hadn't barred us."

AFL President Bill Green agreed.

"Labor has tried to work with Wilson," Green said. "We are aware of the seriousness of the problems facing the country and have patriotically endeavored to get along with him, but his overbearing conduct makes it impossible."

Truman said he understood labor's position, but added that differences with management spokesmen were not insurmountable and could be worked out "if you will be patient" until the new advisory board gets rolling.

"We want you back in—I need your advice and help as much as I need that of business," the President insisted.

"I get all the government advice I need," he added with a broad grin.

Kisses Way to Jail

Hamburg, Germany, (AP) — A police official was sentenced to four weeks imprisonment here because "kissing does not belong to the sphere of duty of a policeman." The official had interviewed a housemaid on the suspicious actions of one of the boarders. When the interview was finished he threw her on the couch and kissed her. "I had closed my notebook and so my duty was finished," the young policeman told the judge. The maid did not notify the prosecutor, her finance did.

Thefts Mount

Singapore, (AP) — Warehouses along Singapore harbour have become happy hunting grounds for thieves. Goods worth more than $6,600 have been stolen within the last two months. Thefts from warehouses, have doubled since last Dec. 31. Then the Singapore harbour auxiliary police were disbanded. Only 40 harbour police lieutenants are now patrolling the areas handled by 120 officers last year.

STUDY CAUSES OF CANCER

Researchers at a world-wide cancer conference in Paris theorized that cancer results from many rather than a single cause. Such factors as degenerative changes in tissues are believed to combine with outside agents of this modern industrial era to cause cancer. Research into cancer's causes is supported by funds from the American Cancer Society. Give to the 1951 Cancer Crusade.

New Set of Rules Would Placate British Labor Government's Left Wing Members

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 10—There's an ironical answer—although perhaps one not too palatable for Americans—with which to try to placate the "left wing" members of the Labor Government in Great Britain who seem to think General MacArthur should either be muzzled or removed from his command. It would be to formulate a new set of rules somewhat as follows:

1. No officer or enlisted man of the armed forces of the United States shall hereafter answer any letter from any member of Congress, Democrat or Republican, who addresses any inquiry to him.

2. If any military man happens to write a personal letter or a letter commenting on matters of public interest to some member of Congress who makes such a letter public, believing it in the public interest to do so, the immediate expulsion of any such member of Congress shall be ordered and a certified copy of the removal action shall be sent to the British House of Commons or to any other complaining governments in the U.N.

It might, of course, encourage the British Socialists who have introduced a motion in the House of Commons calling for an expression of "no confidence" in General MacArthur to feel that the adoption of such a motion is tantamount to an order to President Truman to discipline General MacArthur and that it will establish a precedent for regulating the behavior of other American officials in the future.

Seriously, however, the episode is likely to split the British Parliament as it is bound to split the American Congress if it is pressed. The Labor Government in Britain really cannot afford to make an issue of it with the American Government without at the same time creating in the United States the very kind of dissension that the British are represented as anxious to avoid with respect to European as well as Far Eastern problems.

For, if the British "left wing" move proceeds further, it is bound to have repercussions on this side in Congress. Already the U. S. Navy is seriously considering withdrawal from the over-all command principle with respect to the inter-allied command in the Atlantic. American naval officers say they do not want to see any of their number subjected to the same kind of criticism that has already been directed toward General MacArthur.

The truth of the matter is that General MacArthur is just being made the scapegoat for the differences of opinion which have existed between Washington and London for several months as to what should be done in Korea. General MacArthur has publicly appealed to the United Nations for military help. He has appealed for reinforcements again and again, to no avail. He has pointed out the dangers of stalemate. He has urged that he be given the right to bombard the bases from which the Chinese Communists are coming to attack his troops. He has made his recommendations through official channels and has got nowhere. It is apparent that General MacArthur is pleading on behalf of the 250,000 Americans who are stagnated in Korea and destined to fight indefinitely there without further help from the European allies.

Maybe the British criticism will unwittingly have a beneficial effect. It may compel a showdown inside the U.N. on Korea. For it looks as if a decided effort is being made to force the U.N. out of Korea through a program of abject withdrawal. Again and again these elements have called for peace negotiations, and every time the Chinese Communists have answered with arrogance and definance, because they undoubtedly regard these constant overtures as a sign of U.N. weakness. But irrespective of the sacrifices that have been made, the "left wingers" in London, though professing to believe in freedom of speech, now evidently object even to the statement of the case to the people of the world as General MacArthur has tried to do. They do not want any further discussion by the man on the ground—even though he be the U.N. commander in chief—unless it fits their point of view.

President Truman has been urged here, too, by some of the anti-MacArthur group to discipline or reprimand the general. Some of the pressure is coming from the peace-at-any-price elements here. All that can be said is that if MacArthur is disciplined, it will touch off a political controversy that will not end with the fate of the general himself but will affect American policies toward Europe in general and Britain in particular for a long time to come.

The American government has kept silent too long as to its own viewpoint with respect to Korea. A declaration of aims and purposes in Korea might at least clear the air and let the world know that the sacrifices undertaken since last June in the name of a war against aggression have not been in vain.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

San Francisco, April 9—Finding myself near Stanford University, I bethought me of the Hoover tower on the campus, a tall, square, spire full of documents bearing on peace and efforts to preserve and disturb the same.

An inscription in the foyer says "the purpose of this institution is to preserve the peace." The very atmosphere seems to murmur "peace."

In this tower, so far from the Waldorf Tower in New York, I found a collection of New York letterhead fronts whose literature seemed to me to be bellicose. I refer to the Waldorf Tower because Herbert Hoover and Arthur J. Goldsmith live and carry on correspondence there. Mr. Hoover, though a neighbor, has no truck with Mr. Goldsmith's propaganda fronts, which camouflage the true nature of their common address under the insignificant line "100 East 50th Street." For years Goldsmith has gotten by as a dragon in a secret lair and people have tiptoed past, afraid to mention his name. However, when I tried to poke him up and make him snort, he shrank back into his three-room suite and sulked.

I am taking the long way around to analyze the half-dozen fronts which do business out of Mr. Goldsmith's, and will drop that shoe in due time. Meanwhile, I can say that one of them did send money to Senator Tobey's campaign in New Hampshire notwithstanding that New Deal Republican's pietistical denials when Dough-Head O'Dwyer was on the television. I can tell you, too, that Alben Barkley used to call at the lair, and David K. Niles, as well. (Excuse, if you can, my feeling, not akin to respect, on learning that two gentlemen, prominent in the "let's you and him fight a war" movement, each had a bellicose son of eligible years, neither of whom heard a gun fired in anger when the chance came to make their daddies proud. One of these papas sent wheedlements to Mr. Niles, at the White House, to keep his pride and joy out of harm's way.)

The Hoover Library, among other works, accumulates propaganda published for peace and war, examines it and files in cabinets just to keep the record straight. So, today, when I asked the gentle lady in charge for something on Mr. Goldsmith's fronts, she was able to whip out a remarkable breakdown.

This analysis listed 100 more or less harmless, habitual joiners of fronts of a type which Herbert Swope, himself an inveterate joiner, recently described as synthetic. These rosters are like the lists of "those at the speaker's table" in the banquet season back in the happy days. That was good, clean fun. But then these platitudes incarnate got infected with acute, compound, galloping ismatism, and a lot of bail-bond lawyers and lipstick magnates got into a scramble to see who could hang most medals on the first lady

Indications that local residents are writing to their senators and congressman expressing their opinions and desires on proposed legislation before the national legislators may be seen in the number of requests received by The Freeman for the names of the lawmakers in Washington, D. C.

As a service to the readers of The Freeman, who may desire to contact the two United States Senators from New York State and our Representative in Congress from the 30th Congressional District, which comprises the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Columbia, Greene and Schoharie, we are publishing their names and party affiliation:

U. S. Senators
Irving M. Ives, Republican
Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat-Liberal
Representative in Congress
J. Ernest Wharton, Republican

The address of both the senators and the congressman is Washington, D. C.

NEED A 'CODE OF CONDUCT'

A lot of argument is being stirred up about whether it's a good thing to televise such affairs as the Kefauver Committee's celebrated New York hearings.

A pretty fair answer would be: Yes, if proper safeguards can be erected to protect the rights of witnesses and prevent the debasing of the proceedings. This would seem to be also the idea of Senator Kefauver, who has just declared that Congress should draft a "code of conduct" to govern its hearings.

By now everyone knows the video version of the crime hearings hit the viewing public with the impact of a pile-driver. Probably at no time in history have so many people become so thoroughly aroused over the sordid side of U. S. life as were the millions whose eyes popped at the committee-room doings of Frank Costello, Joe Adonis, Frank Erickson and company.

If the steam pressure generated by those hearings had been sustained long enough to direct several jets toward the polling booths, every politician with the slightest smirch on his record might well have been blasted sky-high.

This high pitch couldn't be maintained, of course. But even as it is, many a politician may rue the day TV was invented. For what the people see they apparently remember longer than what they hear.

Who can doubt this is a tremendously healthful thing for a democratic citizenry? The popular response to the crime hearings was so great it seems possible the force of public opinion might almost gain a new dimension if televising of such events were to continue. To those who believe public opinion is the wellspring of democracy, this outcome could only be viewed as desirable.

Yet there's another side to the issue—an important side. To begin with, the very decision to televise one event and not another inevitably amounts to an editing of what the people shall know, or at least know by immediate visual experience. Unless extreme care is taken to present a balanced picture of government, the public will not in the long run be well served by TV broadcasts of major events. Who should exercise the vital power of deciding what the public shall see?

Complete stress on the obviously dramatic investigations into wrong-doing or other official failures can only give the citizen a distorted immage of his nation's public affairs.

Moreover, if congressional inquiries are to be televised frequently, then long overdue reforms in committee practice ought to be instituted forthwith. The investigative power of Congress is a cardinal feature of i law-making process; it cannot be hedged about with seriously hampering restrictions. Without full information, wise laws cannot be made.

But Congress has almost always allowed itself considerably more latitude than necessary to this purpose. Its committees' rules are extremely flexible, leaving broad room for discretion—and abuse. Only roughly do they resemble the careful procedure of the courtroom.

THE IPR SAGA

In connection with the forthcoming investigation by the McCarran Committee, I have been recounting the history of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which is a central point of any studies made of the Asiatic policy of the United States. The IPR has, since its organization (1925), been a great factor not only in determining Far Eastern policy but in the training and selection of personnel.

In previous articles, I have discussed the origin and changes in this organization. Now, we come to the biennial conference held at Banff, Canada, August 14-26, 1933.

It was at this meeting that the American group appeared in full control, E. C. Carter, the secretary of the American Council, becoming secretary-general of the international organization.

The Russians were absent at Banff and the reason officially given was:

". . . But lack of recognition of the Soviet government by the governments of Canada and the United States, and passport regulations that fall short of according visitors from the Soviet Union complete equality with representatives of other countries, prevented this proffered co-operation from materializing. The Pacific Council, in taking cognizance of this situation, not only expressed deep regret but determined to make sure that the time and place for the next conference, in 1935, should be chosen with the fullest regard for the wishes of this important member group."

Considerable concern was expressed over the absence of the Russians and the preface to the 1933 report says:

". . . Indeed, some of the questions for discussion drafted months earlier almost seemed designed to draw out issues in which the U.S.S.R. is especially interested: As, for example, those relating to the effect of national economic policies on international conflict—specifically those relating to trade expansion—to the industrialization of new areas, and the quest for underlying causes and motives of such policies. Government monopolies, the effect of 'anti-dumping' laws, embargoes, controls over the export of capital, and other subjects of that nature were discussed in some instances with illustrations directly relating to conflicts between the union and other powers with interests in the Pacific.

"Towards the end of the economic discussions, questions came up concerning the efficacy of methods tried by different governments in adjusting their internal machinery of economic controls to the international situation; and here again the lack of first-hand evidence from the Soviet republics distinctly limited the discussion, although a few members, such as Colonel Hugh Cooper, an American engineer with long experience in Russia, were relatively well informed. In one of the round tables on education, statements were made about Soviet propaganda in neighboring states of the Far East which, in the absence of a Soviet spokesman, remained unchallenged though to some they seemed to be contrary to the known policies of the Soviet Union.

"That these difficulties due to the absence of one of the most important groups in the Institute were realized by many of the members appears also from the discussions of the International Programme Committee which, in planning for the main theme of the 1935 conference, placed in the forefront of its considerations the widely felt need for a full presentation of the economic and social policies of the Soviet Union, with the philosophy and concrete objectives at the back of them."

It was decided to call the 1935 conference at a place where the Russians would be welcome. It was, however, known in August, 1933, that the Roosevelt administration intended to recognize Soviet Russia. This was achieved in November, 1933.

Jerome D. Greene, who had been chairman of the American Council, had resigned and Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, had taken his place. Among those who were on the American group at Banff were: Philip Jessup, B. H. Kizer, Owen Lattimore, and Henry R. Luce. The secretaries of the American group were:

Joseph Barnes, Miss Caroline Corbett, Mrs. F. V. Field, T. J. Kreps, Miss Harriet Moore, Lawrence S. Rockefeller, Miss Caroline Thompson, Grover Clark, Miss E. Fabyan, Miss Nan Y. Hewitt, Miss Kate Mitchell, Miss Carol Riegelman, Mrs. Maude W. Stewart, Miss Charlotte Tyler.

Frederick Vanderbilt Field, who was at this time one of the most effective men in the organization and was swiftly moving from a Norman Thomas Socialist to a Communist, does not appear as an officer, but merely as a member of the conference staff.

That Body of Yours

FUNNEL CHEST

Most of us have seen what is called "pigeon chest" in which the breastbone stands out like that of a pouter pigeon. In young individuals much of this deformity can be corrected by hanging apparatus and exercise to widen the chest.

However, there is another deformity of the chest, which may be present at birth, in which the breastbone does not stand out prominently but is sunken into the chest, forming a sort of funnel. It is called funnel chest. Unfortunately, funnel chest cannot be corrected by apparatus and exercise; it requires surgery.

Persons afflicted with funnel chest not only endure physical discomfort, but feel that they cannot expose the chest in swimming or games because of this, to them, "terrible deformity."

In Journal of Pediatrics, St. Louis, Dr. C. W. Lester reports that he operated on 42 patients with a funnel chest, a deformity present at birth which seems to run in some families. "It has serious physical, physiological and psychological effects." Surgery is the treatment and type of operation depends on the age of the patient. The operation consists of removing the pull on the lower end of the breastbone (sternum) and then lifting it up into a normal position.

The lower end of the breastbone cannot be loosened and raised without cutting into the tissues in and about it, both pleurae (covering of the lungs), the pericardium (covering of the heart) and occasionally the peritoneum (lining of the abdomen and the covering of the organs of the abdomen). Dr. Lester states that despite the exposure of all these tissues, the risk of the operation is not great. There were no deaths in these 42 cases and the results were highly satisfactory from the functional standpoint.

From the age standpoint, almost complete correction was obtained by this surgical operation up to the age of 5 years. At least 75 per cent correction of funnel chest was obtained in all patients over 5 years, and, in most of them, the correction was 90 per cent or better.

I am passing this information to parents of children with this deformity who, naturally, do not like to think of their youngster undergoing operation. However, if they could look ahead and see the lifetime embarrassment of their youngsters, even the development of an inferiority complex, they will likely, after consultation with their doctor, have the condition corrected.

Double Entry

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—For almost a year the President and those around him have blown hot and cold regarding the most spectacular military leader in the nation—Douglas MacArthur. At times, as when MacArthur barges into things political, Mr. Truman has been on the verge of firing him. At other times, as when he returned from Wake Island, the President has sung MacArthur's praises.

The truth is that the administration has a bear by the tail and doesn't know how to let go.

Probably at no time in American history has there been a comparable situation between the White House and a powerful, popular military commander. The facts, briefly, boil down to these:

MacArthur has been an active candidate for President on the opposite ticket from that of Mr. Truman, entered the Wisconsin primaries in 1948, and maintained campaign headquarters at the Philadelphia convention in 1948—the same year Truman was re-elected. Thus he is a political opponent, as well as a military subordinate.

MacArthur maintains his own personal publicity representative inside the Republican national committee — Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers. Gen Fellers is in frequent contact with G.O.P. leaders on Capitol Hill, helps to plant speeches in the House and Senate.

MacArthur has the vigorous support of some of the most powerful leaders of the Republican party, has entertained many of the nation's leading publishers, is the personal friend of Hugh Baillie, head of the far-reaching United Press; also of Roy Howard, whose Scripps-Howard chain newspapers and United Press are controlled by the same interests. And it is obvious to the casual newspaper reader from the special, copyrighted interviews issued by MacArthur to his friends, that his press treatment is of a nature equalled by few other public figures—certainly not by Harry Truman.

The result has been that some Truman advisers have wanted their chief to fire the 71-year-old MacArthur on the ground that he was long past retirement age and was paying more attention to politics than to Korea. Other advisers have turned pale at the thought of any open break with MacArthur, argue that it would give the general an excuse to come back and attack the administration.

However, all groups agree that the poltical and military tug-of-war between Tokyo and the White House probably has been the most spectacular and difficult ever to exist between any president and a commander in the field.

Labor Smiles Again

Inside reason why the recent conference between labor leaders and their old friend Harry Truman went off so well was a private tip passed out to labor in advance that defense mobilizer Charlie Wilson's wings would be clipped.

The clipping would begin, labor chiefs learned via the grapevine, with the creation of the new 17-man mobilzation advisory board, a superstructure that will pass on such hot policy questions as labor's demand that the wage stabilizaton board handle disputes over working conditions as well as wages.

The labor chiefs were also tipped off, as they headed for the White House, that the "disputes" issue would be decided in their favor. In other words, the wage stabilization board would handle hours and working conditions in addition to wages.

At the meeting the President went even further, promising that future control over all mobilization policies would be vested in the new 17-man board, rather than in Wilson.

To make sure that Wilson's wings are clipped, the President reported that he would personally "sit in" with the new board, composed of four public, four farm, four labor and four management representatives "at least once a month."

His labor callers took this to mean that Truman would act as chairman, instead of Wilson, in such cases, but the President didn't clarify what his status would be at the meetings he attended.

Truman Listens

At no time during his chat with labor did the President criticize Wilson or indicate that the dynamic, former head of General Electric was on his way out as boss mobilizer. He did not concur when CIO President Phil Murray bluntly declared:

"Wilson is unpalatable to every man here except yourself. He is the reason labor has not been able to serve in its proper place in the mobilization program. Labor wants to serve and would serve if Wilson and big business hadn't barred us."

AFL President Bill Green agreed.

"Labor has tried to work with Wilson," Green said. "We are aware of the seriousness of the problems facing the country and have patriotically endeavored to get along with him, but his overbearing conduct makes it impossible."

Truman said he understood labor's position, but added that differences with management spokesmen were not insurmountable and could be worked out "if you will be patient" until the new advisory board gets rolling.

"We want you back in—I need your advice and help as much as I need that of business," the President insisted.

"I get all the government advice I need," he added with a broad grin.

April 10, 1931—The Blue Sox Baseball Club organized with Charles Porch as president.

Charles Smith, 9, of Murphy street suffered fractures of the hips in a mishap at the O. & W. railroad turntable near his home.

The annual banquet of the Mercantile Bowling League was held at the Y.M.C.A.

Mrs. Mary Curtis Hazzard, wife of the Rev. Herbert Hazzard, died in the Methodist Hospital, Brooklyn.

April 10, 1941—Mrs. Thomas W. Reynolds was elected president of the Women's Club of the Y.M.C.A.

Mrs. Emma Pettit Cooper died at her O'Neil street home.

Maj. Carl Preston announced vacancies in Companies A and B of the 56th Regiment, New York State Guard.

The area overnight temperature was 37 and the noon high 60 degrees.

Kisses Way to Jail

Hamburg, Germany, (AP) — A police official was sentenced to four weeks imprisonment here because "kissing does not belong to the sphere of duty of a policeman." The official had interviewed a housemaid on the suspicious actions of one of the boarders. When the interview was finished he threw her on the couch and kissed her. "I had closed my notebook and so my duty was finished," the young policeman told the judge. The maid did not notify the prosecutor, her finance did.

Thefts Mount

Singapore, (AP) — Warehouses along Singapore harbour have become happy hunting grounds for thieves. Goods worth more than $6,600 have been stolen within the last two months. Thefts from warehouses, have doubled since last Dec. 31. Then the Singapore harbour auxiliary police were disbanded. Only 40 harbour police lieutenants are now patrolling the areas handled by 120 officers last year.

STUDY CAUSES OF CANCER

Researchers at a world-wide cancer conference in Paris theorized that cancer results from many rather than a single cause. Such factors as degenerative changes in tissues are believed to combine with outside agents of this modern industrial era to cause cancer. Research into cancer's causes is supported by funds from the American Cancer Society. Give to the 1951 Cancer Crusade.

New Set of Rules Would Placate British Labor Government's Left Wing Members

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 10—There's an ironical answer—although perhaps one not too palatable for Americans—with which to try to placate the "left wing" members of the Labor Government in Great Britain who seem to think General MacArthur should either be muzzled or removed from his command. It would be to formulate a new set of rules somewhat as follows:

1. No officer or enlisted man of the armed forces of the United States shall hereafter answer any letter from any member of Congress, Democrat or Republican, who addresses any inquiry to him.

2. If any military man happens to write a personal letter or a letter commenting on matters of public interest to some member of Congress who makes such a letter public, believing it in the public interest to do so, the immediate expulsion of any such member of Congress shall be ordered and a certified copy of the removal action shall be sent to the British House of Commons or to any other complaining governments in the U.N.

It might, of course, encourage the British Socialists who have introduced a motion in the House of Commons calling for an expression of "no confidence" in General MacArthur to feel that the adoption of such a motion is tantamount to an order to President Truman to discipline General MacArthur and that it will establish a precedent for regulating the behavior of other American officials in the future.

Seriously, however, the episode is likely to split the British Parliament as it is bound to split the American Congress if it is pressed. The Labor Government in Britain really cannot afford to make an issue of it with the American Government without at the same time creating in the United States the very kind of dissension that the British are represented as anxious to avoid with respect to European as well as Far Eastern problems.

For, if the British "left wing" move proceeds further, it is bound to have repercussions on this side in Congress. Already the U. S. Navy is seriously considering withdrawal from the over-all command principle with respect to the inter-allied command in the Atlantic. American naval officers say they do not want to see any of their number subjected to the same kind of criticism that has already been directed toward General MacArthur.

The truth of the matter is that General MacArthur is just being made the scapegoat for the differences of opinion which have existed between Washington and London for several months as to what should be done in Korea. General MacArthur has publicly appealed to the United Nations for military help. He has appealed for reinforcements again and again, to no avail. He has pointed out the dangers of stalemate. He has urged that he be given the right to bombard the bases from which the Chinese Communists are coming to attack his troops. He has made his recommendations through official channels and has got nowhere. It is apparent that General MacArthur is pleading on behalf of the 250,000 Americans who are stagnated in Korea and destined to fight indefinitely there without further help from the European allies.

Maybe the British criticism will unwittingly have a beneficial effect. It may compel a showdown inside the U.N. on Korea. For it looks as if a decided effort is being made to force the U.N. out of Korea through a program of abject withdrawal. Again and again these elements have called for peace negotiations, and every time the Chinese Communists have answered with arrogance and definance, because they undoubtedly regard these constant overtures as a sign of U.N. weakness. But irrespective of the sacrifices that have been made, the "left wingers" in London, though professing to believe in freedom of speech, now evidently object even to the statement of the case to the people of the world as General MacArthur has tried to do. They do not want any further discussion by the man on the ground—even though he be the U.N. commander in chief—unless it fits their point of view.

President Truman has been urged here, too, by some of the anti-MacArthur group to discipline or reprimand the general. Some of the pressure is coming from the peace-at-any-price elements here. All that can be said is that if MacArthur is disciplined, it will touch off a political controversy that will not end with the fate of the general himself but will affect American policies toward Europe in general and Britain in particular for a long time to come.

The American government has kept silent too long as to its own viewpoint with respect to Korea. A declaration of aims and purposes in Korea might at least clear the air and let the world know that the sacrifices undertaken since last June in the name of a war against aggression have not been in vain.

LETTERS TO CONGRESS

Indications that local residents are writing to their senators and congressman expressing their opinions and desires on proposed legislation before the national legislators may be seen in the number of requests received by The Freeman for the names of the lawmakers in Washington, D. C.

As a service to the readers of The Freeman, who may desire to contact the two United States Senators from New York State and our Representative in Congress from the 30th Congressional District, which comprises the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Columbia, Greene and Schoharie, we are publishing their names and party affiliation:

U. S. Senators
Irving M. Ives, Republican
Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat-Liberal
Representative in Congress
J. Ernest Wharton, Republican

The address of both the senators and the congressman is Washington, D. C.

NEED A 'CODE OF CONDUCT'

A lot of argument is being stirred up about whether it's a good thing to televise such affairs as the Kefauver Committee's celebrated New York hearings.

A pretty fair answer would be: Yes, if proper safeguards can be erected to protect the rights of witnesses and prevent the debasing of the proceedings. This would seem to be also the idea of Senator Kefauver, who has just declared that Congress should draft a "code of conduct" to govern its hearings.

By now everyone knows the video version of the crime hearings hit the viewing public with the impact of a pile-driver. Probably at no time in history have so many people become so thoroughly aroused over the sordid side of U. S. life as were the millions whose eyes popped at the committee-room doings of Frank Costello, Joe Adonis, Frank Erickson and company.

If the steam pressure generated by those hearings had been sustained long enough to direct several jets toward the polling booths, every politician with the slightest smirch on his record might well have been blasted sky-high.

This high pitch couldn't be maintained, of course. But even as it is, many a politician may rue the day TV was invented. For what the people see they apparently remember longer than what they hear.

Who can doubt this is a tremendously healthful thing for a democratic citizenry? The popular response to the crime hearings was so great it seems possible the force of public opinion might almost gain a new dimension if televising of such events were to continue. To those who believe public opinion is the wellspring of democracy, this outcome could only be viewed as desirable.

Yet there's another side to the issue—an important side. To begin with, the very decision to televise one event and not another inevitably amounts to an editing of what the people shall know, or at least know by immediate visual experience. Unless extreme care is taken to present a balanced picture of government, the public will not in the long run be well served by TV broadcasts of major events. Who should exercise the vital power of deciding what the public shall see?

Complete stress on the obviously dramatic investigations into wrong-doing or other official failures can only give the citizen a distorted immage of his nation's public affairs.

Moreover, if congressional inquiries are to be televised frequently, then long overdue reforms in committee practice ought to be instituted forthwith. The investigative power of Congress is a cardinal feature of i law-making process; it cannot be hedged a out with seriously hampering restrictions. Without full information, wise laws cannot be made.

But Congress has almost always allowed itself considerably more latitude than necessary to this purpose. Its committees' rules are extremely flexible, leaving broad room for discretion—and abuse. Only roughly do they resemble the careful procedure of the courtroom.

THE IPR SAGA

In connection with the forthcoming investigation by the McCarran Committee, I have been recounting the history of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which is a central point of any studies made of the Asiatic policy of the United States. The IPR has, since its organization (1925), been a great factor not only in determining Far Eastern policy but in the training and selection of personnel.

In previous articles, I have discussed the origin and changes in this organization. Now, we come to the biennial conference held at Banff, Canada, August 14-26, 1933.

It was at this meeting that the American group appeared in full control, E. C. Carter, the secretary of the American Council, becoming secretary-general of the international organization.

The Russians were absent at Banff and the reason officially given was:

". . . But lack of recognition of the Soviet government by the governments of Canada and the United States, and passport regulations that fall short of according visitors from the Soviet Union complete equality with representatives of other countries, prevented this proffered co-operation from materializing. The Pacific Council, in taking cognizance of this situation, not only expressed deep regret but determined to make sure that the time and place for the next conference, in 1935, should be chosen with the fullest regard for the wishes of this important member group."

Considerable concern was expressed over the absence of the Russians and the preface to the 1933 report says:

". . . Indeed, some of the questions for discussion drafted months earlier almost seemed designed to draw out issues in which the U.S.S.R. is especially interested: As, for example, those relating to the effect of national economic policies on international conflict—specifically those relating to trade expansion—to the industrialization of new areas, and the quest for underlying causes and motives of such policies. Government monopolies, the effect of 'anti-dumping' laws, embargoes, controls over the export of capital, and other subjects of that nature were discussed in some instances with illustrations directly relating to conflicts between the union and other powers with interests in the Pacific.

"Towards the end of the economic discussions, questions came up concerning the efficacy of methods tried by different governments in adjusting their internal machinery of economic controls to the international situation; and here again the lack of first-hand evidence from the Soviet republics distinctly limited the discussion, although a few members, such as Colonel Hugh Cooper, an American engineer with long experience in Russia, were relatively well informed. In one of the round tables on education, statements were made about Soviet propaganda in neighboring states of the Far East which, in the absence of a Soviet spokesman, remained unchallenged though to some they seemed to be contrary to the known policies of the Soviet Union.

"That these difficulties due to the absence of one of the most important groups in the Institute were realized by many of the members appears also from the discussions of the International Programme Committee which, in planning for the main theme of the 1935 conference, placed in the forefront of its considerations the widely felt need for a full presentation of the economic and social policies of the Soviet Union, with the philosophy and concrete objectives at the back of them."

It was decided to call the 1935 conference at a place where the Russians would be welcome. It was, however, known in August, 1933, that the Roosevelt administration intended to recognize Soviet Russia. This was achieved in November, 1933.

Jerome D. Greene, who had been chairman of the American Council, had resigned and Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, had taken his place. Among those who were on the American group at Banff were: Philip Jessup, B. H. Kizer, Owen Lattimore, and Henry R. Luce. The secretaries of the American group were:

Joseph Barnes, Miss Caroline Corbett, Mrs. F. V. Field, T. J. Kreps, Miss Harriet Moore, Lawrence S. Rockefeller, Miss Caroline Thompson, Grover Clark, Miss E. Fabyan, Miss Nan Y. Hewitt, Miss Kate Mitchell, Miss Carol Riegelman, Mrs. Maude W. Stewart, Miss Charlotte Tyler.

Frederick Vanderbilt Field, who was at this time one of the most effective men in the organization and was swiftly moving from a Norman Thomas Socialist to a Communist, does not appear as an officer, but merely as a member of the conference staff.

That Body of Yours

FUNNEL CHEST

Most of us have seen what is called "pigeon chest" in which the breastbone stands out like that of a pouter pigeon. In young individuals much of this deformity can be corrected by hanging apparatus and exercise to widen the chest.

However, there is another deformity of the chest, which may be present at birth, in which the breastbone does not stand out prominently but is sunken into the chest, forming a sort of funnel. It is called funnel chest. Unfortunately, funnel chest cannot be corrected by apparatus and exercise; it requires surgery.

Persons afflicted with funnel chest not only endure physical discomfort, but feel that they cannot expose the chest in swimming or games because of this, to them, "terrible deformity."

In Journal of Pediatrics, St. Louis, Dr. C. W. Lester reports that he operated on 42 patients with a funnel chest, a deformity present at birth which seems to run in some families. "It has serious physical, physiological and psychological effects." Surgery is the treatment and type of operation depends on the age of the patient. The operation consists of removing the pull on the lower end of the breastbone (sternum) and then lifting it up into a normal position.

The lower end of the breastbone cannot be loosened and raised without cutting into the tissues in and about it, both pleurae (covering of the lungs), the pericardium (covering of the heart) and occasionally the peritoneum (lining of the abdomen and the covering of the organs of the abdomen). Dr. Lester states that despite the exposure of all these tissues, the risk of the operation is not great. There were no deaths in these 42 cases and the results were highly satisfactory from the functional standpoint.

From the age standpoint, almost complete correction was obtained by this surgical operation up to the age of 5 years. At least 75 per cent correction of funnel chest was obtained in all patients over 5 years, and, in most of them, the correction was 90 per cent or better.

I am passing this information to parents of children with this deformity who, naturally, do not like to think of their youngster undergoing operation. However, if they could look ahead and see the lifetime embarrassment of their youngsters, even the development of an inferiority complex, they will likely, after consultation with their doctor, have the condition corrected.

Double Entry

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—For almost a year the President and those around him have blown hot and cold regarding the most spectacular military leader in the nation—Douglas MacArthur. At times, as when MacArthur barges into things political, Mr. Truman has been on the verge of firing him. At other times, as when he returned from Wake Island, the President has sung MacArthur's praises.

The truth is that the administration has a bear by the tail and doesn't know how to let go.

Probably at no time in American history has there been a comparable situation between the White House and a powerful, popular military commander. The facts, briefly, boil down to these:

MacArthur has been an active candidate for President on the opposite ticket from that of Mr. Truman, entered the Wisconsin primaries in 1948, and maintained campaign headquarters at the Philadelphia convention in 1948—the same year Truman was re-elected. Thus he is a political opponent, as well as a military subordinate.

MacArthur maintains his own personal publicity representative inside the Republican national committee — Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers. Gen Fellers is in frequent contact with G.O.P. leaders on Capitol Hill, helps to plant speeches in the House and Senate.

MacArthur has the vigorous support of some of the most powerful leaders of the Republican party, has entertained many of the nation's leading publishers, is the personal friend of Hugh Baillie, head of the far-reaching United Press; also of Roy Howard, whose Scripps-Howard chain newspapers and United Press are controlled by the same interests. And it is obvious to the casual newspaper reader from the special, copyrighted interviews issued by MacArthur to his friends, that his press treatment is of a nature equalled by few other public figures—certainly not by Harry Truman.

The result has been that some Truman advisers have wanted their chief to fire the 71-year-old MacArthur on the ground that he was long past retirement age and was paying more attention to politics than to Korea. Other advisers have turned pale at the thought of any open break with MacArthur, argue that it would give the general an excuse to come back and attack the administration.

However, all groups agree that the poltical and military tug-of-war between Tokyo and the White House probably has been the most spectacular and difficult ever to exist between any president and a commander in the field.

Labor Smiles Again

Inside reason why the recent conference between labor leaders and their old friend Harry Truman went off so well was a private tip passed out to labor in advance that defense mobilizer Charlie Wilson's wings would be clipped.

The clipping would begin, labor chiefs learned via the grapevine, with the creation of the new 17-man mobilzation advisory board, a superstructure that will pass on such hot policy questions as labor's demand that the wage stabilizaton board handle disputes over working conditions as well as wages.

The labor chiefs were also tipped off, as they headed for the White House, that the "disputes" issue would be decided in their favor. In other words, the wage stabilization board would handle hours and working conditions in addition to wages.

At the meeting the President went even further, promising that future control over all mobilization policies would be vested in the new 17-man board, rather than in Wilson.

To make sure that Wilson's wings are clipped, the President reported that he would personally "sit in" with the new board, composed of four public, four farm, four labor and four management representatives "at least once a month."

His labor callers took this to mean that Truman would act as chairman, instead of Wilson, in such cases, but the President didn't clarify what his status would be at the meetings he attended.

Truman Listens

At no time during his chat with labor did the President criticize Wilson or indicate that the dynamic, former head of General Electric was on his way out as boss mobilizer. He did not concur when CIO President Phil Murray bluntly declared:

"Wilson is unpalatable to every man here except yourself. He is the reason labor has not been able to serve in its proper place in the mobilization program. Labor wants to serve and would serve if Wilson and big business hadn't barred us."

AFL President Bill Green agreed.

"Labor has tried to work with Wilson," Green said. "We are aware of the seriousness of the problems facing the country and have patriotically endeavored to get along with him, but his overbearing conduct makes it impossible."

Truman said he understood labor's position, but added that differences with management spokesmen were not insurmountable and could be worked out "if you will be patient" until the new advisory board gets rolling.

"We want you back in—I need your advice and help as much as I need that of business," the President insisted.

"I get all the government advice I need," he added with a broad grin.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

April 10, 1931—The Blue Sox Baseball Club organized with Charles Porch as president.

Charles Smith, 9, of Murphy street suffered fractures of the hips in a mishap at the O. & W. railroad turntable near his home.

The annual banquet of the Mercantile Bowling League was held at the Y.M.C.A.

Mrs. Mary Curtis Hazzard, wife of the Rev. Herbert Hazzard, died in the Methodist Hospital, Brooklyn.

April 10, 1941—Mrs. Thomas W. Reynolds was elected president of the Women's Club of the Y.M.C.A.

Mrs. Emma Pettit Cooper died at her O'Neil street home.

Maj. Carl Preston announced vacancies in Companies A and B of the 56th Regiment, New York State Guard.

The area overnight temperature was 37 and the noon high 60 degrees.

Kisses Way to Jail

Hamburg, Germany, (AP) — A police official was sentenced to four weeks imprisonment here because "kissing does not belong to the sphere of duty of a policeman." The official had interviewed a housemaid on the suspicious actions of one of the boarders. When the interview was finished he threw her on the couch and kissed her. "I had closed my notebook and so my duty was finished," the young policeman told the judge. The maid did not notify the prosecutor, her finance did.

Thefts Mount

Singapore, (AP) — Warehouses along Singapore harbour have become happy hunting grounds for thieves. Goods worth more than $6,600 have been stolen within the last two months. Thefts from warehouses, have doubled since last Dec. 31. Then the Singapore harbour auxiliary police were disbanded. Only 40 harbour police lieutenants are now patrolling the areas handled by 120 officers last year.

STUDY CAUSES OF CANCER

Researchers at a world-wide cancer conference in Paris theorized that cancer results from many rather than a single cause. Such factors as degenerative changes in tissues are believed to combine with outside agents of this modern industrial era to cause cancer. Research into cancer's causes is supported by funds from the American Cancer Society. Give to the 1951 Cancer Crusade.

New Set of Rules Would Placate British Labor Government's Left Wing Members

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 10—There's an ironical answer—although perhaps one not too palatable for Americans—with which to try to placate the "left wing" members of the Labor Government in Great Britain who seem to think General MacArthur should either be muzzled or removed from his command. It would be to formulate a new set of rules somewhat as follows:

1. No officer or enlisted man of the armed forces of the United States shall hereafter answer any letter from any member of Congress, Democrat or Republican, who addresses any inquiry to him.

2. If any military man happens to write a personal letter or a letter commenting on matters of public interest to some member of Congress who makes such a letter public, believing it in the public interest to do so, the immediate expulsion of any such member of Congress shall be ordered and a certified copy of the removal action shall be sent to the British House of Commons or to any other complaining governments in the U.N.

It might, of course, encourage the British Socialists who have introduced a motion in the House of Commons calling for an expression of "no confidence" in General MacArthur to feel that the adoption of such a motion is tantamount to an order to President Truman to discipline General MacArthur and that it will establish a precedent for regulating the behavior of other American officials in the future.

Seriously, however, the episode is likely to split the British Parliament as it is bound to split the American Congress if it is pressed. The Labor Government in Britain really cannot afford to make an issue of it with the American Government without at the same time creating in the United States the very kind of dissension that the British are represented as anxious to avoid with respect to European as well as Far Eastern problems.

For, if the British "left wing" move proceeds further, it is bound to have repercussions on this side in Congress. Already the U. S. Navy is seriously considering withdrawal from the over-all command principle with respect to the inter-allied command in the Atlantic. American naval officers say they do not want to see any of their number subjected to the same kind of criticism that has already been directed toward General MacArthur.

The truth of the matter is that General MacArthur is just being made the scapegoat for the differences of opinion which have existed between Washington and London for several months as to what should be done in Korea. General MacArthur has publicly appealed to the United Nations for military help. He has appealed for reinforcements again and again, to no avail. He has pointed out the dangers of stalemate. He has urged that he be given the right to bombard the bases from which the Chinese Communists are coming to attack his troops. He has made his recommendations through official channels and has got nowhere. It is apparent that General MacArthur is pleading on behalf of the 250,000 Americans who are stagnated in Korea and destined to fight indefinitely there without further help from the European allies.

Maybe the British criticism will unwittingly have a beneficial effect. It may compel a showdown inside the U.N. on Korea. For it looks as if a decided effort is being made to force the U.N. out of Korea through a program of abject withdrawal. Again and again these elements have called for peace negotiations, and every time the Chinese Communists have answered with arrogance and definance, because they undoubtedly regard these constant overtures as a sign of U.N. weakness. But irrespective of the sacrifices that have been made, the "left wingers" in London, though professing to believe in freedom of speech, now evidently object even to the statement of the case to the people of the world as General MacArthur has tried to do. They do not want any further discussion by the man on the ground—even though he be the U.N. commander in chief—unless it fits their point of view.

President Truman has been urged here, too, by some of the anti-MacArthur group to discipline or reprimand the general. Some of the pressure is coming from the peace-at-any-price elements here. All that can be said is that if MacArthur is disciplined, it will touch off a political controversy that will not end with the fate of the general himself but will affect American policies toward Europe in general and Britain in particular for a long time to come.

The American government has kept silent too long as to its own viewpoint with respect to Korea. A declaration of aims and purposes in Korea might at least clear the air and let the world know that the sacrifices undertaken since last June in the name of a war against aggression have not been in vain.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

San Francisco, April 9—Finding myself near Stanford University, I bethought me of the Hoover tower on the campus, a tall, square, spire full of documents bearing on peace and efforts to preserve and disturb the same.

An inscription in the foyer says "the purpose of this institution is to preserve the peace." The very atmosphere seems to murmur "peace."

In this tower, so far from the Waldorf Tower in New York, I found a collection of New York letterhead fronts whose literature seemed to me to be bellicose. I refer to the Waldorf Tower because Herbert Hoover and Arthur J. Goldsmith live and carry on correspondence there. Mr. Hoover, though a neighbor, has no truck with Mr. Goldsmith's propaganda fronts, which camouflage the true nature of their common address under the insignificant line "100 East 50th Street." For years Goldsmith has gotten by as a dragon in a secret lair and people have tiptoed past, afraid to mention his name. However, when I tried to poke him up and make him snort, he shrank back into his three-room suite and sulked.

I am taking the long way around to analyze the half-dozen fronts which do business out of Mr. Goldsmith's, and will drop that shoe in due time. Meanwhile, I can say that one of them did send money to Senator Tobey's campaign in New Hampshire notwithstanding that New Deal Republican's pietistical denials when Dough-Head O'Dwyer was on the television. I can tell you, too, that Alben Barkley used to call at the lair, and David K. Niles, as well. (Excuse, if you can, my feeling, not akin to respect, on learning that two gentlemen, prominent in the "let's you and him fight a war" movement, each had a bellicose son of eligible years, neither of whom heard a gun fired in anger when the chance came to make their daddies proud. One of these papas sent wheedlements to Mr. Niles, at the White House, to keep his pride and joy out of harm's way.)

The Hoover Library, among other works, accumulates propaganda published for peace and war, examines it and files in cabinets just to keep the record straight. So, today, when I asked the gentle lady in charge for something on Mr. Goldsmith's fronts, she was able to whip out a remarkable breakdown.

This analysis listed 100 more or less harmless, habitual joiners of fronts of a type which Herbert Swope, himself an inveterate joiner, recently described as synthetic. These rosters are like the lists of "those at the speaker's table" in the banquet season back in the happy days. That was good, clean fun. But then these platitudes incarnate got infected with acute, compound, galloping ismatism, and a lot of bail-bond lawyers and lipstick magnates got into a scramble to see who could hang most medals on the first lady

Questions — Answers

Q—Why is the period omitted after the middle initial "S" in President Harry S Truman's name?

A—It is correct to omit the period, for the "S" in the President's name does not stand for a name. He was given the initial "S" for the given names of his grandfathers, so it is merely a sort of family memento.

Q—How many pitchers were used in baseball's longest game?

A—Two. On May 1, 1920, Cadore and Oeschger pitched the entire 26 innings, major leagues' longest game—Brooklyn 1, Boston 1.

Q—What is the ancient custom regarding the King's messenger at the opening of the British Parliament?

A—To show the independence of the House of Commons, it is an ancient British tradition to have the door of the House slammed in the face of the King's messenger at the opening of Parliament.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Winter Concert Series Ends 14th

Woodstock, April 10—For the final Woodstock winter concert on Sunday, at the town hall, a program combining both traditional and the modern in chamber music has been planned. For the first composition to be played by the trio, Alice Smiley, violinist, Inez Carroll, pianist, and Dr. Hans J. Cohn, cellist, they have chosen the Beethoven Trio No. 4, Allegro con brio, Adagio Theme and variations. In the final movement, the theme was derived from an old German folk tune, "Wir Sind Die Saenger Von Finsterwalde." Dr. Cohn said that the variations are based upon a gay little song about a singer from the village of Finsterwalde.

In striking contrast, the quartet, with Genevieve Nichols, violist, will play the brilliant Piano Quartet in A Major by the French composer, Chausson. The exciting work contains four movements, Anime, Tres calme, Simple et sans hate and Anime.

Miss Nichols, who with next week's concert will have completed her first season with the Woodstock group, has announced her plans for the coming summer, which will include a stimulating combination of music and travel. On a two months' tour in Europe, Miss Nichols will go to Denmark, Sweden and Norway in July. In August she will spend ten days in Paris to be followed by trips to Heidelberg, Bayreuth in North Bavaria, and Munich. She will visit with a family in Salzburg. In early Steptember she will return home by way of London.

Tickets for Sunday's concert, which begins at 3:30 p. m. may be obtained at the box office.

Bentley Exhibit To Open April 14

Woodstock, April 10—As one of the young group of 35 art students who came to Woodstock in 1909 to study with Birge Harrison, John W. Bentley, whose one-man show of watercolors will open Saturday, April 14, at the Village Kitchen, has been since that time closely identified with the colony.

Jack, as he is known to most Woodstockers, is the eldest son of Samuel and Sophia Bentley, who came to this country from England many years ago. His father viewed with concern Jack's ability to draw in that the boy concentrated upon his drawing in school to the detriment of his other studies. A prosperous silk manufacturer, the senior Bentley was unable to arouse his son's interest in the family business.

Thereby Jack's painting career started as a student at the Art Students League in New York working with the late Frank V. Dumond and the League's famous life teacher, George Bridgman.

In the early Woodstock days, Bentley occupied as did many of his fellow artists, local barn lofts converted to student quarters and studios while painting landscapes of the countryside. For the past 14 years Bentley lived in the former Larry Elwyn, later known as the "Bandbox" on the corner of Tannery Brook and Tinker street. For 40 years he has painted amidst the mountains and was one of those instrumental in building the art colony to its present proportions.

Bentley has been a member of the Salmagundi Club and his work has been shown in metropolitan exhibitions. For two years he worked on federal art projects.

Not all of his painting has been done in Woodstock, however, for he has made many trips to interesting corners of the world, including jaunts to Mexico, Key West, the west coast, Canada, Honolulu, Samoa, the Fiji Islands and other parts of the South Seas.

Since last October Bentley has been living in Kingston.

Varied McCarthy Show Appeals to Public

Woodstock, April 10—One of the warmest receptions given to a Woodstock artist took place Saturday afternoon at the S. S. Sea Horse, in honor of Clarence J. McCarthy's one-man show which will remain at the gallery until the first of May.

Showing a varied and extremely appealing series of land and seascapes, all of McCarthy's canvases have the quality of subtle and softly blended color heightened by judiciously placed accents. The tapestry of pleasing color is particularly notable in a late-fall landscape in which his flashing brush has picked up warm and telling flects in brilliant hues.

In contrast a striking winter scene delineated in sharp cold, yet vibrant greens and white, has the simplicity only achieved by a painter whose knowledge of form and composition is flawless.

Obviously attracted by the charms of coves and inlets, McCarthy has studied and reproduced them under varying weather conditions, placid, windswept, or lying in the path of an approaching storm.

McCarthy, who has been included in Who's Who in Art for the past 30 years, has been for the past year and a half an instructor of fine and advertising arts at the Saxton Fells School in Kingston.

Since the opening of the show, three of the paintings on view have been sold, one to A. A. Champanier, director of the Saxton Fells School.

Seascape Is Part of Exhibit

Chow Mein Dinner

Woodstock, April 10—The Rev. Harvey I. Todd has requested that everyone be reminded that a chicken chow mein dinner will be served on Thursday, April 12, in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church. The first serving will be at 5:30 p. m. and the second at 6:30 p. m.

37 Girls at Party

Woodstock, April 10 — Mrs. Charles Rapp, chairman of the Girl Scout committee, announced that 37 Girl Scouts and Brownies and seven leaders attended the 39th birthday party of the Scouts in Kingston on Saturday. Mention was made by Mrs. Rapp that six completely outfitted school bags had been sent abroad by the Girl Scouts in their international friendship program.

Village Notes

Woodstock, April 10—Mr. and Mrs. Anthony DeLisio returned last Saturday to their home on the West Hurley road after spending the winter in Florida.

Mrs. Henry Barrow is leaving Wednesday for Illinois by plane. She will return by car with her mother, Mrs. J. F. Luhrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Black were in Woodstock last Sunday.

Mrs. Fredrica Milne has returned to her home from Kingston Hospital.

Miss Gerta Steuer was a weekend visitor.

Mr. and Mrs. John McClellan have returned from their trip to Florida and Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. Mattieson, who have a summer home on Ohayo Mountain, spent last week-end at the Twin Gables.

Brush Fire Extinguished

Using shovels and brooms, Vincent Berardi, driver, and other East Kingston volunteer firemen extinguished a brush fire between John street and Barnhouse Hill in that place shortly before noon on Monday. Water carried on the fire engine was held in reserve in case buildings were threatened. In another call, Fire Chief James Costello pressed into service a passing speedboat to conduct an investigation. Informed that there was a small fire in a brickyard along the river, Chief Costello flagged a passing speed boat and requested its operator to investigate. The fire was found to be a controlled fire in a kiln.

Violence Breaks Out

Israeli-Syrian Frontier, April 10 (AP)—New violence broke out along the Syrian-Israeli border today as Israel police were reported fired on while partolling the demilitarized Galilean area near the Jewish settlement of Engeb. The Israelis returned the fire and the skirmish was reported still going on at 1 p. m. (6 a. m. EST). The reported shooting was announced also by an Israeli government spokesman in Tel Aviv who blamed Arabs for the skirmish. No casualties were reported from the Israelis.

Jebb Gives Warning

San Francisco, April 10 (AP)—Britain's chief delegate to the United Nations, Sid Gladwyn Jebb, warns that differences must not be allowed to cause a rift between his country and the United States. "The so-called differences," he said last night, "have been grossly exaggerated. "The fact is that both my country and yours are engaged, and I think on the whole successfully engaged, in a struggle to make it clear that aggression does not pay." The two nations have not always seen eye to eye, Sir Gladwyn told the American Association for the United Nations, but those are differences regarding tactics. " They are united as to strategy."

Powder Dump Explodes

Manila, April 10 (AP)—A Philippines army ammunition dump exploded today at Camp Florida Blanca, 40 miles north of here, killing one civilian and injuring two others.

Macy Says . . .

it was not accurate. Mr. Hanley has publicly stated that the letter was not a correct statement of the facts."

The one convention meeting, Hagerty said, was the only time that Dewey and Macy discussed the Hanley letter.

In the Sept. 5 letter to Macy, Hanley wrote that he had been assured he would be "able to clean up my financial obligations within 90 days" if he consented to run for the U. S. Senate. The letter said Hanley had conferred with Dewey.

It also mentioned a state job in the offing if he lost the Senate race.

At that time Hanley owed money to Macy the veteran Suffolk county Republican leader, and others.

Macy's statement last night was made in connection with papers served in his pending $250,000 libel suit against the New York World-Telegram and Sun. The suit involves a story in the newspaper concerning Macy's handling of the Hanley letter.

Macy said he and the newspaper agreed on one point in the suit—that Dewey asked him to destroy the Hanley letter.

Hanley had emerged as the outstanding GOP choice for governor at a time when Dewey was saying he would not run again. Dewey changed his mind, and went on to win reelection.

Hanley, his running mate for Senate, was defeated.

Macy—assailed on the "Hanley Letter" and other issues—was beaten for reelection to Congress in a Long Island district that traditionally is heavily Republican. Macy, an intra-party foe of Dewey, is fighting to hold his county leadership under constant attack.

Hanley made his letter to Macy public at a time when the Democrats had a copy. Both Hanley and Dewey denied there was a "payoff" or anything else illegal or unethical indicated in the letter.

After his term as lieutenant governor expired, Hanley got a state job through Dewey. In addition to practicing law in Albany, he is serving as a special counsel to the State Division of Veterans Affairs. He has a salary of $16,000 a year, plus $6,000 in expenses, and a state pension of approximately $4,000. His son, James, recently was appointed to a $7,000-a-year job in the State Commerce Department.

Winter Concert Series Ends 14th

Woodstock, April 10—For the final Woodstock winter concert on Sunday, at the town hall, a program combining both traditional and the modern in chamber music has been planned. For the first composition to be played by the trio, Alice Smiley, violinist, Inez Carroll, pianist, and Dr. Hans J. Cohn, cellist, they have chosen the Beethoven Trio No. 4, Allegro con brio, Adagio Theme and variations. In the final movement, the theme was derived from an old German folk tune, "Wir Sind Die Saenger Von Finsterwalde." Dr. Cohn said that the variations are based upon a gay little song about a singer from the village of Finsterwalde.

In striking contrast, the quartet, with Genevieve Nichols, violist, will play the brilliant Piano Quartet in A Major by the French composer, Chausson. The exciting work contains four movements, Anime, Tres calme, Simple et sans hate and Anime.

Miss Nichols, who with next week's concert will have completed her first season with the Woodstock group, has announced her plans for the coming summer, which will include a stimulating combination of music and travel. On a two months' tour in Europe, Miss Nichols will go to Denmark, Sweden and Norway in July. In August she will spend ten days in Paris to be followed by trips to Heidelberg, Bayreuth in North Bavaria, and Munich. She will visit with a family in Salzburg. In early Steptember she will return home by way of London.

Tickets for Sunday's concert, which begins at 3:30 p. m. may be obtained at the box office.

Bentley Exhibit To Open April 14

Woodstock, April 10—As one of the young group of 35 art students who came to Woodstock in 1909 to study with Birge Harrison, John W. Bentley, whose one-man show of watercolors will open Saturday, April 14, at the Village Kitchen, has been since that time closely identified with the colony.

Jack, as he is known to most Woodstockers, is the eldest son of Samuel and Sophia Bentley, who came to this country from England many years ago. His father viewed with concern Jack's ability to draw in that the boy concentrated upon his drawing in school to the detriment of his other studies. A prosperous silk manufacturer, the senior Bentley was unable to arouse his son's interest in the family business.

Thereby Jack's painting career started as a student at the Art Students League in New York working with the late Frank V. Dumond and the League's famous life teacher, George Bridgman.

In the early Woodstock days, Bentley occupied as did many of his fellow artists, local barn lofts converted to student quarters and studios while painting landscapes of the countryside. For the past 14 years Bentley lived in the former Larry Elwyn, later known as the "Bandbox" on the corner of Tannery Brook and Tinker street. For 40 years he has painted amidst the mountains and was one of those instrumental in building the art colony to its present proportions.

Bentley has been a member of the Salmagundi Club and his work has been shown in metropolitan exhibitions. For two years he worked on federal art projects.

Not all of his painting has been done in Woodstock, however, for he has made many trips to interesting corners of the world, including jaunts to Mexico, Key West, the west coast, Canada, Honolulu, Samoa, the Fiji Islands and other parts of the South Seas.

Since last October Bentley has been living in Kingston.

Varied McCarthy Show Appeals to Public

Woodstock, April 10—One of the warmest receptions given to a Woodstock artist took place Saturday afternoon at the S. S. Sea Horse, in honor of Clarence J. McCarthy's one-man show which will remain at the gallery until the first of May.

Showing a varied and extremely appealing series of land and seascapes, all of McCarthy's canvases have the quality of subtle and softly blended color heightened by judiciously placed accents. The tapestry of pleasing color is particularly notable in a late-fall landscape in which his flashing brush has picked up warm and telling flects in brilliant hues.

In contrast a striking winter scene delineated in sharp cold, yet vibrant greens and white, has the simplicity only achieved by a painter whose knowledge of form and composition is flawless.

Obviously attracted by the charms of coves and inlets, McCarthy has studied and reproduced them under varying weather conditions, placid, windswept, or lying in the path of an approaching storm.

McCarthy, who has been included in Who's Who in Art for the past 30 years, has been for the past year and a half an instructor of fine and advertising arts at the Saxton Fells School in Kingston.

Since the opening of the show, three of the paintings on view have been sold, one to A. A. Champanier, director of the Saxton Fells School.

Chow Mein Dinner

Woodstock, April 10—The Rev. Harvey I. Todd has requested that everyone be reminded that a chicken chow mein dinner will be served on Thursday, April 12, in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church. The first serving will be at 5:30 p. m. and the second at 6:30 p. m.

37 Girls at Party

Woodstock, April 10 — Mrs. Charles Rapp, chairman of the Girl Scout committee, announced that 37 Girl Scouts and Brownies and seven leaders attended the 39th birthday party of the Scouts in Kingston on Saturday. Mention was made by Mrs. Rapp that six completely outfitted school bags had been sent abroad by the Girl Scouts in their international friendship program.

Village Notes

Woodstock, April 10—Mr. and Mrs. Anthony DeLisio returned last Saturday to their home on the West Hurley road after spending the winter in Florida.

Mrs. Henry Barrow is leaving Wednesday for Illinois by plane. She will return by car with her mother, Mrs. J. F. Luhrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Black were in Woodstock last Sunday.

Mrs. Fredrica Milne has returned to her home from Kingston Hospital.

Miss Gerta Steuer was a weekend visitor.

Mr. and Mrs. John McClellan have returned from their trip to Florida and Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. Mattieson, who have a summer home on Ohayo Mountain, spent last week-end at the Twin Gables.

Brush Fire Extinguished

Using shovels and brooms, Vincent Berardi, driver, and other East Kingston volunteer firemen extinguished a brush fire between John street and Barnhouse Hill in that place shortly before noon on Monday. Water carried on the fire engine was held in reserve in case buildings were threatened. In another call, Fire Chief James Costello pressed into service a passing speedboat to conduct an investigation. Informed that there was a small fire in a brickyard along the river, Chief Costello flagged a passing speed boat and requested its operator to investigate. The fire was found to be a controlled fire in a kiln.

Violence Breaks Out

Israeli-Syrian Frontier, April 10 (AP)—New violence broke out along the Syrian-Israeli border today as Israel police were reported fired on while partolling the demilitarized Galilean area near the Jewish settlement of Engeb. The Israelis returned the fire and the skirmish was reported still going on at 1 p. m. (6 a. m. EST). The reported shooting was announced also by an Israeli government spokesman in Tel Aviv who blamed Arabs for the skirmish. No casualties were reported from the Israelis.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

New Paltz, April 10—At the annual meeting of the Villiage Board Monday night appointments for the coming year were made. Irving Millham was appointed superintendent of public works with Albert Sutherland as assistant. David Corwin was reappointed village attorney. With the plan to add one man to the police force, Leonard Newkirk, police officer, was temporarily appointed until a further study of the needs and requirements can be ascertained. The following committees were named by Mayor Reid: Henry DuBois and Roland Will, water; Roland Will and Henry DuBois, sewer; George Ackert and Gregory Rheude, light; Gregory Rheude and George Ackert, street. The first named were chairmen. On recommendation of E. I. McCaffery, consulting engineer, the firm of C. W. Lauman and Company was awarded the contract for the drilling of the wells for the new water supply. Abram Paradies was awarded a contract for the placement of a storm sewer on Mohonk avenue. Bids on a new two-ton and a new half-ton truck for the street, will be reviewed by a committee, and recommendations made at a later date. Mayor Reid submitted his recommendation for the tentative budget for the coming year. The League of Women Voters was given permission to use the trustees' room for a meeting on the evening of May 12. Daylight Savings Time was set to start April 29 and end September 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ingraham called on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Van Kleeck in Tillson last Tuesday.

David Pritchet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pritchet, suffered a broken leg when he was struck by a bicycle April 5. He will be in the Kingston Hospital for six weeks.

Miss Henriette L. Wicks is joining Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Link's study tour in Europe this summer.

Miss Laura Hopkins, Mrs. Walter Hasbrouck of New Paltz are township chairmen of the 1951 cancer drive for Ulster county. They are assisting co-chairman Walter R. Seaman of New Paltz.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Springtown has completed the sale of the Springtown Chapel. The proceeds realized from the sale have been disposed of as follows: All money received from the sale of the chapel over and above expenses was donated to the Kingston Hospital Building Fund and will be used to help furnish a hospital room. A plaque will be placed in the hall commemorating the gift. With the sale of the chapel there seemed to be no further need of continuing the Aid especially since most of the members have been affiliated with various church organizations in the village since the closing of the chapel some years ago. The remaining money in the Aid treasury was given to the New Paltz Health Committee to purchase a wheelchair. It was with deep regret that the decision to discontinue the Aid was finally reached. Although a small society, it has for many years been active, doing good in many small ways.

Mrs. Earl Stokes and Mrs. Cornelia Stokes were in Kingston Saturday.

Joseph LoCasico of New Paltz attended the christening of Linda Joy Terpening daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Terpening on Easter Sunday at their home in Clintondae. The Rev. William Imler of the Methodist Church officiated. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parath of Newburgh, Mr. and Mrs. William Warren and daughter Mrs. Ella Gruner, Mrs. Elizabeth Terpening, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Simpson and son Lester Jr., all of Highland and the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Terpening and sons, Richard and Donald.

On Thursday afternoon, April 12, in the social rooms of the Reformed Church the Dutch Guild members will see the colored slides which Dr. William Jahoda of the college faculty has prepared of "Nature Throughout the Year." The slides include pictures of trees, flowers, animals and birds as Dr. Jahoda has observed them in the vicinity of New Paltz through the changing seasons.

Ulster Educators, teachers of the second supervisory district of Ulster county, will attend a spring conference, Monday, April 16, at Wallkill Central school. Ralph H. Johnson, district superintendent of New Paltz, will talk on subjects important to all teachers. Opening exercises will be 9 a. m. with invocation by the Rev. Richard Hines; welcome, Everett Terwilliger, president of the Wallkill Board of Education, and Robert Robinson, principal of the Wallkill school. The business will include reports of the secretary, treasurer and various committees, service pins will be presented by Mary L. Norton and Ray D. Baty. Alfred T. Houghton, supervisor in the Bureau of Adult Education in the State Education Department, will be the morning speaker. The afternoon program will include: U.C.A.L. league meeting; musical program, under direction of Elizabeth Sherman and William Topping; panel discussion: "What the Community Expects of Its Teachers," Mrs. John Jacobson, New Paltz chairman of the League of Women Voters; Mrs. William Plank, Marlborough church groups; John J. Batten, Highland, patriotic organizations; Daniel Van Alst, Wallkill, trades; Frederick Terwilliger, Wallkill, business — Chamber of Commerce; Gerow Schoonmaker, Wallkill farm, and Mrs. C. Imbrie Richards, Highland, recreation and health, will make up the panel.

The regular meeting of Highland Chapter, O. E. S., will be held Tuesday night at the Masonic Hall, Highland. The following members from New Paltz will be on the refreshment committee: Mrs. Cecile Peterson, Mrs. Elsie Parker, Mrs. Stella Harp, Mrs. Juanita Osborne, Mrs. Margaret Newkirk, Mrs. Francis Minard, Mrs. Mary Bell, Mrs. Florence Ean, Mrs. Francis Corwin and Mrs. Ruth Hummel. District Deputy Grand Matron Mrs. Augusta C. Schirner, and Ferris A. Parks, district grand lecturer, of Greene-Ulster District will make their official visit.

Mrs. George Burleigh, of Portland, Me., has been visiting the Chester Elliott family, Mrs. Burleigh, who was a resident of Plutarch for several years, now resides with her son, Nathaniel and wife. Her daughter, Mrs. Bertha Sawyer lives in the same city.

Mrs. Claude Gaffney of Binghamton has returned home after visiting her mother, Mrs. Theresa Stokes on Manheim Boulevard.

Miss Grace Elliott attended the Cornell Women's Club tea at the home of Mrs. Nathan Reifler in Poughkeepsie Saturday.

Mrs. DuBois Grimm and daughter, Gail have been enjoying a vacation at Atlantic City.

Miss Lois Betz spent a few days last week in New York and Plainfield, N. J.

The Kerk League of the New Paltz Reformed Church is sponsoring a series of three monthly food sales to raise money for the renovation fund. The sales will be held at Lane-Sargen't store all from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. The first sale will be on Friday, April 13 with Mrs. Joseph Krajicek, Jr., chairman; Saturday, May 12, Mrs. Merrill Archard, chairman; and Friday, June 8, Mrs. Charles Benton, chairman.

Dr. Louis Salkever, assistant professor of Social Science at the local college, has been called upon by the Federal Government to act as a consultant to the Wage Stabilization Board. Dr. Salkever left Wednesday for Washington for the first of a series of consultations. The New Paltz professor is to work on the treatment of wage disputes, helping to formulate a policy which would tend to minimize or eliminate inflationary effects of wage pressures on price levels. Dr. Salkever spent six years in government service prior to and during the last war. He has been affiliated with the Treasury and Labor Departments and the War Production Board. In 1942 and early 1943 he was charged development of stable wage structure for the expanding airplane industry and in 1943-44 served as chief of the Commissions and Panels Division of the National War Labor Board. Dr. Salkever joined the faculty of the local college in September 1950. He earned the B.A. degree at the University of Pennsylvania, the M.A. from American University, and the Ph.D. from Cornell University in labor market economics.

Mrs. Joseph McAnlis of the Guilford section, is a patient at the Benedictine Hospital in Kingston.

Edward E. Murray, county commissioner of Public Welfare, will be the speaker at the annual meeting of the League of Women Voters of New Paltz, Thursday night, April 12, at the Reformed Church. The meeting will begin with a buffet supper at 7 p. m. to which League members have invited their husbands and other guests, including Town Supervisor Frank Elliott, Commissioner Murray and Mrs. Murray and the mayor and their wives. At a short business meeting following the supper, the League will choose a local project for 1951-52, adopt a budget and elect officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bruckmeyer have returned home after having spent the winter months in Florida.

The Dutch Guild of the Reformed Church will meet in the church social rooms Thursday.

Miss Henrietta Wicks spent last weekend in Mt. Vernon.

Word has been received of the death of John J. Markey, husband of Hazel Ean Markey. The funeral took place Saturday with burial at Boone, Ia. Besides his wife, Mr. Markey is survived by a daughter and a son. Mrs. Markey is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Ean of New Paltz. The Markey's have made their home in Boone for some time.

Dr. Frank E. Sorenson, member of the faculty of the University of Nebraska, and director of summer sessions, chairman of the department of educational services and lecturer in geography, gave a talk on how the teaching of geography relates to international understanding before the class of American History students at the local college Thursday.

A banquet in honor of the championship varsity basketball team of 1950-51 was given recently by Mrs. Elting Clearwater at her home. Those present were Principal Frank Bugar of the high school, Mr. Udvari, Donald George McCabe, Locascio, Bill Rhinehardt, John McKelvey, John Tizio, Joe DeMaria, Robert Sutton, Bob Pole, John Feisz, Ralph Clearwater, and manager Ralph Milone. Absent because of sickness was the coach of the UCAL champs Lawrence Johnson and one of the referees, Vincent Leo. Unable to attend because of a previously scheduled game was Mr. Magill, one of the best known officials in the Hudson Valley. The boys enjoyed a turkey dinner served by Mrs. Clearwater and Dottie Rasmussen.

Miss Mary Gerow entertained Mrs. Grace Cohn of Newburgh Wednesday, Mrs. Cohn is a former resident of New Paltz.

Mrs. Edna Carson of Albany spent the week-end at the Chester Elliott home.

Mr. and Mrs. Casper Davis of Highand are the parents of a daughter, Katherine. Mrs. Davis is the former Ada Burleigh of Plutarch.

Harry J. Linton, superintendent of schools at Schenectady, will speak on "Trends in Modern Education" at the Campus School Parents' meeting April 26. He is taking the place of the speaker previously announced, Dr. L. Thomas Hopkins of Columbia University, who is unable to come because of injuries received in an automobile accident. Mr. Linton will talk for a short time and will then open the meeting for a question period at which time he will be assisted by members of the faculty of the college and Campus School. All parents and friends of the school are urged to attend this meeting at 8 p. m. on April 26 in the Campus School gymnasium.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jayne and daughter, Jacqueline, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jayne at Gardiner.

Mrs. Thomas Elliott and children, Alinda and Tommy, were visitors in Newburgh Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bardsley of Walden are the parents of a daughter, Diane Marie, born at the Kingston Hospital Saturday, March 31. Mrs. Bardsley is the former Miss Wanda Krom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Krom of New Paltz.

The Kerk League of the Reformed Church will meet Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Joseph Krajicek, 56 Elting avenue. Mrs. Keith Smiley of Mohonk will talk on gardening.

As Pegler Sees It

of the universe in the names of their private "foundations."

People lost their sense of humor and proportion and when that happens you get kapok dragons.

The breakdown named eleven fronts, all in New York. Three had the common address of 8 West 40th street. There were two each at 32 East 51st street and 1270 Sixth avenue.

Abou Ben Goldsmith had joined nine out of these eleven. Frank Kingdon, who got a salute from the Committee on Un-American Activities, also joined nine but ran second in the alphabetical order. The analysis said most of these things originally waged propaganda for war. Some opposed the shipment of food to women and children in Belgium, Holland and Poland. Recently, some of them abused persons who had opposed the war before Pearl Harbor.

Dainty Johnny Farrar, the literary lily with the golden soul, had joined eight. The Russell Davenports, Mr. and Mrs., not necessarily in the order named, scored seven each. Mr. Swope, a dashing afterdinner commando at an exposed table, had joined six. Clark Eichelberger, a strange case, turned up in five. He is listed in Who's Who as an executive of organizations, which seems to mean that joining is his life work. Mrs. Daisy Harriman was in five and Louis Bromfield, a guy who can't say "no," joined four. George Fielding Eliot, the Australian windjammer, turned up in three, but his score will go up when I get to the secret bunds in the Waldorf.

Excuse me, now. I have to write to Senator Pat McCarran, of Nevada, about letterhead fronts which hose eastern money into cow and cactus states to knock off senior senators and deliver control of important committees to unseen dragons back east.

Measure Is Vetoed By Governor

Albany, N. Y., April 10 (AP) — Governor Dewey has killed a proposal to create an 11-member temporary state commission to advertise the merits of a free enterprise system in a democracy.

Dewey said yesterday that he believed "deeply in the proposition which this commission would set out to prove."

"Nevertheless," he added, "the dangers latent in the use of government funds to propagandize a political belief among the people of the state impells" disapproval of the legislation.

The bill would have provided $25,000 to spread information about the democratic way of life through the state. A caravan tour of schools and municipalities was planned.

School Bus Bill Signed

Dewey approved a bill requiring school bus drivers to keep their vehicles stopped, with "stop" signals flashing, until pupils who have to cross a street or highway have reached the other side of the thoroughfare.

This already is the practice in most areas of the state.

He signed another bill forbidding any radio or television antennae or other such wires from being attached to any fire escape, or soil or vent pipe extending above a roof.

New Paltz, April 10—At the annual meeting of the Villiage Board Monday night appointments for the coming year were made. Irving Millham was appointed superintendent of public works with Albert Sutherland as assistant. David Corwin was reappointed village attorney. With the plan to add one man to the police force, Leonard Newkirk, police officer, was temporarily appointed until a further study of the needs and requirements can be ascertained. The following committees were named by Mayor Reid: Henry DuBois and Roland Will, water; Roland Will and Henry DuBois, sewer; George Ackert and Gregory Rheude, light; Gregory Rheude and George Ackert, street. The first named were chairmen. On recommendation of E. I. McCaffery, consulting engineer, the firm of C. W. Lauman and Company was awarded the contract for the drilling of the wells for the new water supply. Abram Paradies was awarded a contract for the placement of a storm sewer on Mohonk avenue. Bids on a new two-ton and a new half-ton truck for the street, will be reviewed by a committee, and recommendations made at a later date. Mayor Reid submitted his recommendation for the tentative budget for the coming year. The League of Women Voters was given permission to use the trustees' room for a meeting on the evening of May 12. Daylight Savings Time was set to start April 29 and end September 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ingraham called on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Van Kleeck in Tillson last Tuesday.

David Pritchet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pritchet, suffered a broken leg when he was struck by a bicycle April 5. He will be in the Kingston Hospital for six weeks.

Miss Henriette L. Wicks is joining Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Link's study tour in Europe this summer.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Springtown has completed the sale of the Springtown Chapel. The proceeds realized from the sale have been disposed of as follows: All money received from the sale of the chapel over and above expenses was donated to the Kingston Hospital Building Fund and will be used to help furnish a hospital room. A plaque will be placed in the hall commemorating the gift. With the sale of the chapel there seemed to be no further need of continuing the Aid especially since most of the members have been affiliated with various church organizations in the village since the closing of the chapel some years ago. The remaining money in the Aid treasury was given to the New Paltz Health Committee to purchase a wheelchair. It was with deep regret that the decision to discontinue the Aid was finally reached. Although a small society, it has for many years been active, doing good in many small ways.

Mrs. Earl Stokes and Mrs. Cornelia Stokes were in Kingston Saturday.

On Thursday afternoon, April 12, in the social rooms of the Reformed Church the Dutch Guild members will see the colored slides which Dr. William Jahoda of the college faculty has prepared of "Nature Throughout the Year." The slides include pictures of trees, flowers, animals and birds as Dr. Jahoda has observed them in the vicinity of New Paltz through the changing seasons.

Ulster Educators, teachers of the second supervisory district of Ulster county, will attend a spring conference, Monday, April 16, at Wallkill Central school. Ralph H. Johnson, district superintendent of New Paltz, will talk on subjects important to all teachers. Opening exercises will be 9 a. m. with invocation by the Rev. Richard Hines; welcome, Everett Terwilliger, president of the Wallkill Board of Education, and Robert Robinson, principal of the Wallkill school. The business will include reports of the secretary, treasurer and various committees, service pins will be presented by Mary L. Norton and Ray D. Baty. Alfred T. Houghton, supervisor in the Bureau of Adult Education in the State Education Department, will be the morning speaker. The afternoon program will include: U.C.A.L. league meeting; musical program, under direction of Elizabeth Sherman and William Topping; panel discussion: "What the Community Expects of Its Teachers," Mrs. John Jacobson, New Paltz chairman of the League of Women Voters; Mrs. William Plank, Marlborough church groups; John J. Batten, Highland, patriotic organizations; Daniel Van Alst, Wallkill, trades; Frederick Terwilliger, Wallkill, business — Chamber of Commerce; Gerow Schoonmaker, Wallkill farm, and Mrs. C. Imbrie Richards, Highland, recreation and health, will make up the panel.

The regular meeting of Highland Chapter, O. E. S., will be held Tuesday night at the Masonic Hall, Highland. The following members from New Paltz will be on the refreshment committee: Mrs. Cecile Peterson, Mrs. Elsie Parker, Mrs. Stella Harp, Mrs. Juanita Osborne, Mrs. Margaret Newkirk, Mrs. Francis Minard, Mrs. Mary Bell, Mrs. Florence Ean, Mrs. Francis Corwin and Mrs. Ruth Hummel. Edward E. Murray, county commissioner of Public Welfare, will be the speaker at the annual meeting of the League of Women Voters of New Paltz, Thursday night, April 12, at the Reformed Church. The meeting will begin with a buffet supper at 7 p. m. to which League members have invited their husbands and other guests, including Town Supervisor Frank Elliott, Commissioner Murray and Mrs. Murray and the mayor and their wives. At a short business meeting following the supper, the League will choose a local project for 1951-52, adopt a budget and elect officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bruckmeyer have returned home after having spent the winter months in Florida.

The Dutch Guild of the Reformed Church will meet in the church social rooms Thursday.

Miss Henrietta Wicks spent last weekend in Mt. Vernon.

Word has been received of the death of John J. Markey, husband of Hazel Ean Markey. The funeral took place Saturday with burial at Boone, Ia. Besides his wife, Mr. Markey is survived by a daughter and a son. Mrs. Markey is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Ean of New Paltz. The Markey's have made their home in Boone for some time.

Dr. Frank E. Sorenson, member of the faculty of the University of Nebraska, and director of summer sessions, chairman of the department of educational services and lecturer in geography, gave a talk on how the teaching of geography relates to international understanding before the class of American History students at the local college Thursday.

A banquet in honor of the championship varsity basketball team of 1950-51 was given recently by Mrs. Elting Clearwater at her home. Those present were Principal Frank Bugar of the high school, Mr. Udvari, Donald George McCabe, Locascio, Bill Rhinehardt, John McKelvey, John Tizio, Joe DeMaria, Robert Sutton, Bob Pole, John Feisz, Ralph Clearwater, and manager Ralph Milone. Absent because of sickness was the coach of the UCAL champs Lawrence Johnson and one of the referees, Vincent Leo. Unable to attend because of a previously scheduled game was Mr. Magill, one of the best known officials in the Hudson Valley. The boys enjoyed a turkey dinner served by Mrs. Clearwater and Dottie Rasmussen.

Miss Mary Gerow entertained Mrs. Grace Cohn of Newburgh Wednesday. Mrs. Cohn is a former resident of New Paltz.

Abou Ben Goldsmith had joined nine out of these eleven. Frank Kingdon, who got a salute from the Committee on Un-American Activities, also joined nine but ran second in the alphabetical order. The analysis said most of these things originally waged propaganda for war. Some opposed the shipment of food to women and children in Belgium, Holland and Poland. Recently, some of them abused persons who had opposed the war before Pearl Harbor.

Dainty Johnny Farrar, the literary lily with the golden soul, had joined eight. The Russell Davenports, Mr. and Mrs., not necessarily in the order named, scored seven each. Mr. Swope, a dashing afterdinner commando at an exposed table, had joined six. Clark Eichelberger, a strange case, turned up in five. He is listed in Who's Who as an executive of organizations, which seems to mean that joining is his life work. Columbia Student Held for Assault

New York, April 10 (AP)—A Columbia University graduate student was held in $25,000 bail yesterday after police accused him of attempting to rob and rape a young woman in Riverside Park.

Police identified the student as Robert J. Palmer, 27, of Omaha, Neb.

Patrolman Henry M. Cronin said he arrested Palmer when he saw the student press a pistol against the back of Miss Esther Morton, a New York secretary.

At first, Cronin said, Palmer attempted to flee, but stopped after the patrolman fired one shot.

Magistrate John R. Starkey in felony court later told Cronin that his action "probably prevented a murder."

Cronin said he first saw Miss Morton enter the park leading a fox terrier on a leash. He lost sight of her, he said, until he suddenly spotted the student allegedly accosting her.

Palmer was charged with felonious assault and held for grand jury action after he waived examination.

Health Clinics Set for 2 Areas

Three child health conferences are scheduled for different areas by the Ulster County Health Department, according to Dr. Robert H. Broad, commissioner of health.

The conferences are:

Stone Ridge health center, Wednesday, April 11 at from 9 a. m. to 11 a. m.

Woodstock Health Center, Wednesday, April 18 from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m.

Saugerties Health Center, West Bridge and Main street, Saugerties, Monday, April 16 from 1 to 3 p. m.

These clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

These are well child clinics for the maintenance of health and prevention of disease, not for the care of the sick child.

Dewey Vetoes Bill

Albany, N. Y., April 10 (AP)—A bill aimed at teenage owners of jalopies was vetoed today by Governor Dewey. The measure would have prohibited persons under 18 years of age from obtaining motor vehicle licenses in New York state. A preface to the measure said the "reckless disregard for public safety and the rules of traffic" by youthful drivers had "contributed enormously to the increasing accident rate." The governor signed another bill recently that required such owners to carry liability insurance.

The Old Timer Shows How

Pfc. Joseph Poulin, 37, instructs his son, Pvt. Alton Poulin, 17, of Lewiston, Me., the proper way to pack a barracks bag at Fort Devens, Mass., April 9. The two enlisted together recently and are being processed together. The son is a newcomer to Army life but his bunkmate "Pop" is holder of the Distinguished Service Cross for outstanding valor while a rifle platoon sergeant during World War 2. Because of his prior service the army enlisted the father with grade of private first class. (AP Wirephoto)

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

'Miracle' Turns Out to Be Luck

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Sometimes the play of a hand looks miraculous, almost as though declarer could see through the back of the cards. The answer usually is that there is no other hope, so that declarer must assume that the cards will lie favorably. For example, we might take the hand shown today, played in the Regency Club recently by my friend, Alfred Sheinwold, who seems to specialize on weird plays.

West's opening heart lead was taken by dummy's ace, and a low diamond was returned at once. Sheinwold put up the jack from his own hand, and West won with the ace.

The reason for this apparently useless play was that declarer wanted to find out who had the ace of clubs. East surely had one of the missing aces for his vulnerable overcall. When West showed up with the ace of diamonds, Sheinwold could feel sure that the ace of clubs was in the East hand.

West returned another heart, and South ruffed. He then led a club and finessed dummy's jack. This lost to East's queen, and South ruffed the heart continuation.

Declarer now led another club. West played the nine, and dummy played low. East had to take his ace anyway, much to his disgust.

This play was not, of course, difficult. East was marked with the ace of clubs, so it couldn't do any good to put up dummy's king.

The only hope was that East would have to play his ace on a small club.

East returned a spade, and declarer drew only two rounds of trumps. Then he led a club to dummy's king even though there was a trump out and East was known to be out of clubs.

Once again, the play looked harder than it really was. Sheinwold could not make the hand unless he could clear the clubs and then get back to his hand (with a trump as the only possible entry) to cash the remaining clubs. The hand was impossible unless West had the last trump.

Luck was with him, so he made his contract.

The measure would have prohibited persons under 18 years of age from obtaining motor vehicle licenses in New York state. A preface to the measure said the "reckless disregard for public safety and the rules of traffic" by youthful drivers had "contributed enormously to the increasing accident rate." The governor signed another bill recently that required such owners to carry liability insurance.

The Old Timer Shows How

Pfc. Joseph Poulin, 37, instructs his son, Pvt. Alton Poulin, 17, of Lewiston, Me., the proper way to pack a barracks bag at Fort Devens, Mass., April 9. The two enlisted together recently and are being processed together. The son is a newcomer to Army life but his bunkmate "Pop" is holder of the Distinguished Service Cross for outstanding valor while a rifle platoon sergeant during World War 2. Because of his prior service the army enlisted the father with grade of private first class. (AP Wirephoto)

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

'Miracle' Turns Out to Be Luck

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Sometimes the play of a hand looks miraculous, almost as though declarer could see through the back of the cards. The answer usually is that there is no other hope, so that declarer must assume that the cards will lie favorably. For example, we might take the hand shown today, played in the Regency Club recently by my friend, Alfred Sheinwold, who seems to specialize on weird plays.

West's opening heart lead was taken by dummy's ace, and a low diamond was returned at once. Sheinwold put up the jack from his own hand, and West won with the ace.

The reason for this apparently useless play was that declarer wanted to find out who had the ace of clubs. East surely had one of the missing aces for his vulnerable overcall. When West showed up with the ace of diamonds, Sheinwold could feel sure that the ace of clubs was in the East hand.

West returned another heart, and South ruffed. He then led a club and finessed dummy's jack. This lost to East's queen, and South ruffed the heart continuation.

Declarer now led another club. West played the nine, and dummy played low. East had to take his ace anyway, much to his disgust.

This play was not, of course, difficult. East was marked with the ace of clubs, so it couldn't do any good to put up dummy's king. The only hope was that East would have to play his ace on a small club.

East returned a spade, and declarer drew only two rounds of trumps. Then he led a club to dummy's king even though there was a trump out and East was known to be out of clubs.

Once again, the play looked harder than it really was. Sheinwold could not make the hand unless he could clear the clubs and then get back to his hand (with a trump as the only possible entry) to cash the remaining clubs. The hand was impossible unless West had the last trump.

Luck was with him, so he made his contract.

Civil Service Exam

The United States Civil Service Commission today announced an examination for automobile mechanic to fill positions paying $2,450 to $2,900 a year. The jobs are in various Federal agencies in Washington, D. C., and vicinity. To qualify, applicants must have had from six months to three years of appropriate experience. The amount of experience required depends on the salary level of the position. No written test is required. Further information and application forms may be obtained from the commission's local secretary, William P. Barry, main post office, Kingston, N. Y.

Revere's Ride

Paul Revere rode from Charlestown to Lexington to give warning of the approach of the British troops. Exact length of his ride is not known definitely, but it is estimated at about 10 to 12 miles.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Who remembers when Clarence L. Stoutenburg, was an optician down at 21 Broadway. He carried a complete stock of optical goods which included spectacles and eyeglasses at reasonable prices for people of all ages. He graduated from the Delaware Academy and later from the Julius King Optical College of New York, and at the time the "American Journal of Commerce" book was out he was in this successful establishment for some seven years.

I am sure I remember Henry Terpening, dealer in bicycles and bicycle supplies who had his place down at 20 Abeel street since 1896 and I think later at 44 Broadway, next to where my father had his drug store. It says back in the 1890's the store occupied two floors. The White and Defender bicycles were popular at the time. Mr. Terpening was also sole agent for the White sewing machines. Edison's phonographs and photographic supplies were part of his wares, as well as cigars and tobacco. Mr. Terpening was a native of New Salem, and I remember him in my day as an expert mechanic on various mechanical devices of the era. At the time, Dave Weil occupied half of the front store for yard goods, washable cottons mostly. Those were the days when there was much sewing done at home, and goods by the yard would be bought in most every dry goods store. Today it is not so much in vogue.

There is an excellent picture of the First National Bank of Rondout, which was at the corner of Broadway and Strand. It was established in 1863 with some 700 depositors in the late nineties. I see on the Board of Directors were four Coykendalls, Edward, S. D., Thomas C., and H. S. I take it Samuel D. was the president about whom they write. He was born in Rondout 63 years ago and had always lived in Kingston. He held the office of county treasurer. He was proprietor of the Kingston City Electric Railroad, also president of the Ulster & Delaware Railroad, and president of the Cornell Steamboat Co., and a heavy stockholder in the Rosendale Cement Co. As I remember being told that Sam Coykendall designed Kingston Point Park, made it what it was, a playground on the Hudson known up and down the river. No doubt there is much historical back ground connected with that park that we will never know. It just didn't happen, nothing just happens like that without someone making it happen. It truly was one of the most enjoyable spots on earth and I hope once more it will be used as a boat landing and come into its own.

Photos in these books are all new to me, although I know the buildings and locations. There is one of Hasbrouck avenue, corner Mill street of the Arcade Mills, A. S. Staples, Prop. A building still standing. About which they said, Alvah S. Staples is one of the oldest business men in Rondout, a brick manufacturer and flour agent with offices at this building. The brick works are at East Kingston with some 160 hands employed during the season. Mr. Staples lived in Kingston since 1852. His wholesale flour business extends throughout the Hudson valley."

PROBLEM IN ARITHMETIC HOMEWORK—"Name 'em? I can't even count 'em!" exclaims five-year-old Donald Sandler, Jr., of Creve Coeur, Mo., while the causes of his predicament blandly go about their business. They are 14 pups born to the Sandlers' German short-haired pointer "Aldwinkles Skyacre Mella," known around the house as "Wally." Besides trying to think up names, Don helps bottle-feed the newcomers three times a day.

Reade's Drive-In To Open Saturday

The 9W Drive-In Theatre, foremost and largest in the Mid-Hudson Valley area, will reopen for the new season Saturday night, April 14, it was announced today by Walter Reade.

Opening ceremonies, to which officials of Kingston and Ulster county will be invited, will start at about 7 p. m. The theatre is located on the Saugerties road, north of the Kingston By-Pass.

The theatre will have a major change in picture policy, Reade stated. Arrangements have been completed with the major Hollywood producers and distributors of foreign films, which will enable the Drive-In to show newer pictures much sooner than was possible before. The theatre will continue a double feature policy.

Reade said the theatre, due to its luxurious surroundings, most modern equipment, and extensive facilities, will continue to cater directly to family unit trade, with children under 12 and cars always free. The theatre's prize-winning pony "Dixie Reade" will again be on hand to give free rides to children attending the threatre.

Hervey Keator, who managed the Drive-In at the close of last season, will return as manager this season. His staff will again be recruited locally, with many attaches from last season returning again.

The Drive-In's big free play area also will be in full operation, and will again be open free during the day as a community recreation center.

Reade stated that the ceremonies in which the municipal officials have been invited to take part, will be a highlight of the opening evening's program. Free popcorn also will be given to every patron that night.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Who remembers when Clarence L. Stoutenburg, was an optician down at 21 Broadway. He carried a complete stock of optical goods which included spectacles and eyeglasses at reasonable prices for people of all ages. He graduated from the Delaware Academy and later from the Julius King Optical College of New York, and at the time the "American Journal of Commerce" book was out he was in this successful establishment for some seven years.

I am sure I remember Henry Terpening, dealer in bicycles and bicycle supplies who had his place down at 20 Abeel street since 1896 and I think later at 44 Broadway, next to where my father had his drug store. It says back in the 1890's the store occupied two floors. The White and Defender bicycles were popular at the time. Mr. Terpening was also sole agent for the White sewing machines. Edison's phonographs and photographic supplies were part of his wares, as well as cigars and tobacco. Mr. Terpening was a native of New Salem, and I remember him in my day as an expert mechanic on various mechanical devices of the era. At the time, Dave Weil occupied half of the front store for yard goods, washable cottons mostly. Those were the days when there was much sewing done at home, and goods by the yard would be bought in most every dry goods store. Today it is not so much in vogue.

There is an excellent picture of the First National Bank of Rondout, which was at the corner of Broadway and Strand. It was established in 1863 with some 700 depositors in the late nineties. I see on the Board of Directors were four Coykendalls, Edward, S. D., Thomas C., and H. S. I take it Samuel D. was the president about whom they write. He was born in Rondout 63 years ago and had always lived in Kingston. He held the office of county treasurer. He was proprietor of the Kingston City Electric Railroad, also president of the Ulster & Delaware Railroad, and president of the Cornell Steamboat Co., and a heavy stockholder in the Rosendale Cement Co. As I remember being told that Sam Coykendall designed Kingston Point Park, made it what it was, a playground on the Hudson known up and down the river. No doubt there is much historical back ground connected with that park that we will never know. It just didn't happen, nothing just happens like that without someone making it happen. It truly was one of the most enjoyable spots on earth and I hope once more it will be used as a boat landing and come into its own.

Photos in these books are all new to me, although I know the buildings and locations. There is one of Hasbrouck avenue, corner Mill street of the Arcade Mills, A. S. Staples, Prop. A building still standing. About which they said, Alvah S. Staples is one of the oldest business men in Rondout, a brick manufacturer and flour agent with offices at this building. The brick works are at East Kingston with some 160 hands employed during the season. Mr. Staples lived in Kingston since 1852. His wholesale flour business extends throughout the Hudson valley."

PROBLEM IN ARITHMETIC HOMEWORK—"Name 'em? I can't even count 'em!" exclaims five-year-old Donald Sandler, Jr., of Creve Coeur, Mo., while the causes of his predicament blandly go about their business. They are 14 pups born to the Sandlers' German short-haired pointer "Aldwinkles Skyacre Mella," known around the house as "Wally." Besides trying to think up names, Don helps bottle-feed the newcomers three times a day.

Reade's Drive-In To Open Saturday

The 9W Drive-In Theatre, foremost and largest in the Mid-Hudson Valley area, will reopen for the new season Saturday night, April 14, it was announced today by Walter Reade.

Opening ceremonies, to which officials of Kingston and Ulster county will be invited, will start at about 7 p. m. The theatre is located on the Saugerties road, north of the Kingston By-Pass.

The theatre will have a major change in picture policy, Reade stated. Arrangements have been completed with the major Hollywood producers and distributors of foreign films, which will enable the Drive-In to show newer pictures much sooner than was possible before. The theatre will continue a double feature policy.

Reade said the theatre, due to its luxurious surroundings, most modern equipment, and extensive facilities, will continue to cater directly to family unit trade, with children under 12 and cars always free. The theatre's prize-winning pony "Dixie Reade" will again be on hand to give free rides to children attending the threatre.

Hervey Keator, who managed the Drive-In at the close of last season, will return as manager this season. His staff will again be recruited locally, with many attaches from last season returning again.

The Drive-In's big free play area also will be in full operation, and will again be open free during the day as a community recreation center.

Reade stated that the ceremonies in which the municipal officials have been invited to take part, will be a highlight of the opening evening's program. Free popcorn also will be given to every patron that night.

John Bard Lecture

Annandale-on-Hudson, April 10—Miss Martha Graham will deliver the annual John Bard Lecture in the Arts Wednesday, April 18, at 8:15 p. m. in the gymnasium at Bard College, it was announced today.

Miss Graham, an outstanding exponent of modern dance, is a student of Ruth St. Denis. She founded the Dance Repertory Theatre in New York in 1930, and is the founder and director of the Martha Graham Dance School.

Miss Lillian Barbara Tomshaw Is Wed In Church Ceremony to Charles Gaudette

The marriage of Miss Lillian Barbara Tomshaw and Charles Joseph Gaudette was solemnized Sunday at 1:30 p. m., in Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, this city. Miss Tomshaw is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tomshaw of 15 Summer street, and Mr. Gaudette is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Opta Gaudette of Ulster Park. Officiating clergyman during the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Frank Lawrence Gollnick of that congregation.

The altar of the church was decorated with white carnations, lilies, and snapdragons. Miss Lucinda Merritt, organist, played traditional wedding selections, and soloist Mrs. John Walker sang I Love You Truly, Because, and The Lord's Prayer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was dressed in a gown of blush pink satin and nylon tulle, with a fitted bodice, and illusion neckline, with an off-shoulder effect detailed with shirred drape and nylon ruching. Her bouffant skirt ended in a formal train edged with a nylon dust ruffle. She wore a fingertip veil caught to a lace cloche, edged with satin, and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Ilona Tomshaw of East Paterson, N. J., was maid of honor for her sister. Miss Tomshaw wore a pale pink gown of Chantilly lace and nylon net over matching taffeta. The lace bodice was continued into points on the bouffant net skirt, with a cascade of pink roses at the waist. She wore a nylon net hat, and carried a sheath of pink roses.

Bridesmaids were Miss Bernadette Gaudette of Ulster Park, sister of the groom, and Miss Lillian St. Paul of 73 West Union street. Gladys Tomshaw, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

The bridesmaids were dressed in aqua lace and taffeta faille gowns, cut with Peter Pan collars, basque bodices, and matching sweetheart bonnets. They carried hand bouquets of pink roses and sweet peas. The flower girl wore pink taffeta faille with a net yoke, and tiny sleeves. Her full skirt had tiers of ruffles, and her headpiece was of pink forget-me-nots, and green leaves. She carried a bouquet of forget-me-nots and pink roses.

Thomas W. Tomshaw of 88 East Chester street, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were William Gaudette of Ulster Park, brother of the groom, and William Cole of Ulster Park, cousin of the groom. Ronald Cole of Ulster Park, cousin of the groom, was child ringbearer.

Following the ceremony a reception for the immediate families, and relatives, was held at the Kirkland Hotel.

On their wedding trip the couple will visit the New England States and Canada. The bride wore a navy blue suit and pink topper for traveling, with navy and pink accessories, and a pink rose corsage. Upon their return, the couple will make their home at 45 Green street, this city.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School, is employed at the Barclay Knitwear Co., Inc. The groom, who was also graduated from Kingston High School, served in the armed forces for four years during World War 2. He was stationed in the European theatre. He is now employed with the New York Central Railroad.

K.H.S. Students Plan To Attend Syracuse Conference April 28

Eight Kingston High School students, who have been chosen "good school citizens" by their classmates, will attend the sixth annual citizenship education conference at Syracuse University April 28, it was announced today. They are Beatrice Newkirk, Jean Milliken, Joe Erena, Carl Constant, Barbara Ewig, Rosetta Colange, Jerry Bechtold, and Louis Nosenzo.

The annual conference, which will be attended by approximately 1,000 students from 300 upstate New York schools is sponsored by the University to "study, promote, and reward good citizenship among students in the upstate New York high schools." From the delegates present eight high school seniors and eight juniors will be awarded either full or part time scholarships by the University.

During the conference, in the morning, students will compete in small discussion groups for speaking parts in the afternoon town hall meetings. The question will be: "Can the United States be proud of its local government?" During the town hall meetings three minute pro or con speeches will be given on the subject: "Should the foreign policy of the United States emphasize 'hemispheric Gibraltar,' or "global defense'?" A panel discussion on the same question will follow. The Rev. Charles C. Noble, dean of Hendricks Chapel at Syracuse University, will award the scholarships.

St. Mary's Rosary Society Has Supper

Members of St. Mary's Rosary Society held their annual covered dish supper April 4 in the school hall, it was announced today, with Mrs. Jane Simoncini as hostess. Guests at the supper were the Very Rev. Martin J. Drury, P.R., V.F., and the Rev. John A. Flaherty.

Following the supper the group held its monthly meeting, with the president, Mrs. F. Daniel Halloran, in the chair. Business included the completion of plans for a communion breakfast Mothers' Day, Sunday, May 13, at the Embassy. The breakfast, it was announced, will be open to all women of the parish, and tickets may now be obtained from Mrs. Christopher Tierney, chairman, Mrs. Jane Bishop, and the prefects.

A social hour followed under the direction of Mrs. George Moore.

Joseph D. Myers Has 79th Birthday

A surprise birthday party and family dinner in honor of Joseph D. Myers was held Sunday afternoon at Mr. Myers' home, 391 East Chester street. Following the dinner Mr. Myers sang two solos, When Irish Eyes Are Smiling, and My Wild Irish Rose.

Mr. Myers' children and their husbands and wives attending included Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Myers, Jr., Mrs. Beatrice Bame, Mr. and Mrs. George Garrison, and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy D. Myers. Two grandchildren, David Myers and Nancy Garrison, and a great-grandson, Darell Myers, also were among the guests.

Following the dinner guests enjoyed dancing, while Miss Beverly Whittmore, and Mrs. Joseph Myers, Jr., entertained at the piano.

Marriage Announced

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Maureen Cardinal, daughter of Mrs. Gilbert Cardinal of Massena and the late Mr. Cardinal, and Donald M. Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Manning, formerly of this city and now of New York. The ceremony and Nuptial Mass took place Saturday morning, April 7, at St. Mary's Church, Massena. A reception for 70 guests was held at the James St. Pierre residence, Massena. Following a wedding trip through the New England states, the couple will make their home in Schenectady.

Camp Wendy Heads Attend New York Camping Conference

In preparation for the summer opening of Girl Scout Camp Wendy in nearby Wallkill, Mrs. Kenneth Martin, camp director, and Mrs. William Oakley, camp commissioner, attended the two-day conference of the American Camping Association in New York city on April 6-7.

Joining over 300 private and agency camp directors from the New York and New England area, the two Kingston representatives listened to informative lectures on Programming and affiliated subjects by such outstanding authorities as Eugene Vivian, director of the famous Life Camps, and Ed Healey, director of the Andro Scroggin Camps. They were able also to witness exhibits of camp equipment and place orders for necessary food and program supplies with leading wholesalers.

Mrs. Martin, who studied many phases of camp life at the National Girl Scout Camp Directors Course in Bethesda, Md., last year, reports that the ACA conference was rich in helpful suggestions on providing each camper with the fullest experiences in outdoor living.

Camp Wendy, the Ulster County Girl Scout Camp, will open on July 1 for three two-week periods ending August 11. County Scouts may register for camp through their troop leaders after April 20 up until May 15, after which date nonscouts and out-of-county Girl Scouts may apply for admission.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Dumm left today for their farm at Nittany Valley, R.D. 1, Mill Hall, Pa. They will return to their home here at 4 Mountain View avenue in October.

Miss Betty Bryant of Lomontville, a senior at Buffalo State Teachers College, represented the student council, of which she is president, at the second annual symposium of the University of the State of New York. The symposium was held in Rochester April 6 and 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schwartz of 70 North Front street celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary recently in Brooklyn with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Picker, who were celebrating their 20th anniversary at the same time.

Dr. and Mrs. Elbert MacFadden, 238 Washington avenue, and Dr. and Mrs. John R. Roberts, 88 Maiden Lane, attended a dinner meeting of the Mid-Hudson Alumni Club of Middlebury College Thursday. The dinner was held at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

A RETURN TO OLD-FASHIONED SHOWERS

Again a letter explains: "I wish you'd discuss this question because I know it has been the cause of many quarrels between young married couples living on fixed budgets. Is it proper for a prospective bride's mother or sister to give out the same names over and over again of the friends to be asked to bridal showers? My mother was so careful not to suggest the same friends more than once."

As I have written many times in this column, the present day shower has greatly changed its character. Instead of being limited as it used to be, to the bride's most personal friends, who gave very trifling gifts, today even strangers are invited and the "donations" often resemble wedding gifts. The only way to check this spreading custom is for the invited guests themselves to refuse invitations to showers given for those whom they scarcely know, and also by limiting their shower presents to trifles. In this way best friends will be able to take gifts to the showers of all whom they really care for.

Thank You Notes

Dear Mrs. Post. Will you tell us whether the folded card with the printed name on front, would be suitable for writing thank-you notes for funeral flowers and other kindnesses? The widow would like her own card used for all these even though some are the friends of her two married children and one unmarried. Could she add "and family" in ink after her name to include them?

Answer: Yes, to both these questions.

Bridegroom Has Other Duties

Dear Mrs. Post: Have you ever heard of the bridegroom (father not living) walking up the aisle with his mother and seating her before the service?

Answer: No, never! Moreover, it would not be very practical because even if he and she might drive from her house together, and he take her up the aisle, this would have to be not only at an earlier hour than customary, but he also would be obliged to leave her sitting alone instead of with whichever other member of her family is correctly chosen to accompany her.

What are the details for a wedding ceremony and reception? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but full details for weddings are included in her booklet No. 501, "Etiquette of Weddings." To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York, 19, N. Y.

Mrs. Sam Franklin, Formerly of Tokyo, To Speak in Area

Mrs. Sam Franklin, who came to this country from Tokyo, Japan, last fall, will be heard Thursday afternoon at the 72nd annual meeting of the North River Presbyterial Society in the Presbyterian Church at Little Britain. The society is composed of women's groups from 21 Presbyterian Churches on both sides of the Hudson, from Kingston and Dutchess county, to Cold Spring and Highland Falls.

Officers will be elected at the morning session, beginning at 10 a. m., it was announced, and will be installed in the afternoon. A choir composed of singers from member churches will lead singing at both the morning and afternoon sessions.

The North River Digest, partly a published bulletin, and partly acted out by women in various church work departments, will be used to present reports in the morning. Luncheon, for a nominal fee, will be served at the church. The program has been arranged by Mrs. Clarence Rathgeb of Highland, president, and Mrs. William Plank of Marlborough, vice-president.

Annandale-on-Hudson, April 10 —Miss Martha Graham will deliver the annual John Bard Lecture in the Arts Wednesday, April 18, at 8:15 p. m. in the gymnasium at Bard College, it was announced today.

Miss Graham, an outstanding exponent of modern dance, is a student of Ruth St. Denis. She founded the Dance Repertory Theatre in New York in 1930, and is the founder and director of the Martha Graham Dance School.

Miss Lillian Barbara Tomshaw Is Wed In Church Ceremony to Charles Gaudette

The marriage of Miss Lillian Barbara Tomshaw and Charles Joseph Gaudette was solemnized Sunday at 1:30 p. m., in Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, this city. Miss Tomshaw is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tomshaw of 15 Summer street, and Mr. Gaudette is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Opta Gaudette of Ulster Park. Officiating clergyman during the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Frank Lawrence Gollnick of that congregation.

The altar of the church was decorated with white carnations, lilies, and snapdragons. Miss Lucinda Merritt, organist, played traditional wedding selections, and soloist Mrs. John Walker sang I Love You Truly, Because, and The Lord's Prayer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was dressed in a gown of blush pink satin and nylon tulle, with a fitted bodice, and illusion neckline, with an off-shoulder effect detailed with shirred drape and nylon ruching. Her bouffant skirt ended in a formal train edged with a nylon dust ruffle. She wore a fingertip veil caught to a lace cloche, edged with satin, and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Ilona Tomshaw of East Paterson, N. J., was maid of honor for her sister. Miss Tomshaw wore a pale pink gown of Chantilly lace and nylon net over matching taffeta. The lace bodice was continued into points on the bouffant net skirt, with a cascade of pink roses at the waist. She wore a nylon net hat, and carried a sheath of pink roses.

Bridesmaids were Miss Bernadette Gaudette of Ulster Park, sister of the groom, and Miss Lillian St. Paul of 73 West Union street. Gladys Tomshaw, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

The bridesmaids were dressed in aqua lace and taffeta faille gowns, cut with Peter Pan collars, basque bodices, and matching sweetheart bonnets. They carried hand bouquets of pink roses and sweet peas. The flower girl wore pink taffeta faille with a net yoke, and tiny sleeves. Her full skirt had tiers of ruffles, and her headpiece was of pink forget-me-nots, and green leaves. She carried a bouquet of forget-me-nots and pink roses.

Thomas W. Tomshaw of 88 East Chester street, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were William Gaudette of Ulster Park, brother of the groom, and William Cole of Ulster Park, cousin of the groom. Ronald Cole of Ulster Park, cousin of the groom, was child ringbearer.

Following the ceremony a reception for the immediate families, and relatives, was held at the Kirkland Hotel.

On their wedding trip the couple will visit the New England States and Canada. The bride wore a navy blue suit and pink topper for traveling, with navy and pink accessories, and a pink rose corsage. Upon their return, the couple will make their home at 45 Green street, this city.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School, is employed at the Barclay Knitwear Co., Inc. The groom, who was also graduated from Kingston High School, served in the armed forces for four years during World War 2. He was stationed in the European theatre. He is now employed with the New York Central Railroad.

K.H.S. Students Plan To Attend Syracuse Conference April 28

Eight Kingston High School students, who have been chosen "good school citizens" by their classmates, will attend the sixth annual citizenship education conference at Syracuse University April 28, it was announced today. They are Beatrice Newkirk, Jean Milliken, Joe Erena, Carl Constant, Barbara Ewig, Rosetta Colange, Jerry Bechtold, and Louis Nosenzo.

The annual conference, which will be attended by approximately 1,000 students from 300 upstate New York schools is sponsored by the University to "study, promote, and reward good citizenship among students in the upstate New York high schools." From the delegates present eight high school seniors and eight juniors will be awarded either full or part time scholarships by the University.

During the conference, in the morning, students will compete in small discussion groups for speaking parts in the afternoon town hall meetings. The question will be: "Can the United States be proud of its local government?" During the town hall meetings three minute pro or con speeches will be given on the subject: "Should the foreign policy of the United States emphasize 'hemispheric Gibraltar,' or "global defense'?" A panel discussion on the same question will follow. The Rev. Charles C. Noble, dean of Hendricks Chapel at Syracuse University, will award the scholarships.

St. Mary's Rosary Society Has Supper

Members of St. Mary's Rosary Society held their annual covered dish supper April 4 in the school hall, it was announced today, with Mrs. Jane Simoncini as hostess. Guests at the supper were the Very Rev. Martin J. Drury, P.R., V.F., and the Rev. John A. Flaherty.

Following the supper the group held its monthly meeting, with the president, Mrs. F. Daniel Halloran, in the chair. Business included the completion of plans for a communion breakfast Mothers' Day, Sunday, May 13, at the Embassy. The breakfast, it was announced, will be open to all women of the parish, and tickets may now be obtained from Mrs. Christopher Tierney, chairman, Mrs. Jane Bishop, and the prefects.

A social hour followed under the direction of Mrs. George Moore.

Joseph D. Myers Has 79th Birthday

A surprise birthday party and family dinner in honor of Joseph D. Myers was held Sunday afternoon at Mr. Myers' home, 391 East Chester street. Following the dinner Mr. Myers sang two solos, When Irish Eyes Are Smiling, and My Wild Irish Rose.

Mr. Myers' children and their husbands and wives attending included Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Myers, Jr., Mrs. Beatrice Bame, Mr. and Mrs. George Garrison, and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy D. Myers. Two grandchildren, David Myers and Nancy Garrison, and a great-grandson, Darell Myers, also were among the guests.

Following the dinner guests enjoyed dancing, while Miss Beverly Whittmore, and Mrs. Joseph Myers, Jr., entertained at the piano.

Marriage Announced

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Maureen Cardinal, daughter of Mrs. Gilbert Cardinal of Massena and the late Mr. Cardinal, and Donald M. Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Manning, formerly of this city and now of New York. The ceremony and Nuptial Mass took place Saturday morning, April 7, at St. Mary's Church, Massena. A reception for 70 guests was held at the James St. Pierre residence, Massena. Following a wedding trip through the New England states, the couple will make their home in Schenectady.

Camp Wendy Heads Attend New York Camping Conference

In preparation for the summer opening of Girl Scout Camp Wendy in nearby Wallkill, Mrs. Kenneth Martin, camp director, and Mrs. William Oakley, camp commissioner, attended the two-day conference of the American Camping Association in New York city on April 6-7.

Joining over 300 private and agency camp directors from the New York and New England area, the two Kingston representatives listened to informative lectures on Programming and affiliated subjects by such outstanding authorities as Eugene Vivian, director of the famous Life Camps, and Ed Healey, director of the Andro Scroggin Camps. They were able also to witness exhibits of camp equipment and place orders for necessary food and program supplies with leading wholesalers.

Mrs. Martin, who studied many phases of camp life at the National Girl Scout Camp Directors Course in Bethesda, Md., last year, reports that the ACA conference was rich in helpful suggestions on providing each camper with the fullest experiences in outdoor living.

Camp Wendy, the Ulster County Girl Scout Camp, will open on July 1 for three two-week periods ending August 11. County Scouts may register for camp through their troop leaders after April 20 up until May 15, after which date non-scouts and out-of-county Girl Scouts may apply for admission.

Personal Notes

Mrs. Arthur Gruver, who formerly resided at 91 Clifton avenue, this city, today is celebrating her 87th birthday at her present residence, Far Hills Farm, Butler Pike, Ambler, Pa. Mrs. Gruver, who moved to Ambler in 1949, lived in Kingston for more than 50 years. She is a native of Chester, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Dumm left today for their farm at Nittany Valley, R.D. 1, Mill Hall, Pa. They will return to their home here at 4 Mountain View avenue in October.

Miss Betty Bryant of Lomontville, a senior at Buffalo State Teachers College, represented the student council, of which she is president, at the second annual symposium of the University of the State of New York. The symposium was held in Rochester April 6 and 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schwartz of 70 North Front street celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary recently in Brooklyn with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Picker, who were celebrating their 20th anniversary at the same time.

Dr. and Mrs. Elbert MacFadden, 238 Washington avenue, and Dr. and Mrs. John R. Roberts, 88 Maiden Lane, attended a dinner meeting of the Mid-Hudson Alumni Club of Middlebury College Thursday. The dinner was held at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

A RETURN TO OLD-FASHIONED SHOWERS

Again a letter explains: "I wish you'd discuss this question because I know it has been the cause of many quarrels between young married couples living on fixed budgets. Is it proper for a prospective bride's mother or sister to give out the same names over and over again of the friends to be asked to bridal showers? My mother was so careful not to suggest the same friends more than once."

As I have written many times in this column, the present day shower has greatly changed its character. Instead of being limited as it used to be, to the bride's most personal friends, who gave very trifling gifts, today even strangers are invited and the "donations" often resemble wedding gifts. The only way to check this spreading custom is for the invited guests themselves to refuse invitations to showers given for those whom they scarcely know, and also by limiting their shower presents to trifles. In this way best friends will be able to take gifts to the showers of all whom they really care for.

Thank You Notes

Dear Mrs. Post, Will you tell us whether the folded card with the printed name on front, would be suitable for writing thank-you notes for funeral flowers and other kindnesses? The widow would like her own card used for all these even though some are the friends of her two married children and one unmarried. Could she add "and family" in ink after her name to include them?

Answer: Yes, to both these questions.

Bridegroom Has Other Duties

Dear Mrs. Post: Have you ever heard of the bridegroom (father not living) walking up the aisle with his mother and seating her before the service?

Answer: No, never! Moreover, it would not be very practical because even if he and she might drive from her house together, and he take her up the aisle, this would have to be not only at an earlier hour than customary, but he also would be obliged to leave her sitting alone instead of with whichever other member of her family is correctly chosen to accompany her.

What are the details for a wedding ceremony and reception? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but full details for weddings are included in her booklet No. 501, "Etiquette of Weddings." To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York, 19, N. Y.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Maureen Cardinal, daughter of Mrs. Gilbert Cardinal of Massena and the late Mr. Cardinal, and Donald M. Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Manning, formerly of this city and now of New York. The ceremony and Nuptial Mass took place Saturday morning, April 7, at St. Mary's Church, Massena. A reception for 70 guests was held at the James St. Pierre residence, Massena. Following a wedding trip through the New England states, the couple will make their home in Schenectady.

Good Taste Today

A RETURN TO OLD-FASHIONED SHOWERS

Again a letter explains: "I wish you'd discuss this question because I know it has been the cause of many quarrels between young married couples living on fixed budgets. Is it proper for a prospective bride's mother or sister to give out the same names over and over again of the friends to be asked to bridal showers? My mother was so careful not to suggest the same friends more than once."

As I have written many times in this column, the present day shower has greatly changed its character. Instead of being limited as it used to be, to the bride's most personal friends, who gave very trifling gifts, today even strangers are invited and the "donations" often resemble wedding gifts. The only way to check this spreading custom is for the invited guests themselves to refuse invitations to showers given for those whom they scarcely know, and also by limiting their shower presents to trifles. In this way best friends will be able to take gifts to the showers of all whom they really care for.

Thank You Notes

Dear Mrs. Post. Will you tell us whether the folded card with the printed name on front, would be suitable for writing thank-you notes for funeral flowers and other kindnesses? The widow would like her own card used for all these even though some are the friends of her two married children and one unmarried. Could she add "and family" in ink after her name to include them?

Answer: Yes, to both these questions.

Bridegroom Has Other Duties

Dear Mrs. Post: Have you ever heard of the bridegroom (father not living) walking up the aisle with his mother and seating her before the service?

Answer: No, never! Moreover, it would not be very practical because even if he and she might drive from her house together, and he take her up the aisle, this would have to be not only at an earlier hour than customary, but he also would be obliged to leave her sitting alone instead of with whichever other member of her family is correctly chosen to accompany her.

What are the details for a wedding ceremony and reception? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but full details for weddings are included in her booklet No. 501, "Etiquette of Weddings." To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York, 19, N. Y.

Mrs. Sam Franklin, Formerly of Tokyo, To Speak in Area

Mrs. Sam Franklin, who came to this country from Tokyo, Japan, last fall, will be heard Thursday afternoon at the 72nd annual meeting of the North River Presbyterial Society in the Presbyterian Church at Little Britain. The society is composed of women's groups from 21 Presbyterian Churches on both sides of the Hudson, from Kingston and Dutchess county, to Cold Spring and Highland Falls.

Officers will be elected at the morning session, beginning at 10 a. m., it was announced, and will be installed in the afternoon. A choir composed of singers from member churches will lead singing at both the morning and afternoon sessions.

The North River Digest, partly a published bulletin, and partly acted out by women in various church work departments, will be used to present reports in the morning. Luncheon, for a nominal fee, will be served at the church. The program has been arranged by Mrs. Clarence Rathgeb of Highland, president, and Mrs. William Plank of Marlborough, vice-president.

Personal Notes

Mrs. Arthur Gruver, who formerly resided at 91 Clifton avenue, this city, today is celebrating her 87th birthday at her present residence, Far Hills Farm, Butler Pike, Ambler, Pa. Mrs. Gruver, who moved to Ambler in 1949, lived in Kingston for more than 50 years. She is a native of Chester, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Dumm left today for their farm at Nittany Valley, R.D. 1, Mill Hall, Pa. They will return to their home here at 4 Mountain View avenue in October.

Miss Betty Bryant of Lomontville, a senior at Buffalo State Teachers College, represented the student council, of which she is president, at the second annual symposium of the University of the State of New York. The symposium was held in Rochester April 6 and 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schwartz of 70 North Front street celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary recently in Brooklyn with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Picker, who were celebrating their 20th anniversary at the same time.

Dr. and Mrs. Elbert MacFadden, 238 Washington avenue, and Dr. and Mrs. John R. Roberts, 88 Maiden Lane, attended a dinner meeting of the Mid-Hudson Alumni Club of Middlebury College Thursday. The dinner was held at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie.

'Will to Survive' Is Topic at B. & P. Meeting Wednesday

Man's position in nature, and the interdependence of animals and plants, soil and water, outlined under the subject "The Will to Survive," was presented Wednesday evening to members of the Business and Professional Girls' Club by guest speaker Daniel Smiley of Mohonk. During his address Mr. Smiley stressed that in our own partcular era man suffers greater dangers from his environment than he does from war.

Man, Mr. Smiley pointed out, has been changing the face of the earth down through the years. He has managed, to a great degree, to master nature. People, not only in cities, but all over the world, he continued, have grown dependent upon their fellow men for the necessities of life. It is the responsibilty of each to help fill the needs of others.

During the informal discussion period which followed his talk, Mr. Smiley described the damages at Mohonk and surrounding areas; the result of an overabundance of deer. The problem could be solved, he said, by authorizing, in the coming hunting season, an open season on does.

At the club's next meeting April 11, Miss Justine Rowe, assisted by other members of the board of directors, will conduct a discussion on program and organization. A game period and miscellaneous sale will follow. All members are reminded to bring an article for the sale.

Hurley Nurses

The April meeting of the Hurley Nursing Committee was held April 2, at the home of Mrs. Thomas Flynn, Hurley. Mrs. Flynn, president, was in the chair.

It was announced that the county picnic will be held in Hurley. Plans will be completed at the May meeting. The entire Hurley group will act as the committee. Miss Ann Cassidy also announced a dental clinic, to give children fluorine treatments, will be held in June.

After the meeting tea was served.

'Y' Junior Married Group Has Auction, Sees Special Film

A variety of items, ranging from baked goods to potted plants, and from clothing to fresh eggs, were sold at auction Thursday evening during the Junior Married Women's Club meeting at the Y.W.C.A. Co-chairmen and acting auctioneers were Mrs. Herbert Lown and Mrs. Clarence Rowland, Jr.

Also featured on the evening's program were movies of the club's recent talent night, taken by Christopher Morris, and shown by Mrs. Morris.

During the group's business meeting Mrs. William Gaffken, president, named the nominating committee for the annual elections which will be held in May. Members of the committee are the Mmes. Howard Fox, chairman; Francis Tucker, and Charles Kershaw.

It was announced that members of the club will both serve as waitresses and supply food at the Y.W.C.A.'s annual "Around the World" cafeteria supper, to be held April 24 in the First Baptist Church, Albany avenue. Meanwhile, definite plans for the annual spring formal will be announced within a few days by co-chairmen Mrs. Thomas Maines, and Mrs. George Rifenbary.

Hostesses for the social hour were the Mmes. Loren Auchmoody, Jack Gill, and Harold Reis.

Girl Scout News

Girl Scout leaders of the Kingston District heard an interesting and informative talk on the public health facilities of Ulster county by Miss Esther Schisa, supervisor of Public Health Nurses, at their monthly meeting held last evening in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Miss Schisa correlated her remarks with the nursing and public health programs outlined in the official Girl Scout Handbook, but opened many new fields of study available to local scouts. Leaders attending the meeting took away with them many program ideas for future reference.

The guest speaker outlined the organization of the Ulster County Health Department, which works constantly to prevent and control disease and is a branch of the New York Public Health Department. The state bureau works in turn, under the United States Public Health Service. Dental, medical, and mental health programs were discussed by Miss Schisa, as well as details of Public Health Nursing. Phases of the county health program in which Girl Scouts can play an active part were stressed.

Plans for a leaders' course in Self-Help and Neighbor-Help for the Injured as a Civil Defense Measure were discussed as an outgrowth of Miss Schisa's talk.

Churchill Won't Collect

Philadelphia, April 10 (AP)—Winston Churchill, who will deliver a major address at the University of Pennsylvania next month, won't take a penny's pay for his speech, it was disclosed today. Churchill agreed to speak at Pennsylvania May 8 as part of the university's 200th anniversary after conferring with Harold S. Stassen Penn's president, and Robert G. Dunlop, president of the Sun Oil Company. Stassen and Dunlop flew to London to extend a personal invitation to the British wartime leader.

Report Given on Mao

Hong Kong, April 10 (AP)—An Indonesian diplomat today said he saw an official announcement that Chinese Communist Leader Mao Tze-tung was ill and temporarily had delegated his authority. The third secretary in the Indonesian embassy at Peiping, Soemarto, said he saw an official Communist news summary telling of Mao's illness. He is returning to Peiping after a short visit in Indonesia. He said inquiries to Chinese Communist officials revealed Mao had left Peiping for convalescence and had turned over his authority to Vice Chairman Liu Shao-Chi.

Cancer Speaker

LEONARD V. GRIFFITH

Leonard V. Griffith, assistant director field relations department of the American Cancer Society, Inc., will be the guest speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Ulster County Branch of the society Friday, April 13, at the Stuyvesant Hotel, at 6:30 p. m.

All who are interested in the Crusade Against Cancer are invited. Dinner reservations may be made with Mrs. Lloyd LeFever, Richmond Park, by letter or telephone. Mrs. LeFever's telephone is 3355.

Griffith was born in Dennison, O., and attended Holy Cross Preparatory School, Xavier University, Cincinnati, O., where he was awarded on A.B., and the University of the State of Ohio where he received the degree of M.A.S.A..

His talk before the local cancer group Friday night will be on the subject, "Current Progress in Cancer Control."

The 1951 cancer campaign, now being conducted, is under the general chairmanship locally of Walter Williams. Majority Leader Senator Arthur H. Wicks is the honorary general chairman.

Patrols Check on Sub

Manila, April 10 (AP)—The army sent motorized patrols to western Panay Island today after a foreign submarine was reported offshore. The Philippines news service said army officers surmised the sub might be attempting to contact Guillermo Capadocia, chief of the Philippines Communist party. Troops hunting him killed four of his bodyguards Sunday in a raid of Hukbalahap rebel headquarters.

Cut Down on Fat and Salt To Prevent Heart Disease

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

St. Louis, April 10 (AP)—To help yourself prevent heart disease eat less fat and less salt.

Those are two of the main medical tips on eating for a healthy heart. They were described today at the American College of Physicians' annual meeting by Dr. Thomas M. Durant, professor of clinical medicine, Temple University School of Medicine.

Many Americans are digging their graves with their teeth, by what they eat or don't eat, he said.

Four other heart diet tips:

Get plenty of vitamins and minerals. You need the vitamins especially to help burn the carbohydrates, starches and sugars you eat.

Get enough protein, meat, fish and milk, for your heart is a muscle, made of protein.

Avoid Anemia

Get enough iron, vitamins and protein to avoid anemia. The heart has to work harder if blood lacks red cells and isn't carrying its normal load of oxygen.

Avoid overweight. Fatness adds extra miles of blood vessels and puts a strain on the heart.

Excessive salt and fat tend to be harmful for many people, inviting two kinds of heart trouble. Dr. Durant said if people used less salt and fat "it would delay the appearance of these diseases" and they might beat the fat-caused heart disease so well that they could live normal life spans.

Causes Coronary Condition

Too much fat is blamed for causing coronary heart disease, by a hardening or narrowing of the coronary artery that brings blood to the heart. The fat forms deposits on the inner walls of the artery.

Since 1910, Americans have been eating more fat in proportion to starches and sugars. Coronary heart disease has increased, but there are many reasons besides fatty foods for this increase.

For these patients the treatment is to cut way down on fatty foods of any kind, for the human body can make the dangerous fat called cholesterol from any kind of fat.

Butter, cheese, cream, chocolate bars all contain fat and are forbidden to these patients. They are given fat-free milk, dry curd cottage cheese made without cream, low-fat fish like swordfish, shrimp, black sea bass, and other low-fat foods.

Salt Overworks Heart

Americans like salt and eat foods high in salt. But salt makes congestive heart disease worse, or may contribute to bringing it on. In this disease, the heart is overworked, perhaps because of high blood pressure or earlier heart damage. Salt promotes watery swellings in the body and the heart has to work even harder.

There are drugs that get rid of excess water, but precious vitamins can get washed out too.

Sale of newspapers on the streets in America was rare before the early 1830s.

Girl Scout News

Girl Scout leaders of the Kingston District heard an interesting and informative talk on the public health facilities of Ulster county by Miss Esther Schisa, supervisor of Public Health Nurses, at their monthly meeting held last evening in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Miss Schisa correlated her remarks with the nursing and public health programs outlined in the official Girl Scout Handbook, but opened many new fields of study available to local scouts. Leaders attending the meeting took away with them many program ideas for future reference.

The guest speaker outlined the organization of the Ulster County Health Department, which works constantly to prevent and control disease and is a branch of the New York Public Health Department. The state bureau works in turn, under the United States Public Health Service. Dental, medical, and mental health programs were discussed by Miss Schisa, as well as details of Public Health Nursing. Phases of the county health program in which Girl Scouts can play an active part were stressed.

Plans for a leaders' course in Self-Help and Neighbor-Help for the Injured as a Civil Defense Measure were discussed as an outgrowth of Miss Schisa's talk.

Churchill Won't Collect

Philadelphia, April 10 (AP)—Winston Churchill, who will deliver a major address at the University of Pennsylvania next month, won't take a penny's pay for his speech, it was disclosed today. Churchill agreed to speak at Pennsylvania May 8 as part of the university's 200th anniversary after conferring with Harold S. Stassen Penn's president, and Robert G. Dunlop, president of the Sun Oil Company. Stassen and Dunlop flew to London to extend a personal invitation to the British wartime leader.

Report Given on Mao

Hong Kong, April 10 (AP)—An Indonesian diplomat today said he saw an official announcement that Chinese Communist Leader Mao Tze-tung was ill and temporarily had delegated his authority. The third secretary in the Indonesian embassy at Peiping, Soemarto, said he saw an official Communist news summary telling of Mao's illness. He is returning to Peiping after a short visit in Indonesia. He said inquiries to Chinese Communist officials revealed Mao had left Peiping for convalescence and had turned over his authority to Vice Chairman Liu Shao-Chi.

Cut Down on Fat and Salt To Prevent Heart Disease

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

St. Louis, April 10 (AP)—To help yourself prevent heart disease eat less fat and less salt.

Those are two of the main medical tips on eating for a healthy heart. They were described today at the American College of Physicians' annual meeting by Dr. Thomas M. Durant, professor of clinical medicine, Temple University School of Medicine.

Many Americans are digging their graves with their teeth, by what they eat or don't eat, he said.

Four other heart diet tips:

Get plenty of vitamins and minerals. You need the vitamins especially to help burn the carbohydrates, starches and sugars you eat.

Get enough protein, meat, fish and milk, for your heart is a muscle, made of protein.

Avoid Anemia

Get enough iron, vitamins and protein to avoid anemia. The heart has to work harder if blood lacks red cells and isn't carrying its normal load of oxygen.

Avoid overweight. Fatness adds extra miles of blood vessels and puts a strain on the heart.

Excessive salt and fat tend to be harmful for many people, inviting two kinds of heart trouble. Dr. Durant said if people used less salt and fat "it would delay the appearance of these diseases" and they might beat the fat-caused heart disease so well that they could live normal life spans.

Causes Coronary Condition

Too much fat is blamed for causing coronary heart disease, by a hardening or narrowing of the coronary artery that brings blood to the heart. The fat forms deposits on the inner walls of the artery.

Since 1910, Americans have been eating more fat in proportion to starches and sugars. Coronary heart disease has increased, but there are many reasons besides fatty foods for this increase.

For these patients the treatment is to cut way down on fatty foods of any kind, for the human body can make the dangerous fat called cholesterol from any kind of fat.

Butter, cheese, cream, chocolate bars all contain fat and are forbidden to these patients. They are given fat-free milk, dry curd cottage cheese made without cream, low-fat fish like swordfish, shrimp, black sea bass, and other low-fat foods.

Salt Overworks Heart

Americans like salt and eat foods high in salt. But salt makes congestive heart disease worse, or may contribute to bringing it on. In this disease, the heart is overworked, perhaps because of high blood pressure or earlier heart damage. Salt promotes watery swellings in the body and the heart has to work even harder.

There are drugs that get rid of excess water, but precious vitamins can get washed out too.

'Will to Survive' Is Topic at B. & P. Meeting Wednesday

Man's position in nature, and the interdependence of animals and plants, soil and water, outlined under the subject "The Will to Survive," was presented Wednesday evening to members of the Business and Professonal Girls' Club by guest speaker Daniel Smiley of Mohonk. During his address Mr. Smiley stressed that in our own partcular era man suffers greater dangers from his environment than he does from war.

Man, Mr. Smiley pointed out, has been changing the face of the earth down through the years. He has managed, to a great degree, to master nature. People, not only in cities, but all over the world, he continued, have grown dependent upon their fellow men for the necessities of life. It is the responsibilty of each to help fill the needs of others.

During the informal discussion period which followed his talk, Mr. Smiley described the damages at Mohonk and surrounding areas; the result of an overabundance of deer. The problem could be solved, he said, by authorizing, in the coming hunting season, an open season on does.

At the club's next meeting April 11, Miss Justine Rowe, assisted by other members of the board of directors, will conduct a discussion on program and organization. A game period and miscellaneous sale will follow. All members are reminded to bring an article for the sale.

Hurley Nurses

The April meeting of the Hurley Nursing Committee was held April 2, at the home of Mrs. Thomas Flynn, Hurley. Mrs. Flynn, president, was in the chair.

It was announced that the county picnic will be held in Hurley. Plans will be completed at the May meeting. The entire Hurley group will act as the committee. Miss Ann Cassidy also announced a dental clinic, to give children fluorine treatments, will be held in June.

After the meeting tea was served.

Down in St. Pete

By FRANK TRIPP

They call their baseball team The Saints and they sit on green benches all up and down the main street, like in front of the old general store. But they're not all saints and they're not all halt and blind down in St. Petersburg, Florida.

The average age of the carpet-baggers who moved in from the North and the visitors who call there annually may be around 75, but the young bloods who keep it from being 90 are just as frisky as they are on the East Coast of the palmettoed peninsula—and so are some of the old-timers.

I stopped by there a couple weeks to find out, and to see the half dozen major league ball teams that make the area their training mecca. If you feel you can survive without the Coney Island sound effects and the syndicated swindle bunnies of the East Coast, there's no reason in the world why you can't have all the fun and sunshine that's good for you around the Tampa Bay region—and you needn't take along a false beard and a crutch to feel that you belong.

TO GET THERE of course you've got to go through much of Florida as is, always was and probably always will be. This land of palms boasts of almost every tropical species, from the common cocoanut variety to the stately Royal. But the palm that most predominates, the one you can't escape, is not listed in any of the horticultural books. It's the itchy palm.

So go prepared to grease it, brother. The extent to which you lubricate the cracker's extended digits will pretty much govern everything you enjoy and get, save suntan. Someday a racketeer may find a way to meter sunshine and the state a way to tax it, but suntan still is free in Florida.

"Keep Florida Green," urges the single license plate on Florida cars. "Keep the Suckers Green," they mean. So I'm going to wise you up. If you're driving that way, keep your eye steadfastly one of two places. On your speedometer or the far side of anything that might hide a skulking collector of shekels from visiting motorists. The cop who picks you up in Florida gets a cut of the bounty and the more Yankee you look, the harder he yanks.

WHEN YOU GET to St. Pete you can have a big time on the 200 or so shuffle board courts, the countless horseshoe pitching lots. You can join up in checkers, chess and domino tournaments, fish your head off; or you can just plain sit on a bench in front of any store and watch the crowd go by. It's a high hat city block that doesn't provide a place to sit down. If you're over 75, you can join the "Over 75" Club and play on a softball team, the "Kids" or the "Cubs."

Parking Meter Ads Killed by Dewey

Albany, N. Y., April 10 (AP)—Governor Dewey has vetoed two bills that would have permitted municipalities to rent or lease advertising space on parking meters located on state highways.

The state public works superintendent, the state commissioner of taxation and finance and the county officers association objected to the proposals, the Governor said yesterday in killing the legislation.

Several municipalities have placed advertising on meters. Some were authorized to do so under terms of permits issued by the public works department before World War 2. No permits have been issued recently.

However, a department spokesman said yesterday that never had been "clear authority" under existing laws to issue such permits. He noted that all public highway rights of way must be used for the benefit of all.

Match Insecticide to Bug Type

Sucking insects such as aphids, mealy bugs and scales ruin more plants than any other group of pests. The damage is usually fatal before it is noticed.

These pests are controlled by the use of a contact insecticide—one which kills the insect upon touching it. Therefore it must be carefully and correctly used to effect complete control.

The standard recommendations of the United States Department of Agriculture are all contained in Farmers Bulletin No. 2000 on Vegetable Crops. In addition to that, consult your county agent for the best recommendations to use in your neighborhood.

For scale insects in evergreens and trees or shrubs such as lilacs, use an oil emulsion spray when the plants are dormant.

When the plants are in growth use a D.D.T. spray applied with some material such as household detergent.

To use of this type of detergent will insure very complete coverage and definitely control the pests.

Aphids can be controlled with the use of a nicotine spray or with a dust of D.D.T. Aphils will continuously reappear throughout the season and must be controlled whenever they show up.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Don't suffer longer with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While often otherwise caused, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Twain Auction Held

Hollywood, April 10 (AP)—A collection of 3,000 of Mark Twain's own books, manuscripts and letters is being auctioned off today. More than 800 persons, including devotees of the great American humorist and professional collectors, attended the opening day of the three-day auction yesterday. Perhaps the largest collection of furnishings and belongings of the writer ever to go on the block is being sold by his sole surviving daughter, Mrs. Clara Clemens Samossoud.

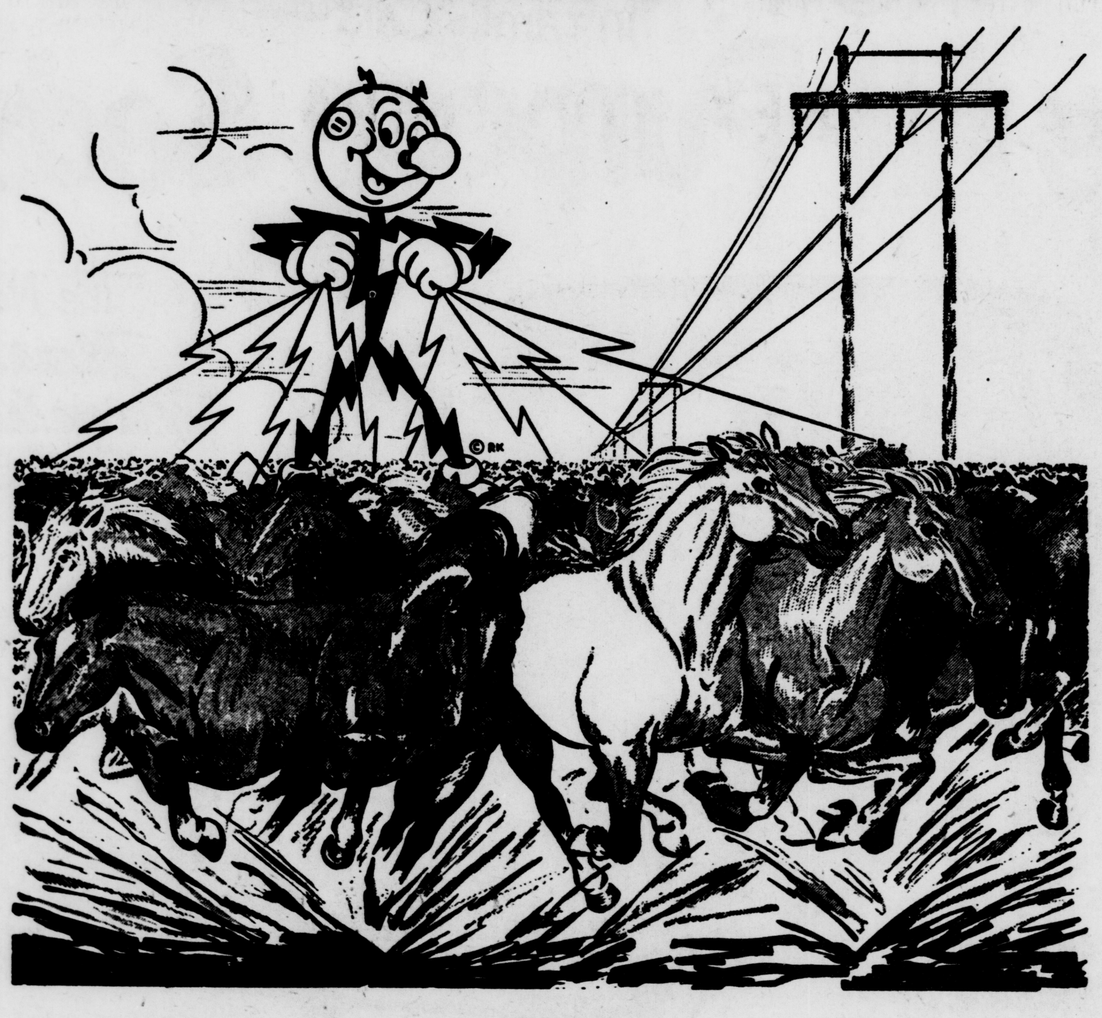
AMERICA'S THUNDERING HERD!



MILLIONS OF HARNESSED HORSES

No wonder the production power of the United States is the envy of the world! Thanks to the businessmen who run America's electric industry, our country has millions of horsepower harnessed to the plants and factories of the nation.

Only last year, ELECTRIC COMPANIES ACROSS THE LAND ADDED POWER EQUAL TO THE WORK OF 150 MILLION MEN! Yes, Reddy Kilowatt Power is all set NOW for our great rearmament effort.

We have 5 TIMES THE ELECTRIC POWER OF RUSSIA, AND 100 TIMES THE ELECTRIC POWER OF CHINA! The electric industry has DOUBLED THE AMOUNT OF ELECTRICITY IN THE PAST TEN YEARS.

Yes, the electric industry is READY!

By FRANK TRIPP

They call their baseball team The Saints and they sit on green benches all up and down the main street, like in front of the old general store. But they're not all saints and they're not all halt and blind down in St. Petersburg, Florida.

The average age of the carpet-baggers who moved in from the North and the visitors who call there annually may be around 75, but the young bloods who keep it from being 90 are just as frisky as they are on the East Coast of the palmettoed peninsula—and so are some of the old-timers.

I stopped by there a couple weeks to find out, and to see the half dozen major league ball teams that make the area their training mecca. If you feel you can survive without the Coney Island sound effects and the syndicated swindle bunnies of the East Coast, there's no reason in the world why you can't have all the fun and sunshine that's good for you around the Tampa Bay region—and you needn't take along a false beard and a crutch to feel that you belong.

TO GET THERE of course you've got to go through much of Florida as is, always was and probably always will be. This land of palms boasts of almost every tropical species, from the common cocoanut variety to the stately Royal. But the palm that most predominates, the one you can't escape, is not listed in any of the horticultural books. It's the itchy palm.

So go prepared to grease it, brother. The extent to which you lubricate the cracker's extended digits will pretty much govern everything you enjoy and get, save suntan. Someday a racketeer may find a way to meter sunshine and the state a way to tax it, but suntan still is free in Florida.

"Keep Florida Green," urges the single license plate on Florida cars. "Keep the Suckers Green," they mean. So I'm going to wise you up. If you're driving that way, keep your eye steadfastly one of two places. On your speedometer or the far side of anything that might hide a skulking collector of shekels from visiting motorists. The cop who picks you up in Florida gets a cut of the bounty and the more Yankee you look, the harder he yanks.

WHEN YOU GET to St. Pete you can have a big time on the 200 or so shuffle board courts, the countless horseshoe pitching lots. You can join up in checkers, chess and domino tournaments, fish your head off; or you can just plain sit on a bench in front of any store and watch the crowd go by. It's a high hat city block that doesn't provide a place to sit down. If you're over 75, you can join the "Over 75" Club and play on a softball team, the "Kids" or the "Cubs."

Don't get scared, you youngsters around 60. When the lights turn on, you'll find places to hide out and perform like a monkey. And you'll find playmates your age there too; dancing and dining—and, glory be, all solvent and able to pay their own way. This last, in comparison, is somewhat the most distinctive feature of the Florida West Coast where even the atmosphere has a feel of stability.

Even there, it's the same two groups of natives you encounter. Those who wish the tourists would go home and those who wish they'd never go. Both of 'em aim to have you go home broke.

Twain Auction Held

Hollywood, April 10 (AP)—A collection of 3,000 of Mark Twain's own books, manuscripts and letters is being auctioned off today. More than 800 persons, including devotees of the great American humorist and professional collectors, attended the opening day of the three-day auction yesterday. Perhaps the largest collection of furnishings and belongings of the writer ever to go on the block is being sold by his sole surviving daughter, Mrs. Clara Clemens Samossoud.

AMERICA'S THUNDERING HERD!

MILLIONS OF HARNESSED HORSES

No wonder the production power of the United States is the envy of the world! Thanks to the businessmen who run America's electric industry, our country has millions of horsepower harnessed to the plants and factories of the nation.

Only last year, ELECTRIC COMPANIES ACROSS THE LAND ADDED POWER EQUAL TO THE WORK OF 150 MILLION MEN! Yes, Reddy Kilowatt Power is all set NOW for our great rearmament effort.

We have 5 TIMES THE ELECTRIC POWER OF RUSSIA, AND 100 TIMES THE ELECTRIC POWER OF CHINA! The electric industry has DOUBLED THE AMOUNT OF ELECTRICITY IN THE PAST TEN YEARS.

Yes, the electric industry is READY!

By FRANK TRIPP

They call their baseball team The Saints and they sit on green benches all up and down the main street, like in front of the old general store. But they're not all saints and they're not all halt and blind down in St. Petersburg, Florida.

The average age of the carpet-baggers who moved in from the North and the visitors who call there annually may be around 75, but the young bloods who keep it from being 90 are just as frisky as they are on the East Coast of the palmettoed peninsula—and so are some of the old-timers.

I stopped by there a couple weeks to find out, and to see the half dozen major league ball teams that make the area their training mecca. If you feel you can survive without the Coney Island sound effects and the syndicated swindle bunnies of the East Coast, there's no reason in the world why you can't have all the fun and sunshine that's good for you around the Tampa Bay region—and you needn't take along a false beard and a crutch to feel that you belong.

TO GET THERE of course you've got to go through much of Florida as is, always was and probably always will be. This land of palms boasts of almost every tropical species, from the common cocoanut variety to the stately Royal. But the palm that most predominates, the one you can't escape, is not listed in any of the horticultural books. It's the itchy palm.

So go prepared to grease it, brother. The extent to which you lubricate the cracker's extended digits will pretty much govern everything you enjoy and get, save suntan. Someday a racketeer may find a way to meter sunshine and the state a way to tax it, but suntan still is free in Florida.

"Keep Florida Green," urges the single license plate on Florida cars. "Keep the Suckers Green," they mean. So I'm going to wise you up. If you're driving that way, keep your eye steadfastly one of two places. On your speedometer or the far side of anything that might hide a skulking collector of shekels from visiting motorists. The cop who picks you up in Florida gets a cut of the bounty and the more Yankee you look, the harder he yanks.

WHEN YOU GET to St. Pete you can have a big time on the 200 or so shuffle board courts, the countless horseshoe pitching lots. You can join up in checkers, chess and domino tournaments, fish your head off; or you can just plain sit on a bench in front of any store and watch the crowd go by. It's a high hat city block that doesn't provide a place to sit down. If you're over 75, you can join the "Over 75" Club and play on a softball team, the "Kids" or the "Cubs."

Don't get scared, you youngsters around 60. When the lights turn on, you'll find places to hide out and perform like a monkey. And you'll find playmates your age there too; dancing and dining—and, glory be, all solvent and able to pay their own way. This last, in comparison, is somewhat the most distinctive feature of the Florida West Coast where even the atmosphere has a feel of stability.

Even there, it's the same two groups of natives you encounter. Those who wish the tourists would go home and those who wish they'd never go. Both of 'em aim to have you go home broke.

Parking Meter Ads Killed by Dewey

Albany, N. Y., April 10 (AP)—Governor Dewey has vetoed two bills that would have permitted municipalities to rent or lease advertising space on parking meters located on state highways.

The state public works superintendent, the state commissioner of taxation and finance and the county officers association objected to the proposals, the Governor said yesterday in killing the legislation.

Several municipalities have placed advertising on meters. Some were authorized to do so under terms of permits issued by the public works department before World War 2. No permits have been issued recently.

However, a department spokesman said yesterday that never had been "clear authority" under existing laws to issue such permits. He noted that all public highway rights of way must be used for the benefit of all.

Auriols Visit Ireland

Shannon, Ireland, April 10 (AP)—France's President Auriol and his wife stopped in Ireland today, on the way home from a state visit in America. A 21-gun salute, a military honor guard and President and Mrs. Sean O'Kelly greeted them at Shannon Airport.

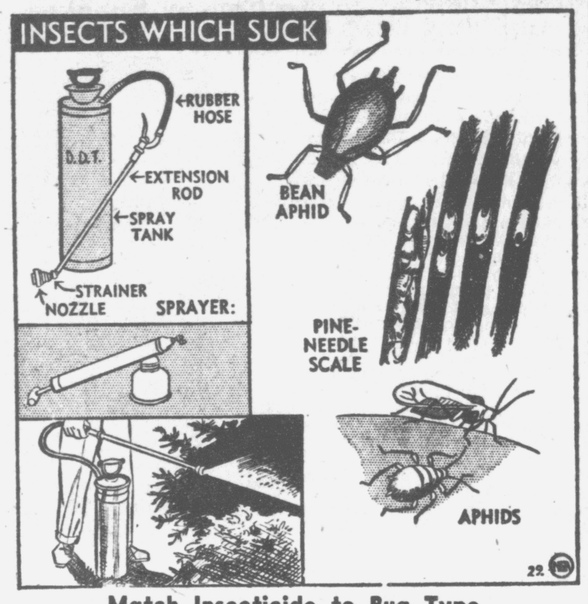
YOUR GARDEN — By Arnold Davis



Match Insecticide to Bug Type

Sucking insects such as aphids, mealy bugs and scales ruin more plants than any other group of pests. The damage is usually fatal before it is noticed.

These pests are controlled by the use of a contact insecticide—one which kills the insect upon touching it. Therefore it must be carefully and correctly used to effect complete control.

The standard recommendations of the United States Department of Agriculture are all contained in Farmers Bulletin No. 2000 on Vegetable Crops. In addition to that, consult your county agent for the best recommendations to use in your neighborhood.

For scale insects in evergreens and trees or shrubs such as lilacs, use an oil emulsion spray when the plants are dormant.

When the plants are in growth use a D.D.T. spray applied with some material such as household detergent.

To use of this type of detergent will insure very complete coverage and definitely control the pests.

Aphids can be controlled with the use of a nicotine spray or with a dust of D.D.T. Aphils will continuously reappear throughout the season and must be controlled whenever they show up.

News of Our Own Service Folks

Kent Is Promoted

James D. Kent, son of George C. Kent of Hurley, has been promoted to the rank of captain in the air force, it was announced today by Headquarters, 33d Fighter-Intereeptor Wing, Otis Air Force Base, Falmouth, Mass.

Captain Kent enlisted in the air force July 30, 1941, at Fort Jay and attended Officer Candidate School at Miami Beach, Fla., where he received his commission December 9, 1942.

He served in the Mediterranean Theatre of Operations with the 12th Air Force from 1943 to the fall of 1945. He was awarded the European - African - Middle East theatre ribbon with two stars, the Victory medal, the World War 2 victory ribbon, the Good Conduct medal and the Occupation ribbon.

He is a graduate of Kingston High School and of Maryville College, Tenn. He was editor-in-chief of the year book at the latter institution.

Recalled to Service

William Fredenburgh of Long Beach, Calif., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fredenburgh, 161 Tremper avenue, has been recalled into active service with the navy. He reported at San Diego March 19 and is now stationed at the Olathe Naval Air Station in Kansas.

Fredenburgh, who is a mechanic, second class, served in World War 2 for five and a half years. He enlisted in 1944.

Cited for Bravery

Richard K. Murdock, 21, a naval medical corpsman, son of Mrs. Olive Hinkey of Johnston City and Harold Murdock, Binghamton, formerly of Kingston, was recently cited for bravery at a ceremony performed at Treasure Island, Calif.

Murdock, a hospitalman attached with the 1st Marine Division in Korea, was awarded the Bronze Star for gallantry in action when he saved the lives of four marines.

According to the citation, the action took place near the Changjin Reservoir in North Korea.

Murdock later became a casualty himself, suffering from frostbite of the feet and hands, and pneumonia. After being hospitalized in Japan he was returned to this country and recently visited his mother for a month in Johnston City. He is presently awaiting further assignment while at Treasure Island.

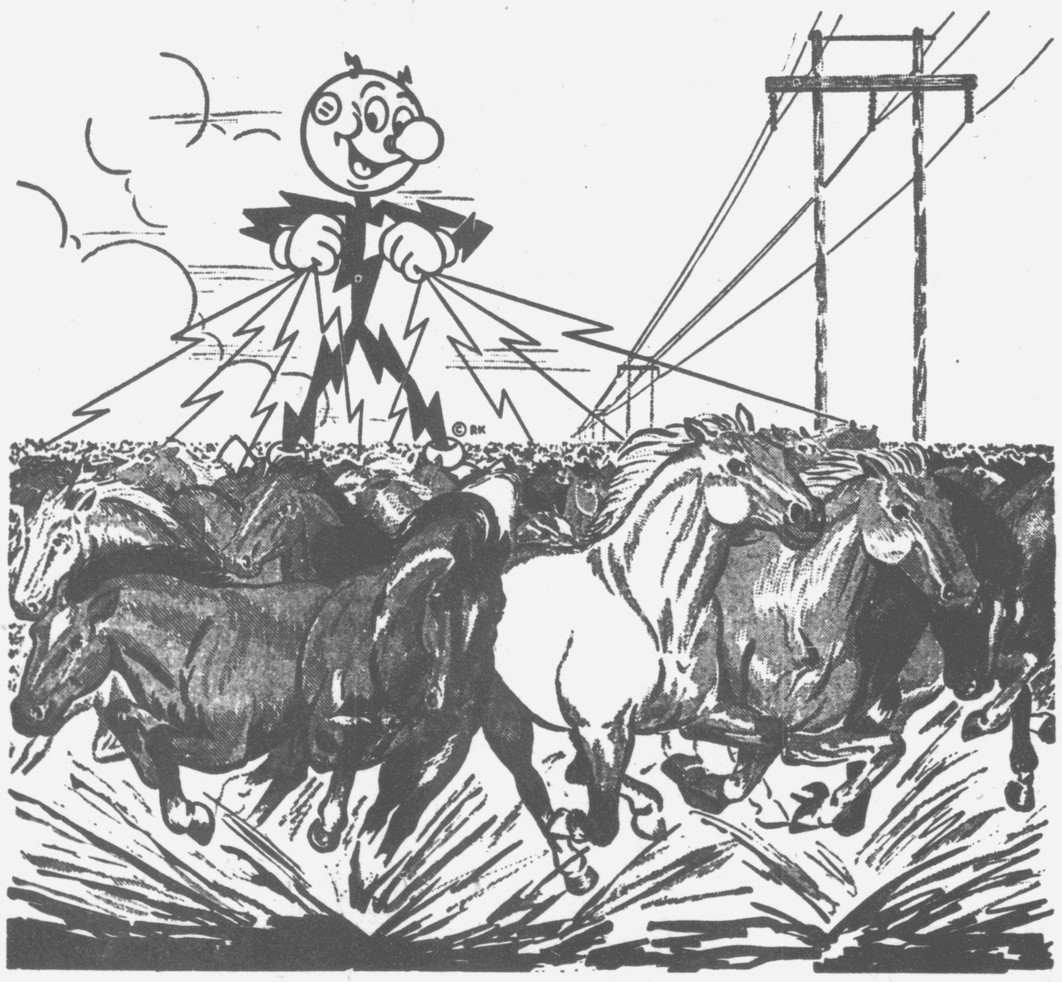
AMERICA'S THUNDERING HERD!



MILLIONS OF HARNESSED HORSES

No wonder the production power of the United States is the envy of the world! Thanks to the businessmen who run America's electric industry, our country has millions of horsepower harnessed to the plants and factories of the nation.

Only last year, ELECTRIC COMPANIES ACROSS THE LAND ADDED POWER EQUAL TO THE WORK OF 150 MILLION MEN! Yes, Reddy Kilowatt Power is all set NOW for our great rearmament effort.

We have 5 TIMES THE ELECTRIC POWER OF RUSSIA, AND 100 TIMES THE ELECTRIC POWER OF CHINA! The electric industry has DOUBLED THE AMOUNT OF ELECTRICITY IN THE PAST TEN YEARS.

Yes, the electric industry is READY!

MYNEX Plan Safe...REDUCES, YET EAT WHAT FOODS YOU CHOOSE

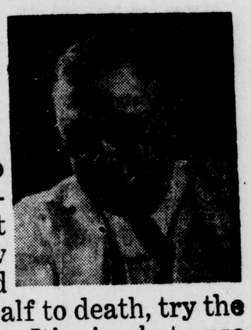
TORONTO, ONTARIO: Not too long ago an amazing new reducer was introduced in Canada. This approved simple and easy reducing success took Canada by storm. Thousands upon thousands of overweight Canadians lost bulging excess pounds and inches and they lost this fat with a full contented stomach . . . without taking dangerous drugs, without exercising!

ACCEPTED AND APPROVED AS SAFEST, SUREST, EASIEST HOME METHOD KNOWN TO MEDICAL WORLD

This sensational reducing plan brought you by MYNEX is so safe it was actually approved for advertising in Canada . . . and is now being offered in the United States on a trial offer so fair it calls for immediate acceptance.

MYNEX Tablets are vitamins and minerals, really condensed foods, and with MYNEX comes the MYNEX Caloric Reduction Regime, directions that say EAT what foods you choose, even reduced portions of food you once thought fattening . . . yet fat goes fast.

WORKS WONDERS FOR FAT FOLKS



If you want to lose that 3 to 5 pounds excess fat you picked up overeating and do it safely and easily in a few days without drugs and without starving yourself half to death, try the new amazing MYNEX Plan. It's simple to use and makes reducing easier than you may have dreamed possible. You eat three meals a day and never starve. Fat goes from chin, neck, bust, stomach, arms, thighs, legs, ankles, etc. . . . yes, fat goes fast . . . as much as a pound a day. So don't be fat when it's fun to reduce the Canadian way with MYNEX Plan.

EAT MYNEX CONCENTRATED VITAMIN MINERAL TABLETS

"Jane sure has let herself go since I've been away. I remember when she used to look so nice in that dress . . . before it got so tight!" . . . "Wonder if John has noticed the extra pounds I've put on. I certainly wish I had lost them before he came home . . . will it make a difference?"

Canadian overeaters who thought reducing methods too hard, too tiring and too nerve-wracking, by the thousands acclaimed new MYNEX as the greatest reducing plan they have had in 25 years! MYNEX tablets are tiny, completely safe, containing identical vitamins and minerals doctors often recommend to fight off tired, weak, rundown feeling due to vitamin and mineral deficiencies when fat comes off too fast.

DON'T BE FAT

Your doctor's recommendation and approval of the NEW MYNEX PLAN is invited. If you are in good health and want to stop getting fat and take off 3 to 5 pounds the first few days, or if you want to lose up to 35 lbs., or even more, get your MYNEX tablets and plan today. It's not too late to take pounds off for fun, pleasure and improved health.

Len Freer Rolls 709 Series, With 264, 214, 231, in City Minor

Mauro's Grill Keglers Clinch League Pennant

Joe Epsteins Pound New Team High

Another unheralded bowler rocketed into the local Hall of Fame last night.

This time it was fire-balling Len Freer, who jarred the rapidly improving City Minor League out of its late season slumber last night with a brilliant 709.

Opening with 264, the bespectacled shirt factory worker who has been prominently identified with the executive end of bowling, didn't stop. He continued to pour in strikes for 214 and 231 for the huge triple which was, of course, the highest in his bowling career.

Freer's blast came in the same league that spawned Big Joe Mahar's big "700" several weeks ago. On that occasion, Big Joe's towering total came upon the local bowling world with the same electrifying suddenness that Freer's 809 was rolled last night.

Mauro's Win Crown

While Freer was rolling his personal all-time high, a worthy band of trundlers from East Kingston — Mauro's Grill — clinched their second successive league pennant. They accomplished the feat with a two-game win over Kingston Knitting.

The Mauro roster includes Captain Joe "Chesty" Mitchell, Dom Clausi, Tom Parker, Frank Nerone and Big Mike "Punkin' Ball" Pugliese.

Epsteins Set High

Joe Epstein's trundlers had their strike shoes on to set a new league triple record of 2841. They were over the "900" three times running with 946, 956 and 939. Here is the boxscore of the record total:

Weishaupt Hits 698 To Pace City League

Pounds Scores of 236, 194 and 268

Larry Weishaupt, who has been somewhat dormant in high scoring circles of late, came within a couple of sticks of another "700" series in last night's City League action between Jake's Grill and Vining & Smith on alleys 7 and 8 at the Central Recs.

Weishaupt's 236-194-268 blast added up to 698 and it was his brilliant pinning that paced Jake's Grill to a 3045 triple.

The Grillmen socked 1110 in the third set, with Weishaupt furnishing 268; George Robinson 180; Ed Murphy 236; Mike Provenzano 247 and Herb Van Deusen 179.

In the 268 game, Weishaupt left the 10-pin standing on a solid pocket shot in the fifth on alley 8. Then on the second ball in the tenth he left the 4-pin on a slightly "high" hit. Out of the pocket only twice in the last 20 frames, he missed three 10-pins in the middle set and piled up 22 strikes.

Howard Blasts 624

Dick Howard was runnerup in the individual department with 202-243—624. Johnny Ferraro shot 228-222—615 and Tom Carlino had 210-205—609.

Other high shooters were Mike Provenzano 247—594; George Robinson 214—591; "Hod" Spaulding 237—587; Eddie Murphy 236—587; and Herb Van Deusen 207—575.

NEW LINE COACH

ROBERT DeFEIS

Robert DeFeis, of 253 West Chestnut street, who was recently appointed line coach for the K.H.S. football squad, replacing Russ Cunningham who was recalled to active duty by the U. S. Navy, is an Army Air Force veteran with 25 combat missions to his credit.

DeFeis, a product of Pleasantville High School when Cunningham was athletic director there, flew his missions over Germany as a bombardier. Upon his return to the states, he became an instructor in B-29s.

He was in service four years.

A native of Newark, N. J., he came to Kingston from Pleasantville. He is a graduate of Ithaca College where he played football under Pete Hatch, former K.H.S. coach.

DeFeis' first assignment in this area was with the Board of Cooperative Educational Services. He served as physical education director with that group for the past two years. He travelled to six local elementary schools, setting up and supervising physical education programs. This was a new program made possible by the forming of the Board of Cooperative Services.

DeFeis assisted Coach Bill Burke's coaching staff with the K.H.S. football squad during the 1950 season.

Casey Gets First Bounce as Yank

Kansas City, April 10 (AP)—Casey Stengel has been thrown out of a game for the first time in his career as manager of the New York Yankees.

Stengel was ejected by Umpire Augie Donatelli of the National League in the third inning of yesterday's game with the Boston Braves at Dallas. The veteran skipper bitterly protested a decision at the plate.

Stengel claimed that Gil McDougald had scored before the Yanks were retired on a non-force double play.

Donatelli didn't agree, and a five-minute chest-to-chest squabble followed before Casey was given the heave-ho.

To make things worse, the Yankees lost, 8-4, and Stengel's best pitcher, Vic Raschi, was soundly battered by the Boston hitters, yielding a dozen hits in seven innings.

Newark—Jimmy Cerollo, 161, Hoboken, N. J., outpointed Tony Amato, 157, Guttenberg, N. J., (8).

Oaks Release Dick Wakefield

Oakland, Calif., April 10 (AP)—Dick Wakefield, a 1941 bonus baby who signed a dollar-a-year contract to play ball with Oakland this season, has been given his outright release by the Pacific Coast League club.

The parting of the ways apparently was by mutual consent.

Wakefield, who left the University of Michigan campus in 1941 to sign with the Detroit Tigers for $52,000, wants to try to land in the major leagues, where his previous career was a stormy one.

"The management of the club has nothing but good feeling toward Wakefield," President Clarence L. (Brick) Laws said. "After a conference with Manager Mel Ott and Dick, it was agreed to give Dick an opportunity to make a deal for himself with a major league club.

"The Oakland baseball club wishes Dick all possible success."

Wakefield had an indifferent season after joining the Oaks as a left fielder last year, he saw action only as a pinch hitter in the early weeks of the current season. He went hitless in five tries.

He said he wanted to continue in baseball, but did not want to play minor league ball until convinced that he cannot land a job in the majors.

He said he plans to contact friends in both major leagues and offer his services on the same $1 contract basis as here — then either make good or get his release.

There appeared, however, to be some question whether such a deal could be arranged, in view of the $5,000 minimum salary rule in the majors.

Vogels Win Independent Bowling Crown But Callanans Hold on to Bitter End

Extra Frame Needed To Settle Pennant

Just how far can you stretch a bowling league's championship playoff?

More than you think, if the Shenanigans between Callanan's and Vogel's Dairy in the Independent League is a criterion.

These two worthy aggregations, who finished in a tie for Independent League honors in the regular season met last night at the Bowlatorium to settle the issue in a best of three games rolloff.

Callanans won the first set, 824 to 739, while Vogel's eked out an 837-831 win in the middle game. That put the heat on for the third and deciding contest.

Grunenwald Hero

Both teams staggered along in a nerve-wracking third set until it came down to the anchor man for Vogel's—Charlie Grunenwald—who drew a 5-7 split in the tenth frame. The stogie-wielding veteran calmly cleaned off the railroad and got sufficient fill to deadlock the teams at 821-821. That sent the playoff into overtime.

Grunenwald's conversion of the 5-7 took the wind out of the Callanan sails and they were no match for Vogel's in the one-frame rolloff prescribed by the rules. This despite a 29-point box by Studt. Gene Vogel picked up 27 sticks for his squad and Grunenwald had 20 to give the new champions 92-76 bulge.

The scoring reflected the tense competition and there were only two "500" triples. Grunenwald anchored the Dairymen with 200-555, while Ed Trombley hit 516 for the runnerup.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Kansas City, April 10 (AP)—About the only thing Casey Stengel had to smile about today was the brilliant play of Joe DiMaggio.

The veteran New York Yankees manager had a tough time yesterday. First, he was tossed out of a game for the first time as skipper of the world champions. Then three of his top players—Phil Rizzuto, Joe Page and Allie Reynolds—were told to report to Johns Hopkins Hospital for examination.

But the play of DiMag—ahhhh! This makes Casey forget everything—well, almost everything. Yesterday, the Yankees' big centerfielder hit two singles in four at bats, driving in two runs while boosting his springtime batting average over the .380 mark.

Two Platoons

Nashville, Tenn., April 10 (AP)—Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants, has decided to use a two-platoon system in right field when the National League season opens next week.

The Giants skipper says he will alternate Don Mueller and Clint Hartung in the rightfield spot. Mueller will bat against right-handers, with Hartung going against the southpaws.

Why Not Give Up

Greensboro, S. C., April 10 (AP)—What's wrong with Rex Barney's pitching?

"Everything," seems about the best answer.

The big righthander was sent out to pitch against Brooklyn's farm club in Asheville, N. C., yesterday, and Barney turned in a sad exhibition as the Dodgers nipped the Class B team, 9-8.

The Brooklyn problem child walked 11 men in three innings. Only five of the 16 men Rex faced had an opporunity to hit the ball, so wild were his tosses.

When asked when Barney would pitch again, Manager Charlie Dressen only muttered, "who knows!"

Sain Against Yanks

Kansas City, April 10 (AP)—Manager Billy Southworth of the Boston Braves will send righthander Johnny Sain against the New York Yankees here today in the middle contest of their three-game traveling series.

The Tribe is cutting down its large squad and yesterday sent players to its Milwaukee farm club in the Class AAA American Association and to the Atlanta farm of the Class AA Southern Association.

The Milwaukee group includes pitchers Bob Chipman, Art Fowler and Ernie Johnson, catcher Paul Burris and infielder Jack Weisenburger. Chipman has torn shoulder muscles and won't be able to throw for 10 days.

To Atlanta went backstop Walt Linden and infielder Jack Dittmer.

Tribe Hurling Spotty

Nashville, Tenn., April 10 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians' pitching staff rates with the best in the majors, but their exhibition game record doesn't show it.

"We have the same trouble every spring, and it always straightens itself out," says Coach Mel Harder, who refuses to fret.

Early Wynn, the Tribe's probable starter in its home opener, gets his next to last practice run today against the homer-slamming New York Giants.

Wynn and Mike Garcia are the only Cleveland hurlers who have started and finished an exhibition game this spring. Each did it last week and won. Bob Lemon, who is to hurl the opener in Detroit, went a full nine innings of Saturday's 11-inning contest.

Bob Feller, who has pitched only one good game in each of the last four training seasons, may uncork the one for this spring in Atlanta tomorrow against the Giants. Bob says he's going to make sure my arm is strong before I cut loose."

Sugar Ray Kayoes Ellis in First

Oklahoma City, April 10 (AP)—Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson floored Don Ellis twice in the first round last night to gain a knockout in their non-title bout.

The champion met Ellis' wild charge with a jarring right to the jaw that sent him to the canvas.

With only 96 seconds gone, Sugar Ray hooked a left to the body that proved to be the knockout punch.

The champion weighed 157, Ellis 168.

It was the second fight in five nights for Robinson, who decisioned Holly Mims of Washington in Miami April 5.

A crowd of 2,991 contributed to a gate of $12,000, 40 per cent of which went to the Edwards Memorial Hospital here.

New Orleans — Jimmy Slade, 172½, New York, and Henry Hall, 173½, New Orleans, drew, (10).

Williams 3-1 Over Pruden

Chicago, April 10 (AP)—Lightweight champion Ike Williams rules a 3-1 favorite to defeat welterweight contender Fritzie Pruden of Toronto, Canada, in a 10-round non-title bout in Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

Williams is expected to weigh 144 pounds to Pruden's 146. After the bout Ike will have to train down to 135 for a defense of his crown against James Carter in New York on May 11.

The New York Boxing Board will continue to recognize Williams as lightweight champion even if the National Boxing Association does not. The NBA is polling its executive committee on a decision whether to vacate the title since Williams failed to defend it by the NBA deadline of March 31.

Federation Meeting

The April meeting of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county will be held on Thursday, April 12, at St. James Hall in Milton under the auspices of the Milton Rod and Gun Club.

Len Freer Rolls 709 Series, With 264, 214, 231, in City Minor

Mauro's Grill Keglers Clinch League Pennant

Joe Epsteins Pound New Team High

Another unheralded bowler rocketed into the local Hall of Fame last night.

This time it was fire-balling Len Freer, who jarred the rapidly improving City Minor League out of its late season slumber last night with a brilliant 709.

Opening with 264, the bespectacled shirt factory worker who has been prominently identified with the executive end of bowling, didn't stop. He continued to pour in strikes for 214 and 231 for the huge triple which was, of course, the highest in his bowling career.

Freer's blast came in the same league that spawned Big Joe Mahar's big "700" several weeks ago. On that occasion, Big Joe's towering total came upon the local bowling world with the same electrifying suddenness that Freer's 809 was rolled last night.

Mauro's Win Crown

While Freer was rolling his personal all-time high, a worthy band of trundlers from East Kingston — Mauro's Grill — clinched their second successive league pennant. They accomplished the feat with a two-game win over Kingston Knitting.

The Mauro roster includes Captain Joe "Chesty" Mitchell, Dom Clausi, Tom Parker, Frank Nerone and Big Mike "Punkin' Ball" Pugliese.

Epsteins Set High

Joe Epstein's trundlers had their strike shoes on to set a new league triple record of 2841. They were over the "900" three times running with 946, 956 and 939. Here is the boxscore of the record total:

Pounds Scores of 236, 194 and 268

Larry Weishaupt, who has been somewhat dormant in high scoring circles of late, came within a couple of sticks of another "700" series in last night's City League action between Jake's Grill and Vining & Smith on alleys 7 and 8 at the Central Recs.

Weishaupt's 236-194-268 blast added up to 698 and it was his brilliant pinning that paced Jake's Grill to a 3045 triple.

The Grillmen socked 1110 in the third set, with Weishaupt furnishing 268; George Robinson 180; Ed Murphy 236; Mike Provenzano 247 and Herb Van Deusen 179.

In the 268 game, Weishaupt left the 10-pin standing on a solid pocket shot in the fifth on alley 8. Then on the second ball in the tenth he left the 4-pin on a slightly "high" hit. Out of the pocket only twice in the last 20 frames, he missed three 10-pins in the middle set and piled up 22 strikes.

Howard Blasts 624

Dick Howard was runnerup in the individual department with 202-243—624. Johnny Ferraro shot 228-222—615 and Tom Carlino had 210-205—609.

Other high shooters were Mike Provenzano 247—594; George Robinson 214—591; "Hod" Spaulding 237—587; Eddie Murphy 236—587; and Herb Van Deusen 207—575.

Oaks Release Dick Wakefield

Oakland, Calif., April 10 (AP)—Dick Wakefield, a 1941 bonus baby who signed a dollar-a-year contract to play ball with Oakland this season, has been given his outright release by the Pacific Coast League club.

The parting of the ways apparently was by mutual consent.

Wakefield, who left the University of Michigan campus in 1941 to sign with the Detroit Tigers for $52,000, wants to try to land in the major leagues, where his previous career was a stormy one.

"The management of the club has nothing but good feeling toward Wakefield," President Clarence L. (Brick) Laws said. "After a conference with Manager Mel Ott and Dick, it was agreed to give Dick an opportunity to make a deal for himself with a major league club.

"The Oakland baseball club wishes Dick all possible success."

Wakefield had an indifferent season after joining the Oaks as a left fielder last year, he saw action only as a pinch hitter in the early weeks of the current season. He went hitless in five tries.

He said he wanted to continue in baseball, but did not want to play minor league ball until convinced that he cannot land a job in the majors.

He said he plans to contact friends in both major leagues and offer his services on the same $1 contract basis as here — then either make good or get his release.

There appeared, however, to be some question whether such a deal could be arranged, in view of the $5,000 minimum salary rule in the majors.

NEW LINE COACH

ROBERT DeFEIS

Robert DeFeis, of 253 West Chestnut street, who was recently appointed line coach for the K.H.S. football squad, replacing Russ Cunningham who was recalled to active duty by the U. S. Navy, is an Army Air Force veteran with 25 combat missions to his credit.

DeFeis, a product of Pleasantville High School when Cunningham was athletic director there, flew his missions over Germany as a bombardier. Upon his return to the states, he became an instructor in B-29s.

He was in service four years.

A native of Newark, N. J., he came to Kingston from Pleasantville. He is a graduate of Ithaca College where he played football under Pete Hatch, former K.H.S. coach.

DeFeis' first assignment in this area was with the Board of Cooperative Educational Services. He served as physical education director with that group for the past two years. He travelled to six local elementary schools, setting up and supervising physical education programs. This was a new program made possible by the forming of the Board of Cooperative Services.

DeFeis assisted Coach Bill Burke's coaching staff with the K.H.S. football squad during the 1950 season.

Casey Gets First Bounce as Yank

Kansas City, April 10 (AP)—Casey Stengel has been thrown out of a game for the first time in his career as manager of the New York Yankees.

Stengel was ejected by Umpire Augie Donatelli of the National League in the third inning of yesterday's game with the Boston Braves at Dallas. The veteran skipper bitterly protested a decision at the plate.

Stengel claimed that Gil McDougald had scored before the Yanks were retired on a non-force double play.

Donatelli didn't agree, and a five-minute chest-to-chest squabble followed before Casey was given the heave-ho.

To make things worse, the Yankees lost, 8-4, and Stengel's best pitcher, Vic Raschi, was soundly battered by the Boston hitters, yielding a dozen hits in seven innings.

Newark—Jimmy Cerollo, 161, Hoboken, N. J., outpointed Tony Amato, 157, Guttenberg, N. J., (8).

Vogels Win Independent Bowling Crown But Callanans Hold on to Bitter End

Extra Frame Needed To Settle Pennant

Just how far can you stretch a bowling league's championship playoff?

More than you think, if the Shenanigans between Callanan's and Vogel's Dairy in the Independent League is a criterion.

These two worthy aggregations, who finished in a tie for Independent League honors in the regular season met last night at the Bowlatorium to settle the issue in a best of three games rolloff.

Callanans won the first set, 824 to 739, while Vogel's eked out an 837-831 win in the middle game. That put the heat on for the third and deciding contest.

Grunenwald Hero

Both teams staggered along in a nerve-wracking third set until it came down to the anchor man for Vogel's—Charlie Grunenwald—who drew a 5-7 split in the tenth frame. The stogie-wielding veteran calmly cleaned off the railroad and got sufficient fill to deadlock the teams at 821-821. That sent the playoff into overtime.

Grunenwald's conversion of the 5-7 took the wind out of the Callanan sails and they were no match for Vogel's in the one-frame rolloff prescribed by the rules. This despite a 29-point box by Studt. Gene Vogel picked up 27 sticks for his squad and Grunenwald had 20 to give the new champions 92-76 bulge.

The scoring reflected the tense competition and there were only two "500" triples. Grunenwald anchored the Dairymen with 200-555, while Ed Trombley hit 516 for the runnerup.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Kansas City, April 10 (AP)—About the only thing Casey Stengel had to smile about today was the brilliant play of Joe DiMaggio.

The veteran New York Yankees manager had a tough time yesterday. First, he was tossed out of a game for the first time as skipper of the world champions. Then three of his top players—Phil Rizzuto, Joe Page and Allie Reynolds—were told to report to Johns Hopkins Hospital for examination.

But the play of DiMag—ahhhh! This makes Casey forget everything—well, almost everything. Yesterday, the Yankees' big centerfielder hit two singles in four at bats, driving in two runs while boosting his springtime batting average over the .380 mark.

Two Platoons

Nashville, Tenn., April 10 (AP)—Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants, has decided to use a two-platoon system in right field when the National League season opens next week.

The Giants skipper says he will alternate Don Mueller and Clint Hartung in the rightfield spot. Mueller will bat against right-handers, with Hartung going against the southpaws.

Why Not Give Up

Greensboro, S. C., April 10 (AP)—What's wrong with Rex Barney's pitching?

"Everything," seems about the best answer.

The big righthander was sent out to pitch against Brooklyn's farm club in Asheville, N. C., yesterday, and Barney turned in a sad exhibition as the Dodgers nipped the Class B team, 9-8.

The Brooklyn problem child walked 11 men in three innings. Only five of the 16 men Rex faced had an opporunity to hit the ball, so wild were his tosses.

When asked when Barney would pitch again, Manager Charlie Dressen only muttered, "who knows!"

Sain Against Yanks

Kansas City, April 10 (AP)—Manager Billy Southworth of the Boston Braves will send righthander Johnny Sain against the New York Yankees here today in the middle contest of their three-game traveling series.

The Tribe is cutting down its large squad and yesterday sent players to its Milwaukee farm club in the Class AAA American Association and to the Atlanta farm of the Class AA Southern Association.

The Milwaukee group includes pitchers Bob Chipman, Art Fowler and Ernie Johnson, catcher Paul Burris and infielder Jack Weisenburger. Chipman has torn shoulder muscles and won't be able to throw for 10 days.

To Atlanta went backstop Walt Linden and infielder Jack Dittmer.

Tribe Hurling Spotty

Nashville, Tenn., April 10 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians' pitching staff rates with the best in the majors, but their exhibition game record doesn't show it.

"We have the same trouble every spring, and it always straightens itself out," says Coach Mel Harder, who refuses to fret.

Early Wynn, the Tribe's probable starter in its home opener, gets his next to last practice run today against the homer-slamming New York Giants.

Wynn and Mike Garcia are the only Cleveland hurlers who have started and finished an exhibition game this spring. Each did it last week and won. Bob Lemon, who is to hurl the opener in Detroit, went a full nine innings of Saturday's 11-inning contest.

Bob Feller, who has pitched only one good game in each of the last four training seasons, may uncork the one for this spring in Atlanta tomorrow against the Giants. Bob says he's going to make sure my arm is strong before I cut loose."

Sugar Ray Kayoes Ellis in First

Oklahoma City, April 10 (AP)—Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson floored Don Ellis twice in the first round last night to gain a knockout in their non-title bout.

The champion met Ellis' wild charge with a jarring right to the jaw that sent him to the canvas.

With only 96 seconds gone, Sugar Ray hooked a left to the body that proved to be the knockout punch.

The champion weighed 157, Ellis 168.

It was the second fight in five nights for Robinson, who decisioned Holly Mims of Washington in Miami April 5.

A crowd of 2,991 contributed to a gate of $12,000, 40 per cent of which went to the Edwards Memorial Hospital here.

New Orleans — Jimmy Slade, 172½, New York, and Henry Hall, 173½, New Orleans, drew, (10).

Washington — Jimmy Cooper, 126, Washington, and Leo Le Brun, 124, Brooklyn, drew, (10).

Williams 3-1 Over Pruden

Chicago, April 10 (AP)—Lightweight champion Ike Williams rules a 3-1 favorite to defeat welterweight contender Fritzie Pruden of Toronto, Canada, in a 10-round non-title bout in Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

Williams is expected to weigh 144 pounds to Pruden's 146. After the bout Ike will have to train down to 135 for a defense of his crown against James Carter in New York on May 11.

The New York Boxing Board will continue to recognize Williams as lightweight champion even if the National Boxing Association does not. The NBA is polling its executive committee on a decision whether to vacate the title since Williams failed to defend it by the NBA deadline of March 31.

Federation Meeting

The April meeting of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county will be held on Thursday, April 12, at St. James Hall in Milton under the auspices of the Milton Rod and Gun Club.

Len Freer Rolls 709 Series, With 264, 214, 231, in City Minor

Mauro's Grill Keglers Clinch League Pennant

Joe Epsteins Pound New Team High

Another unheralded bowler rocketed into the local Hall of Fame last night.

This time it was fire-balling Len Freer, who jarred the rapidly improving City Minor League out of its late season slumber last night with a brilliant 709.

Opening with 264, the bespectacled shirt factory worker who has been prominently identified with the executive end of bowling, didn't stop. He continued to pour in strikes for 214 and 231 for the huge triple which was, of course, the highest in his bowling career.

Freer's blast came in the same league that spawned Big Joe Mahar's big "700" several weeks ago. On that occasion, Big Joe's towering total came upon the local bowling world with the same electrifying suddenness that Freer's 809 was rolled last night.

Mauro's Win Crown

While Freer was rolling his personal all-time high, a worthy band of trundlers from East Kingston — Mauro's Grill — clinched their second successive league pennant. They accomplished the feat with a two-game win over Kingston Knitting.

The Mauro roster includes Captain Joe "Chesty" Mitchell, Dom Clausi, Tom Parker, Frank Nerone and Big Mike "Punkin' Ball" Pugliese.

Epsteins Set High

Joe Epstein's trundlers had their strike shoes on to set a new league triple record of 2841. They were over the "900" three times running with 946, 956 and 939. Here is the boxscore of the record total:

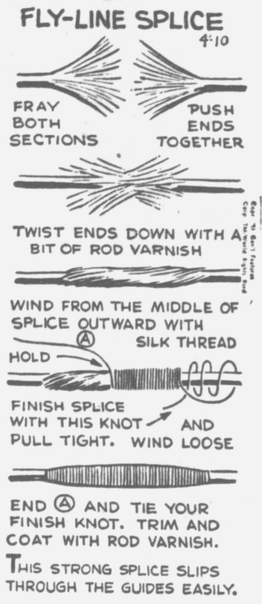
Weishaupt Hits 698 To Pace City League

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST By hal sharp



Pounds Scores of 236, 194 and 268

Larry Weishaupt, who has been somewhat dormant in high scoring circles of late, came within a couple of sticks of another "700" series in last night's City League action between Jake's Grill and Vining & Smith on alleys 7 and 8 at the Central Recs.

Weishaupt's 236-194-268 blast added up to 698 and it was his brilliant pinning that paced Jake's Grill to a 3045 triple.

The Grillmen socked 1110 in the third set, with Weishaupt furnishing 268; George Robinson 180; Ed Murphy 236; Mike Provenzano 247 and Herb Van Deusen 179.

In the 268 game, Weishaupt left the 10-pin standing on a solid pocket shot in the fifth on alley 8. Then on the second ball in the tenth he left the 4-pin on a slightly "high" hit. Out of the pocket only twice in the last 20 frames, he missed three 10-pins in the middle set and piled up 22 strikes.

Howard Blasts 624

Dick Howard was runnerup in the individual department with 202-243—624. Johnny Ferraro shot 228-222—615 and Tom Carlino had 210-205—609.

Other high shooters were Mike Provenzano 247—594; George Robinson 214—591; "Hod" Spaulding 237—587; Eddie Murphy 236—587; and Herb Van Deusen 207—575.

Oaks Release Dick Wakefield

Oakland, Calif., April 10 (AP)—Dick Wakefield, a 1941 bonus baby who signed a dollar-a-year contract to play ball with Oakland this season, has been given his outright release by the Pacific Coast League club.

The parting of the ways apparently was by mutual consent.

Wakefield, who left the University of Michigan campus in 1941 to sign with the Detroit Tigers for $52,000, wants to try to land in the major leagues, where his previous career was a stormy one.

"The management of the club has nothing but good feeling toward Wakefield," President Clarence L. (Brick) Laws said. "After a conference with Manager Mel Ott and Dick, it was agreed to give Dick an opportunity to make a deal for himself with a major league club.

"The Oakland baseball club wishes Dick all possible success."

Wakefield had an indifferent season after joining the Oaks as a left fielder last year, he saw action only as a pinch hitter in the early weeks of the current season. He went hitless in five tries.

He said he wanted to continue in baseball, but did not want to play minor league ball until convinced that he cannot land a job in the majors.

He said he plans to contact friends in both major leagues and offer his services on the same $1 contract basis as here — then either make good or get his release.

There appeared, however, to be some question whether such a deal could be arranged, in view of the $5,000 minimum salary rule in the majors.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Kansas City, April 10 (AP)—About the only thing Casey Stengel had to smile about today was the brilliant play of Joe DiMaggio.

The veteran New York Yankees manager had a tough time yesterday. First, he was tossed out of a game for the first time as skipper of the world champions. Then three of his top players—Phil Rizzuto, Joe Page and Allie Reynolds—were told to report to Johns Hopkins Hospital for examination.

But the play of DiMag—ahhhh! This makes Casey forget everything—well, almost everything. Yesterday, the Yankees' big centerfielder hit two singles in four at bats, driving in two runs while boosting his springtime batting average over the .380 mark.

Two Platoons

Nashville, Tenn., April 10 (AP)—Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants, has decided to use a two-platoon system in right field when the National League season opens next week.

The Giants skipper says he will alternate Don Mueller and Clint Hartung in the rightfield spot. Mueller will bat against right-handers, with Hartung going against the southpaws.

Why Not Give Up

Greensboro, S. C., April 10 (AP)—What's wrong with Rex Barney's pitching?

"Everything," seems about the best answer.

The big righthander was sent out to pitch against Brooklyn's farm club in Asheville, N. C., yesterday, and Barney turned in a sad exhibition as the Dodgers nipped the Class B team, 9-8.

The Brooklyn problem child walked 11 men in three innings. Only five of the 16 men Rex faced had an opporunity to hit the ball, so wild were his tosses.

When asked when Barney would pitch again, Manager Charlie Dressen only muttered, "who knows!"

Sain Against Yanks

Kansas City, April 10 (AP)—Manager Billy Southworth of the Boston Braves will send righthander Johnny Sain against the New York Yankees here today in the middle contest of their three-game traveling series.

The Tribe is cutting down its large squad and yesterday sent players to its Milwaukee farm club in the Class AAA American Association and to the Atlanta farm of the Class AA Southern Association.

The Milwaukee group includes pitchers Bob Chipman, Art Fowler and Ernie Johnson, catcher Paul Burris and infielder Jack Weisenburger. Chipman has torn shoulder muscles and won't be able to throw for 10 days.

To Atlanta went backstop Walt Linden and infielder Jack Dittmer.

Tribe Hurling Spotty

Nashville, Tenn., April 10 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians' pitching staff rates with the best in the majors, but their exhibition game record doesn't show it.

"We have the same trouble every spring, and it always straightens itself out," says Coach Mel Harder, who refuses to fret.

Early Wynn, the Tribe's probable starter in its home opener, gets his next to last practice run today against the homer-slamming New York Giants.

Wynn and Mike Garcia are the only Cleveland hurlers who have started and finished an exhibition game this spring. Each did it last week and won. Bob Lemon, who is to hurl the opener in Detroit, went a full nine innings of Saturday's 11-inning contest.

Bob Feller, who has pitched only one good game in each of the last four training seasons, may uncork the one for this spring in Atlanta tomorrow against the Giants. Bob says he's going to make sure my arm is strong before I cut loose."

Sugar Ray Kayoes Ellis in First

Oklahoma City, April 10 (AP)—Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson floored Don Ellis twice in the first round last night to gain a knockout in their non-title bout.

The champion met Ellis' wild charge with a jarring right to the jaw that sent him to the canvas.

With only 96 seconds gone, Sugar Ray hooked a left to the body that proved to be the knockout punch.

The champion weighed 157, Ellis 168.

It was the second fight in five nights for Robinson, who decisioned Holly Mims of Washington in Miami April 5.

A crowd of 2,991 contributed to a gate of $12,000, 40 per cent of which went to the Edwards Memorial Hospital here.

New Orleans — Jimmy Slade, 172½, New York, and Henry Hall, 173½, New Orleans, drew, (10).

Washington — Jimmy Cooper, 126, Washington, and Leo Le Brun, 124, Brooklyn, drew, (10).

Williams 3-1 Over Pruden

Chicago, April 10 (AP)—Lightweight champion Ike Williams rules a 3-1 favorite to defeat welterweight contender Fritzie Pruden of Toronto, Canada, in a 10-round non-title bout in Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

Williams is expected to weigh 144 pounds to Pruden's 146. After the bout Ike will have to train down to 135 for a defense of his crown against James Carter in New York on May 11.

The New York Boxing Board will continue to recognize Williams as lightweight champion even if the National Boxing Association does not. The NBA is polling its executive committee on a decision whether to vacate the title since Williams failed to defend it by the NBA deadline of March 31.

Federation Meeting

The April meeting of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county will be held on Thursday, April 12, at St. James Hall in Milton under the auspices of the Milton Rod and Gun Club.

Bowling Scores

Attention Secretaries: According to American Bowling Congress and K B.A. city association rules, all bowling league secretaries must furnish the association with a complete summary of individual averages, standings and records at the end of the season. If your league has already completed its schedule and you have not filed such averages, kindly do so at once.

Rose Schatzel continued to find the pocket in steady fashion, piling up a 605 triple on games of 216, 212 and 177 in a postponed match in the Ferraro Mixed League.

Then in the regular bowling for the league, she again led the pack with 555. She hit for solos of 191, 197 and 167. H. Schussler pounded 214—547 for the runnerup slot; Fred Schussler had 545; Len Freer 214—521; Jake Chichelsky 226—514; Tillie Hasbrouck 506; John Bechtold 503; Rudy Hohenberger 493; Ed Schussler 487; Tony La Rocca 483; W. Lawrence 474 and D. Strubel 464.

Dorothea Walthery of New Paltz led the B.Y.A. keglerettes with 170-147-149—466 on the Bowlodrome drives, while Nell Glennon posted 443 and Nellie Alverson shot 434. Other top scorers included Emma Pratt 431; Mary Coniglio 412 and Ruth Senor 400.

Joe Singer found the pocket steadily for a 567 triple in the Good Neighbor circuit at the Bowlatorium. He fashioned solos of 204-183-180, while Meyer Basch was runnerup with 552. Mitzie Arlensky had 233—546; Murray Greene 541; Anton Werbalowsky 535; Lou Kantrowitz 525; Jack Blinder 524; Larry Jacobs 520; Herm Arlensky and J. Svirsky (205)—513; Ben Marcus 512; Al Heisman 509 and Jack Scheinvold 214—502.

Dot Rawding took over scoring honors in the Women's Major League with a 144-214-177—535 last night, while Winnie Overfield produced one of the best triples of the season—151-200-179—530.

Also of note were Rose Schatzel's 204—506; Ada Markle 500; Elizabeth Bruck 498; Betty Bailey 499; Mary Wyant 498; Grace Wojciechowski and Elizabeth Schoonmaker 491; Beverly Port 223—490; Eleanor Singer 487 and Rita La Rocca 201—479.

Joe Messinger, who is readying himself for a big baseball season in the City League, sandwiched a 166 with 212 and 235 for a rousing 615 triple in last night's session of the Tavern Association League at the Bowlatorium.

Had DeGraff finished strongly with 225—573; Jack Doyle shot 558; H. Schussler 556; Bill Pieper 212—555; I. Basch 206—554; B. Smith 214—552; J. Fatum 548; George Kuriger 543; Bun Rourke 541; Fred Schussler 202—538; Bill Ball 522; Pres Knight 519; Eddie Esposito 506 and George Magley 503.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

According to the grapevine, the week-end sojourn of Kingston's small army of male keglers was somewhat of an artistic failure, but a social success unprecedented in local bowling annals. At a late hour today, we were still trying to identify the trundler who won the handicap singles sweeper in the corridors of the Mark Twain Hotel.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

The city may have a future Vic Scott or Don Whitfield in Cliff Miller, son of Harvey "Chic" Miller, former bowling ace who is in the outboard motor business. The Millers have a pair of Class A and D outboards and plan to compete in several events leading up to the annual Albany-to-New York outboard marathon in September. They will, of course, show in the Kingston Power Boat Association's annual regatta on the Rondout in July. Their first appearance will be in the Germantown-Hudson races which generally launch the area season. Format of the "Driftwood Derby" has been changed this season and the race will be restricted to hydroplanes. In order to qualify, a pilot must accumulate a minimum number of points in sanctioned races staged before the Albany marathon. Both father and son are extremely enthusiastic about their racing prospects.

Applications pouring in to Ad Jones, general manager, and Manager Hank Camelli of the Colonials for the spring training sessions which get under way on April 15 at municipal stadium. Meanwhile, the Oneonta Red Sox, a Boston American League farm, is drilling daily at Ocala, Fla., where Manager Owen Scheetz has 50 players under scrutiny. The Oneonta club will head north on April 25 or 26. The Rome Colonels have announced the sale of veteran outfielder, Bill Booker, to Auburn of the Border League. Booker was with Rome for five years and had served a six-week term as manager last season, before Emil Gall, ex-Colonial pilot took over. He batted .356 in 1946 and was selected to the all-star squad. A survey compiled by N. W. Ayer and Son, Co., an advertising agency, reveals the figure of 1005 stations scheduled to broadcast baseball games this season, both major and minor leagues. This is an increase of at least 200 over last season and 600 over two years ago. Obviously, organized baseball does not fear any detrimental effects of radio broadcasting. TV is the menace, not radio.

• The Nineteenth Hole:

Lloyd Mangrum, 1946 U. S. Open golf champion, will defend his title in the Palm Beach Invitation tournament at Wykagyl in New Rochelle on June 7-10, inclusive, according to word from Harold "Jug" McSpaden, the tournament director. This tournament is an annual must for Father Henry E. Herdegen, Alex Gerlak, Ralph Herdegen and yours truly. The 16th hole at Wykagyl, a course built by the late Lawrence Van Etten of Kingston before the turn of the century, is rated by the pros as the toughest par-3 hole in the United States. . . . Wiltwyck Golf Club has named several of its live wire members to head key committees for the 1951 season. Art Organtini will serve as general chairman of the entertainment committee. Bill Schaffrick and Ike Trowbridge are co-chairmen of special events and dances; Stan Hankinson heads the Greens and Fairways committee; Art Jansen, the artful divot digger, is chairman of the House and Grounds and Jim Winters, who specializes in par fives on the No. 8 hole, is head of the publicity committee. The important handicap and tournament committee is headed by Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., who did a magnificent job in 1950. Twaalfskill chairmen will be announced in a few days.

Floyd Flint, the brick tycoon, and the department lost out on a sure-thing filet mignon steak or frog's legs when Charlie Streib, the Rosendale bon vivant, closed his popular gourmet's rendezvous—The Igloo—to devote his time to a new defense industry. This was to have been a three-cornered match, on a loser-pay-all basis.

Charlie Vogel and Gus Schrowang among golf's early puddle jumpers this season. What's Vogel doing, ganging up on Charlie Gaffney so early in the season?

Will Hold Meeting

Members of the board of directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce will hold a regular meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Among the items for discussion will be a proposal to help the Kingston Bowling Association obtain for this city the 1952 New York State Bowling Association tournament. Selection of the 1952 tournament site will be made by delegates at Elmira on Saturday.

Three Aces Are Sent To Johns Hopkins

Page, the Yankees' brilliant relief pitcher of 1949 was a disappointment last year, but before arm trouble popped up this spring, he flashed his old form.

Reynolds, a 16-game winner last season, hasn't been able to do much at all this spring because of his arm.

Rizzuto, the American League's most valuable player, said he didn't think his injury was serious.

"I expect to be on hand opening day," he said last night.

Rizzuto said he hurt his side playing and yesterday when he tried batting practice "it was a little bad."

But he insisted, "it's nothing serious. I'll be Okeh"

The three players were to leave here today by plane (2 p. m. CST) and expect to arrive at Baltimore, Md., tonight (10:30 p. m. CST).

Rizzuto, who hit .324 last season, was given an orthopedic belt to wear.

Rizzuto Confident

The Yankees start defense of their world's championship next Monday in Washington. Without Reynolds they have only two regular starting pitchers—Vic Raschi and Ed Lopat.

Page and Reynolds could not be reached for comment on their injuries.

Rizzuto did not appear worried over his injury and tried to brush it off.

But if he and Reynolds are not ready to go when the season starts, it will undoubtedly hurt the Yankees, figured to battle for the title with Cleveland and Boston's powerful Red Sox.

First Shad Catch

The first shad catch of the season was reported yesterday at the Eddyville falls by Mr. and Mrs. John Woods of Walden. It was a 16-inch specimen.

Proving That Old Habits Don't Shake Easily, AP Selector Names Bosox

New York, April 10 (AP)—No Red Sox. No Red Sox. No Red Sox. Not even if they get Joe DiMaggio, Bob Lemon and Vic Raschi. You swore off for keeps last September.

But that was seven months ago. With opening day a week off, the old craving returns, Giving up the Red Sox is tougher than cuttng out cigarettes. That power. That new pitching. That Fenway Park. How can they lose?

The Amercan League shapes up like a three-club race with Boston, New York and Cleveland in the thick of it. Detroit, off to a bad spring start, does not impress as a pennant contender.

Here's the way it looks from here:

1. Boston Red Sox
2. New York Yankees
3. Cleveland Indians
4. Detroit Tigers
5. Washington Senators
6. Chicago White Sox
7. St. Louis Browns
8. Philadelphia A's

Most Improved

Boston figures the most improved club with the addition of Lou Boudreau, Bill Wight and Ray Scarborough, three front line regulars. The Sox gave up a good right fielder, a veteran pitcher and a rookie.

Boudreau is the "take charge guy" the Sox lacked. Signed as a utility man, the ex-Cleveland manager elbowed into the shortstop job when Vern Stephens was injured. On Stephens return, he moved to third base, benching Johnny Pesky.

The inspirational value of Boudreau could be what the satisfied, well-paid Sox need most. Lack of driving will to win has been conspicuous in their failures.

With Boudreau's bat aimed at the convenient left field wall, winning at Fenway Park should be easier than ever. They won 55 of 77 at home last season.

Beating the Yankees has been Boston's main problem. Their front line pitching has not been good enough to stop Joe DiMaggio and Hank Bauer, in particular. Addition of Wight and Scarborough figure to help plenty. Wight, an ex-Yank, pitched fine ball against them for Chicago. Scarborough, sharp this spring, pitches consistently good ball although his lifetme record is only 3-10 against New York.

The injury to first baseman Walt Dropo may result in another stuttering start by the Sox although Manager Steve O'Neill has handyman Billy Goodman to fill in.

There will be no delay in the Boston-New York test with the Sox slated to open with a three-day stand at Yankee Stadium April 17.

Yanks Creaking (?)

All you hear about the Yanks are raves on Mickey Mantle, the kid phenom who is going to take Joe DiMaggio's place some day but DiMaggo still is Mr. Big on the world champs. Hank Bauer figures to be better yet and that deadly double pay combination of Phil Rizzuto and Jerry Coleman will be intact. However, Phil has been troubled by injures.

It remains to be seen whether Casey Stengel has come up with a replacement for Whitey Ford on his pitching staff. Vic Raschi, Ed Lopat and Allie Reynolds form a strong nucleus although Reynolds has arm trouble.

Doubt about the ability of DiMaggio and Johnny Mize to play every day clouds the picture despite encouraging reports about rookies Tom Morgan, Gil McDougald and Mantle.

Cleveland has great potential that unfortunately seems to run up a dead end street each year in late summer. Early Wynn, Bob Lemon, Bobby Feller and Mike Garcia top the league's pitchers in effectiveness. Steve Gromek is a capable No. 5.

With Larry Doby, Luke Easter and Al Rosen to power the ball and the new Ray Boone-Bobby Avila infield combination starting its first full year, the tribe looks rough. Remember, they finished only six games out last fall.

Bowling Scores

Attention Secretaries: According to American Bowling Congress and K.B.A. city association rules, all bowling league secretaries must furnish the association with a complete summary of individual averages, standings and records at the end of the season. If your league has already completed its schedule and you have not filed such averages, kindly do so at once.

Rose Schatzel continued to find the pocket in steady fashion, piling up a 605 triple on games of 218, 212 and 177 in a postponed match in the Ferraro Mixed League.

Then in the regular bowling for the league, she again led the pack with 555. She hit for solos of 191, 197 and 167. H. Schussler pounded 214—547 for the runnerup slot; Fred Schussler had 545; Len Freer 214—521; Jake Chichelsky 226—514; Tillie Hasbrouck 506; John Bechtold 503; Rudy Hohenberger 493; Ed Schussler 487; Tony La Rocca 483; W. Lawrence 474 and D. Strubel 464.

Dorothea Walthery of New Paltz led the B.Y.A. keglerettes with 170-147-149—466 on the Bowlodrome drives, while Nell Glennon posted 443 and Nellie Alverson shot 434. Other top scorers included Emma Pratt 431; Mary Coniglio 412 and Ruth Senor 400.

Joe Singer found the pocket steadily for a 567 triple in the Good Neighbor circuit at the Bowlatorium. He fashioned solos of 204-183-180, while Meyer Basch was runnerup with 552. Mitzie Arlensky had 233—546; Murray Greene 541; Anton Werbalowsky 535; Lou Kantrowitz 525; Jack Blinder 524; Larry Jacobs 520; Herm Arlensky and J. Svirsky (205)—513; Ben Marcus 512; Al Heisman 509 and Jack Scheinvold 214—502.

Dot Rawding took over scoring honors in the Women's Major League with a 144-214-177—535 last night, while Winnie Overfield produced one of the best triples of the season—151-200-179—530.

Also of note were Rose Schatzel's 204—506; Ada Markle 500; Elizabeth Bruck 498; Betty Bailey 499; Mary Wyant 498; Grace Wojciechowski and Elizabeth Schoonmaker 491; Beverly Port 223—490; Eleanor Singer 487 and Rita La Rocca 201—479.

Joe Messinger, who is readying himself for a big baseball season in the City League, sandwiched a 166 with 212 and 235 for a rousing 615 triple in last night's session of the Tavern Association League at the Bowlatorium.

Had DeGraff finished strongly with 225—573; Jack Doyle shot 558; H. Schussler 556; Bill Pieper 212—555; I. Basch 206—554; B. Smith 214—552; J. Fatum 548; George Kuriger 543; Bun Rourke 541; Fred Schussler 202—538; Bill Ball 522; Pres Knight 519; Eddie Esposito 506 and George Magley 503.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

According to the grapevine, the week-end sojourn of Kingston's small army of male keglers was somewhat of an artistic failure, but a social success unprecedented in local bowling annals. At a late hour today, we were still trying to identify the trundler who won the handicap singles sweeper in the corridors of the Mark Twain Hotel.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

The city may have a future Vic Scott or Don Whitfield in Cliff Miller, son of Harvey "Chic" Miller, former bowling ace who is in the outboard motor business. The Millers have a pair of Class A and D outboards and plan to compete in several events leading up to the annual Albany-to-New York outboard marathon in September. They will, of course, show in the Kingston Power Boat Association's annual regatta on the Rondout in July. Their first appearance will be in the Germantown-Hudson races which generally launch the area season. Format of the "Driftwood Derby" has been changed this season and the race will be restricted to hydroplanes. In order to qualify, a pilot must accumulate a minimum number of points in sanctioned races staged before the Albany marathon. Both father and son are extremely enthusiastic about their racing prospects.

Applications pouring in to Ad Jones, general manager, and Manager Hank Camelli of the Colonials for the spring training sessions which get under way on April 15 at municipal stadium. Meanwhile, the Oneonta Red Sox, a Boston American League farm, is drilling daily at Ocala, Fla., where Manager Owen Scheetz has 50 players under scrutiny. The Oneonta club will head north on April 25 or 26. The Rome Colonels have announced the sale of veteran outfielder, Bill Booker, to Auburn of the Border League. Booker was with Rome for five years and had served a six-week term as manager last season, before Emil Gall, ex-Colonial pilot took over. He batted .356 in 1946 and was selected to the all-star squad. A survey compiled by N. W. Ayer and Son, Co., an advertising agency, reveals the figure of 1005 stations scheduled to broadcast baseball games this season, both major and minor leagues. This is an increase of at least 200 over last season and 600 over two years ago. Obviously, organized baseball does not fear any detrimental effects of radio broadcasting. TV is the menace, not radio.

• The Nineteenth Hole:

Lloyd Mangrum, 1946 U. S. Open golf champion, will defend his title in the Palm Beach Invitation tournament at Wykagyl in New Rochelle on June 7-10, inclusive, according to word from Harold "Jug" McSpaden, the tournament director. This tournament is an annual must for Father Henry E. Herdegen, Alex Gerlak, Ralph Herdegen and yours truly. The 16th hole at Wykagyl, a course built by the late Lawrence Van Etten of Kingston before the turn of the century, is rated by the pros as the toughest par-3 hole in the United States. . . . Wiltwyck Golf Club has named several of its live wire members to head key committees for the 1951 season. Art Organtini will serve as general chairman of the entertainment committee. Bill Schaffrick and Ike Trowbridge are co-chairmen of special events and dances; Stan Hankinson heads the Greens and Fairways committee; Art Jansen, the artful divot digger, is chairman of the House and Grounds and Jim Winters, who specializes in par fives on the No. 8 hole, is head of the publicity committee. The important handicap and tournament committee is headed by Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., who did a magnificent job in 1950. Twaalfskill chairmen will be announced in a few days.

Floyd Flint, the brick tycoon, and the department lost out on a sure-thing filet mignon steak or frog's legs when Charlie Streib, the Rosendale bon vivant, closed his popular gourmet's rendezvous—The Igloo—to devote his time to a new defense industry. This was to have been a three-cornered match, on a loser-pay-all basis.

Charlie Vogel and Gus Schrowang among golf's early puddle jumpers this season. What's Vogel doing, ganging up on Charlie Gaffney so early in the season?

Will Hold Meeting

Members of the board of directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce will hold a regular meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Among the items for discussion will be a proposal to help the Kingston Bowling Association obtain for this city the 1952 New York State Bowling Association tournament. Selection of the 1952 tournament site will be made by delegates at Elmira on Saturday.

Three Aces Are Sent To Johns Hopkins

On the results of their physcal checkups at Johns Hopkins may hinge the New York Yankees' chance for another American League pennant and world's baseball championship.

Page, the Yankees' brilliant relief pitcher of 1949 was a disappointment last year, but before arm trouble popped up this spring, he flashed his old form.

Reynolds, a 16-game winner last season, hasn't been able to do much at all this spring because of his arm.

Rizzuto, the American League's most valuable player, said he didn't think his injury was serious.

"I expect to be on hand opening day," he said last night.

Rizzuto said he hurt his side playing and yesterday when he tried batting practice "it was a little bad."

But he insisted, "it's nothing serious. I'll be Okeh"

The three players were to leave here today by plane (2 p. m. CST) and expect to arrive at Baltimore, Md., tonight (10:30 p. m. CST).

Rizzuto, who hit .324 last season, was given an orthopedic belt to wear.

Rizzuto Confident

The Yankees start defense of their world's championship next Monday in Washington. Without Reynolds they have only two regular starting pitchers—Vic Raschi and Ed Lopat.

Page and Reynolds could not be reached for comment on their injuries.

The Yankees, who dropped an 8-5 decision to Boston of the National League here yesterday, left town soon after the game. The three players stayed behind.

Rizzuto did not appear worried over his injury and tried to brush it off.

But if he and Reynolds are not ready to go when the season starts, it will undoubtedly hurt the Yankees, figured to battle for the title with Cleveland and Boston's powerful Red Sox.

First Shad Catch

The first shad catch of the season was reported yesterday at the Eddyville falls by Mr. and Mrs. John Woods of Walden. It was a 16-inch specimen.

Proving That Old Habits Don't Shake Easily, AP Selector Names Bosox

New York, April 10 (AP)—No Red Sox. No Red Sox. No Red Sox. Not even if they get Joe DiMaggio, Bob Lemon and Vic Raschi. You swore off for keeps last September.

But that was seven months ago. With opening day a week off, the old craving returns, Giving up the Red Sox is tougher than cutting out cigarettes. That power. That new pitching. That Fenway Park. How can they lose?

The American League shapes up like a three-club race with Boston, New York and Cleveland in the thick of it. Detroit, off to a bad spring start, does not impress as a pennant contender.

Back of the first four, it's a grab bag, like two separate leagues with Washington, Chicago, St. Louis and Philadelphia in the second.

Here's the way it looks from here:

1. Boston Red Sox
2. New York Yankees
3. Cleveland Indians
4. Detroit Tigers
5. Washington Senators
6. Chicago White Sox
7. St. Louis Browns
8. Philadelphia A's

Most Improved

Boston figures the most improved club with the addition of Lou Boudreau, Bill Wight and Ray Scarborough, three front line regulars. The Sox gave up a good right fielder, a veteran pitcher and a rookie.

Boudreau is the "take charge guy" the Sox lacked. Signed as a utility man, the ex-Cleveland manager elbowed into the shortstop job when Vern Stephens was injured. On Stephens return, he moved to third base, benching Johnny Pesky.

The inspirational value of Boudreau could be what the satisfied, well-paid Sox need most. Lack of driving will to win has been conspicuous in their failures.

With Boudreau's bat aimed at the convenient left field wall, winning at Fenway Park should be easier than ever. They won 55 of 77 at home last season.

Beating the Yankees has been Boston's main problem. Their front line pitching has not been good enough to stop Joe DiMaggio and Hank Bauer, in particular. Addition of Wight and Scarborough figure to help plenty. Wight, an ex-Yank, pitched fine ball against them for Chicago. Scarborough, sharp this spring, pitches consistently good ball although his lifetme record is only 3-10 against New York.

The injury to first baseman Walt Dropo may result in another stuttering start by the Sox although Manager Steve O'Neill has handyman Billy Goodman to fill in.

There will be no delay in the Boston-New York test with the Sox slated to open with a three-day stand at Yankee Stadium April 17.

Yanks Creaking (?)

All you hear about the Yanks are raves on Mickey Mantle, the kid phenom who is going to take Joe DiMaggio's place some day but DiMaggo still is Mr. Big on the world champs. Hank Bauer figures to be better yet and that deadly double pay combination of Phil Rizzuto and Jerry Coleman will be intact. However, Phil has been troubled by injures.

It remains to be seen whether Casey Stengel has come up with a replacement for Whitey Ford on his pitching staff. Vic Raschi, Ed Lopat and Allie Reynolds form a strong nucleus although Reynolds has arm trouble.

Doubt about the ability of DiMaggio and Johnny Mize to play every day clouds the picture despite encouraging reports about rookies Tom Morgan, Gil McDougald and Mantle.

Cleveland has great potential that unfortunately seems to run up a dead end street each year in late summer. Early Wynn, Bob Lemon, Bobby Feller and Mike Garcia top the league's pitchers in effectiveness. Steve Gromek is a capable No. 5.

With Larry Doby, Luke Easter and Al Rosen to power the ball and the new Ray Boone-Bobby Avila infield combination starting its first full year, the tribe looks rough. Remember, they finished only six games out last fall.

Bowling Scores

Attention Secretaries: According to American Bowling Congress and K.B.A. city association rules, all bowling league secretaries must furnish the association with a complete summary of individual averages, standings and records at the end of the season. If your league has already completed its schedule and you have not filed such averages, kindly do so at once.

Rose Schatzel continued to find the pocket in steady fashion, piling up a 605 triple on games of 218, 212 and 177 in a postponed match in the Ferraro Mixed League.

Then in the regular bowling for the league, she again led the pack with 535. She hit for solos of 191, 197 and 167. H. Schussler pounded 214—547 for the runnerup slot; Fred Schussler had 545; Len Freer 214—521; Jake Chichelsky 226—514; Tillie Hasbrouck 506; John Bechtold 503; Rudy Hohenberger 493; Ed Schussler 487; Tony La Rocca 483; W. Lawrence 474 and D. Strubel 464.

Dorothea Walthery of New Paltz led the B.Y.A. keglerettes with 170-147-149—466 on the Bowlodrome drives, while Nell Glennon posted 443 and Nellie Alverson shot 434. Other top scorers included Emma Pratt 431; Mary Coniglio 412 and Ruth Senor 400.

Joe Singer found the pocket steadily for a 567 triple in the Good Neighbor circuit at the Bowlatorium. He fashioned solos of 204-183-180, while Meyer Basch was runnerup with 552. Mitzie Arlensky had 233—546; Murray Greene 541; Anton Werbalowsky 535; Lou Kantrowitz 525; Jack Blinder 524; Larry Jacobs 520; Herm Arlensky and J. Svirsky (205)—513; Ben Marcus 512; Al Heisman 509 and Jack Scheinvold 214—502.

Dot Rawding took over scoring honors in the Women's Major League with a 144-214-177—535 last night, while Winnie Overfield produced one of the best triples of the season—151-200-179—530.

Also of note were Rose Schatzel's 204—506; Ada Markle 500; Elizabeth Bruck 498; Betty Bailey 499; Mary Wyant 498; Grace Wojciechowski and Elizabeth Schoonmaker 491; Beverly Port 223—490; Eleanor Singer 487 and Rita La Rocca 201—479.

Joe Messinger, who is readying himself for a big baseball season in the City League, sandwiched a 166 with 212 and 235 for a rousing 615 triple in last night's session of the Tavern Association League at the Bowlatorium.

Had DeGraff finished strongly with 225—573; Jack Doyle shot 558; H. Schussler 556; Bill Pieper 212—555; I. Basch 206—554; B. Smith 214—552; J. Fatum 548; George Kuriger 543; Bun Rourke 541; Fred Schussler 202—538; Bill Ball 522; Pres Knight 519; Eddie Esposito 506 and George Magley 503.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

According to the grapevine, the week-end sojourn of Kingston's small army of male keglers was somewhat of an artistic failure, but a social success unprecedented in local bowling annals. At a late hour today, we were still trying to identify the trundler who won the handicap singles sweeper in the corridors of the Mark Twain Hotel.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

The city may have a future Vic Scott or Don Whitfield in Cliff Miller, son of Harvey "Chic" Miller, former bowling ace who is in the outboard motor business. The Millers have a pair of Class A and D outboards and plan to compete in several events leading up to the annual Albany-to-New York outboard marathon in September. They will, of course, show in the Kingston Power Boat Association's annual regatta on the Rondout in July. Their first appearance will be in the Germantown-Hudson races which generally launch the area season. Format of the "Driftwood Derby" has been changed this season and the race will be restricted to hydroplanes. In order to qualify, a pilot must accumulate a minimum number of points in sanctioned races staged before the Albany marathon. Both father and son are extremely enthusiastic about their racing prospects.

Applications pouring in to Ad Jones, general manager, and Manager Hank Camelli of the Colonials for the spring training sessions which get under way on April 15 at municipal stadium. Meanwhile, the Oneonta Red Sox, a Boston American League farm, is drilling daily at Ocala, Fla., where Manager Owen Scheetz has 50 players under scrutiny. The Oneonta club will head north on April 25 or 26. The Rome Colonels have announced the sale of veteran outfielder, Bill Booker, to Auburn of the Border League. Booker was with Rome for five years and had served a six-week term as manager last season, before Emil Gall, ex-Colonial pilot took over. He batted .356 in 1946 and was selected to the all-star squad. A survey compiled by N. W. Ayer and Son, Co., an advertising agency, reveals the figure of 1005 stations scheduled to broadcast baseball games this season, both major and minor leagues. This is an increase of at least 200 over last season and 600 over two years ago. Obviously, organized baseball does not fear any detrimental effects of radio broadcasting. TV is the menace, not radio.

• The Nineteenth Hole:

Lloyd Mangrum, 1946 U. S. Open golf champion, will defend his title in the Palm Beach Invitation tournament at Wykagyl in New Rochelle on June 7-10, inclusive, according to word from Harold "Jug" McSpaden, the tournament director. This tournament is an annual must for Father Henry E. Herdegen, Alex Gerlak, Ralph Herdegen and yours truly. The 16th hole at Wykagyl, a course built by the late Lawrence Van Etten of Kingston before the turn of the century, is rated by the pros as the toughest par-3 hole in the United States. . . . Wiltwyck Golf Club has named several of its live wire members to head key committees for the 1951 season. Art Organtini will serve as general chairman of the entertainment committee. Bill Schaffrick and Ike Trowbridge are co-chairmen of special events and dances; Stan Hankinson heads the Greens and Fairways committee; Art Jansen, the artful divot digger, is chairman of the House and Grounds and Jim Winters, who specializes in par fives on the No. 8 hole, is head of the publicity committee. The important handicap and tournament committee is headed by Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., who did a magnificent job in 1950. Twaalfskill chairmen will be announced in a few days.

Floyd Flint, the brick tycoon, and the department lost out on a sure-thing filet mignon steak or frog's legs when Charlie Streib, the Rosendale bon vivant, closed his popular gourmet's rendezvous—The Igloo—to devote his time to a new defense industry. This was to have been a three-cornered match, on a loser-pay-all basis.

Charlie Vogel and Gus Schrowang among golf's early puddle jumpers this season. What's Vogel doing, ganging up on Charlie Gaffney so early in the season?

Yankees to Start Season With Page, Reynolds and Rizzuto on Sidelines

Three Aces Are Sent To Johns Hopkins

Dallas, Tex., April 10 (AP)—Phil Rizzuto, Joe Page and Allie Reynolds are hospital bound today.

On the results of their physcal checkups at Johns Hopkins may hinge the New York Yankees' chance for another American League pennant and world's baseball championship.

Page, the Yankees' brilliant relief pitcher of 1949 was a disappointment last year, but before arm trouble popped up this spring, he flashed his old form.

Reynolds, a 16-game winner last season, hasn't been able to do much at all this spring because of his arm.

Rizzuto, the American League's most valuable player, said he didn't think his injury was serious.

"I expect to be on hand opening day," he said last night.

Rizzuto said he hurt his side playing and yesterday when he tried batting practice "it was a little bad."

But he insisted, "it's nothing serious. I'll be Okeh"

The three players were to leave here today by plane (2 p. m. CST) and expect to arrive at Baltimore, Md., tonight (10:30 p. m. CST).

Rizzuto, who hit .324 last season, was given an orthopedic belt to wear.

Rizzuto Confident

The Yankees start defense of their world's championship next Monday in Washington. Without Reynolds they have only two regular starting pitchers—Vic Raschi and Ed Lopat.

Page and Reynolds could not be reached for comment on their injuries.

The Yankees, who dropped an 8-5 decision to Boston of the National League here yesterday, left town soon after the game. The three players stayed behind.

Rizzuto did not appear worried over his injury and tried to brush it off.

But if he and Reynolds are not ready to go when the season starts, it will undoubtedly hurt the Yankees, figured to battle for the title with Cleveland and Boston's powerful Red Sox.

First Shad Catch

The first shad catch of the season was reported yesterday at the Eddyville falls by Mr. and Mrs. John Woods of Walden. It was a 16-inch specimen.

Will Hold Meeting

Members of the board of directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce will hold a regular meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Among the items for discussion will be a proposal to help the Kingston Bowling Association obtain for this city the 1952 New York State Bowling Association tournament. Selection of the 1952 tournament site will be made by delegates at Elmira on Saturday.

Proving That Old Habits Don't Shake Easily, AP Selector Names Bosox

New York, April 10 (AP)—No Red Sox. No Red Sox. No Red Sox. Not even if they get Joe DiMaggio, Bob Lemon and Vic Raschi. You swore off for keeps last September.

But that was seven months ago. With opening day a week off, the old craving returns, Giving up the Red Sox is tougher than cuttng out cigarettes. That power. That new pitching. That Fenway Park. How can they lose?

The Amercan League shapes up like a three-club race with Boston, New York and Cleveland in the thick of it. Detroit, off to a bad spring start, does not impress as a pennant contender.

Back of the first four, it's a grab bag, like two separate leagues with Washington, Chicago, St. Louis and Philadelphia in the second.

Here's the way it looks from here:

1. Boston Red Sox
2. New York Yankees
3. Cleveland Indians
4. Detroit Tigers
5. Washington Senators
6. Chicago White Sox
7. St. Louis Browns
8. Philadelphia A's

Most Improved

Boston figures the most improved club with the addition of Lou Boudreau, Bill Wight and Ray Scarborough, three front line regulars. The Sox gave up a good right fielder, a veteran pitcher and a rookie.

Boudreau is the "take charge guy" the Sox lacked. Signed as a utility man, the ex-Cleveland manager elbowed into the shortstop job when Vern Stephens was injured. On Stephens return, he moved to third base, benching Johnny Pesky.

The inspirational value of Boudreau could be what the satisfied, well-paid Sox need most. Lack of driving will to win has been conspicuous in their failures.

With Boudreau's bat aimed at the convenient left field wall, winning at Fenway Park should be easier than ever. They won 55 of 77 at home last season.

Beating the Yankees has been Boston's main problem. Their front line pitching has not been good enough to stop Joe DiMaggio and Hank Bauer, in particular. Addition of Wight and Scarborough figure to help plenty. Wight, an ex-Yank, pitched fine ball against them for Chicago. Scarborough, sharp this spring, pitches consistently good ball although his lifetme record is only 3-10 against New York.

The injury to first baseman Walt Dropo may result in another stuttering start by the Sox although Manager Steve O'Neill has handyman Billy Goodman to fill in.

There will be no delay in the Boston-New York test with the Sox slated to open with a three-day stand at Yankee Stadium April 17.

Yanks Creaking (?)

All you hear about the Yanks are raves on Mickey Mantle, the kid phenom who is going to take Joe DiMaggio's place some day but DiMaggo still is Mr. Big on the world champs. Hank Bauer figures to be better yet and that deadly double pay combination of Phil Rizzuto and Jerry Coleman will be intact. However, Phil has been troubled by injures.

It remains to be seen whether Casey Stengel has come up with a replacement for Whitey Ford on his pitching staff. Vic Raschi, Ed Lopat and Allie Reynolds form a strong nucleus although Reynolds has arm trouble.

Doubt about the ability of DiMaggio and Johnny Mize to play every day clouds the picture despite encouraging reports about rookies Tom Morgan, Gil McDougald and Mantle.

Cleveland has great potential that unfortunately seems to run up a dead end street each year in late summer. Early Wynn, Bob Lemon, Bobby Feller and Mike Garcia top the league's pitchers in effectiveness. Steve Gromek is a capable No. 5.

With Larry Doby, Luke Easter and Al Rosen to power the ball and the new Ray Boone-Bobby Avila infield combination starting its first full year, the tribe looks rough. Remember, they finished only six games out last fall.

SEND GREETING:

Upon the petition of Edwin H. C. Angell of the Town of Chatham, Columbia County, New York;

You and each of you are hereby cited to show cause, at a Surrogate's Court to be held in and for the County of Ulster, at the Surrogate's Office, in the City of Kingston, in said County, on the 30th day of April next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, why such a decree of this Court as justice requires should not be made determining the validity, construction, and effect of the disposition of the property contained in the "TENTH" paragraph of the Last Will and Testament of said Palmer A. Canfield, deceased, as to permit the life tenant and remainderman to convey a valid title to the premises at 72 McEntee Street, in the City of Kingston, N. Y.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, we have caused the seal of the said Surrogate's Court to be hereunto affixed. Witness, HON. JOHN B. STERLEY, Surrogate of our said County, at the City of Kingston, the 19th day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifty-one.

To Lay Off Railroaders

New York, April 10 (AP)—Several thousand employes of the New York Central Railroad in 11 eastern states are to be laid off later this week. The New York Central says the layoffs are caused by a combination of reasons, including a decrease in freight business, wage increases, higher material costs, and losses from a switchmen's strike. No exact figures on the number to be laid off were given in the railroad's announcement yesterday, but a spokesman said most would be non-operating terminal employes.

Drive Is Below Quota

The Red Cross drive in the Town of Marbletown fell short of its $1,350 quota, Kenneth Davenport, chairman, announced today in listing receipts of $1,054.25. Mr. Davenport said he wished to thank the many workers for their efforts in the 1951 campaign.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the stockholders of the S. R. DEYO COMPANY will be held at the office of the company, Flatbush Avenue, on the 16th day of April, 1951 at two o'clock P. M. for the purpose of electing three directors for the ensuing year and two inspectors of election to serve at the next annual meeting, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

Warren's Action Causes Upset in Florida, Capital

Miami, Fla., April 10 (AP) — Echoes of Governor Warren's reinstatement of Dade (Miami) County Sheriff Jimmy Sullivan reverberated throughout Florida today. They reached as far as Washington and New York.

At least two newspapers called for Warren's impeachment. A member of the governor's own cabinet said he was "shocked."

Senator O'Conor (D-Md.), a member of the Kefauver Senate Crime Committee, said in New York he considered Sullivan's reinsatement "of sufficient importance that I plan to bring it formally to the attention of the committee."

Sullivan was suspended last Oct. 16 after a grand jury charged he failed to enforce gambling laws and permitted his deputies to be bribed. The grand jury acted after a Kefauver committee session here.

Warren reinstated Sullivan to the $12,000 a year post yesterday.

In Washington, Senator Hunt (D-Wyo.), another member of the Kefauver committee, said he was "concerned and surprised" to learn of Governor Warren's action.

Rudolph Halley, the Senate committee's chief counsel, called the reinstatement "a shocking thing."

No Violation Revealed

Lifting Sullivan's suspension, Warren said his study of the grand jury's evidence had revealed "no violation of any law of the state of Florida." He was not available for comment after his order went out.

Sullivan had petitioned Warren for reinstatement last Jan. 19, charging that his indictment by the grand jury was a "fraud."

The indictment was voided by the State Supreme Court because it did not specifically charge Sullivan with a crime under state law.

When announcement of Sullivan's reinstatement was made yesterday, State Senator Verle A. Pope of St. Augustine offered a resolution in the Legislature calling for an investigation of Warren's action. The Senate debated the resolution, then referred to the committee on rules and calendar.

Times Is Flabbergasted

The St. Petersburg Times said the reinstatement "flabbergasts us. . . ."

"The governor must have known by this time he was inviting a cry for impeachment," the Times said editorially.

The Miami Herald, in a front page editorial, said Warren should be impeached.

Florida Attorney General Richard Ervin said the reinstatement came as a "distinct shock."

"Crime conditions have improved immensely," Ervin asserted. "This move appears to turn back the clock. It will shock the people of the state who thought things were getting better."

Sullivan, smiling and exuding good humor as he regained the office, said he understood the entire nation was "turning over a new leaf" and the former "liberal" policy of Dade county would have to go.

"There will be no gambling," he said. "I will see to that."

Russians Use Carp

London, April 10 (AP)—The Russians reported today they are now using carp to tend rice fields in the Kazak republic. The official Soviet news agency Tass said 200,000 fish, all yearlings, have been placed in the rice paddies of the area. It explained: "This is very beneficial to the rice plants, as the carp, in search of food, destroy rice pests and the larvae of the malaria mosquitoes. "They also stir up the mud, thus helping the growth of the plants. This increases the rice yield, on an average, by seven centners per hectare." A centner is 110.23 pounds and a hectare 2.471 acres.

Move Rejected

New York, April 10 (AP)—A move by Joseph C. Bancroft, 45, White Plains manufacturer, to keep the Court of Special Sessions from hearing a paternity proceeding was rejected today by the New York state Appellate Division. The vote was 3 to 2. The New York Department of Welfare brought the action on complaint of Dorris Hurst, 26, Texas widow and former photographer's model. She charges that Bancroft is the father of her daughter, born out of wedlock on Nov. 1, 1948.

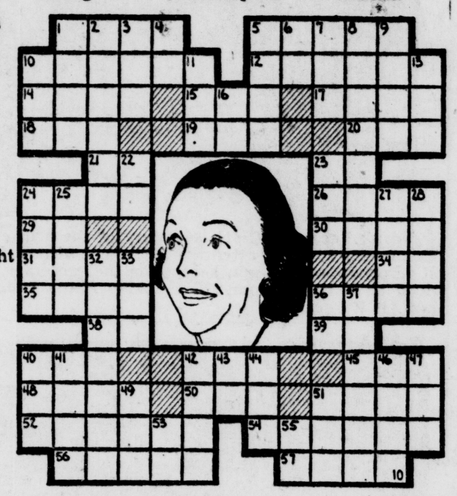
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Hayden Admits

join the Communist party?"

"I joined the party," Hayden said.

The one-time marine corps captain, whose real name is John Hamilton, was the lead-off witness (10 a. m.) in the second phase of the committee's probe of whether Reds have infiltrated the movie capital.

Others Scheduled

In sessions scheduled for the remainder of the week he will be followed by actors Will Geer, Victor Killian and J. Edward Bromberg; actress Anne Revere; writers Richard Collins, Harold Buchman, Waldo Salt, Robert Lees and Paul Jarrico; and Meta Reis Rosenberg, Fred Graff and Sam Moore, not otherwise identified.

Committee Chairman Wood (D.-Ga.) said the question of televising the proceedings had been tabled—at least temporarily—after some members said they considered the nature of the Hollywood hearings entirely different from the widely viewed Senate crime investigation hearings.

Hayden, described in advance of today's session as a "cooperative" witness, was preceded two weeks ago by actors Larry Parks and Howard Da Silva and actress Gale Sondergaard.

Miss Sondergaard and Da Silva face possible contempt citations for their refusal to answer questions about communism.

Hayden, a six-foot four-inch former seafarer, won the Silver Star decoration for valor in World War 2 as a marine corps captain assigned to the Office of Strategic Services (OSS) — the secret "cloak-and-dagger" branch of the army.

As an OSS officer, he operated a small fishing craft off the Dalmatian and Albanian coast aiding downed allied fliers escape to Italy.

Inspection Is Made

Guetersloh, Germany, April 10 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower made his first field inspection of Atlantic Pact troops here today and called for the west to put lesser interests aside "and build up our strength." The Atlantic Pact chief slogged through mud and rain as he watched tough British tankers, infantry and artillerymen go through tactical maneuvers in this British zone headquarters area.

Dates From Tiles

Decorated clay tiles, stamped with the date of their manufacture and used in Persian buildings of the Middle Ages, have enabled historians to fix the date of many Persian works of art bearing similar decorations.

Breast Cancer Safeguard

The American Cancer Society recommends that women examine their breasts methodically once a month to help detect breast cancer in its early stages when the cure rate is nearly 90 per cent. Later breast cancer is only 40 per cent curable.

Gaitskell Proposes Biggest Budget

London, April 10 (AP)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Gaitskell today proposed an expenditure for 1951-52 of £4,197,000,000 ($11,751,000,000), the biggest budget in Britain's peacetime history.

Defense spending alone would cost £1,490,000,000 ($4,172,000,000), Gaitskell told the House of Commons.

President Truman has proposed a military budget of $41,421,000,000 for American forces in the 1951 fiscal year. The Soviet Parliament has adopted a record military budget of 96,000,000,000 rubles for 1951, about $24,000,000,000 at the Soviet evaluation of the ruble.

Police Chase Rifleman Who Escapes at Sea

Boothbay Harbor, Me., April 10 (AP)—Five boats carrying police streaked out to sea today trying to get in shooting range of a swift orange and white power craft manned by a rifleman who roared away from a wharf after firing at pursuing officers.

State Police Capt. Edward J. Marks said it was "pitiful" how the power boat outstripped the police boats in the first dash to sea.

The rifleman's boat is seaworthy enough to make Boston if the fuel holds out, Marks added.

It's a 40-foot vessel with one mast, an orange deck and a white hull. It's named "Greyhound."

Marks said the "Greyhound" darted away from Fisherman's Wharf shortly after report of the theft of a powerful rifle and ammunition from a waterfront hardware store.

Patrolmen checking the area ducked bullets from the stolen .30-06 rifle before the rifleman ceased fire and leaped aboard the "Greyhound."

Boerker Says . . .

the way to Paducah, Ky. Floods are unknown.

"The moral for Ulster county seems to be if the woodland owners do not get busy and keep their woodlands in productive condition, some government official is going to get the bright idea of building a lot of dams up in the Catskill valleys. It is happening in the Connecticut valley; it can very well happen in the Catskills."

Should Leave Some

The first thing a woodlot owner should do, when he sells his timber, the letter advised, "is to leave the small stuff below 12 inches to form the basis of the next crop." Timber is always a good investment, he said, and a good practice is to "register your woodlot under the State Forest Practices Act, whereby the state will estimate your timber and give plans on how to log it conservatively so it will always produce timber. Such services do not cost a cent. I have just registered about 300 acres near Willow, so I practice what I preach. The second suggestion I have is watch legislation and advocate passage of conservation laws. Join some conservation organization; it is a great deal of satisfaction to be part of an organization bigger and better than you are. Make the world a better place in which to live."

join the Communist party?"

"I joined the party," Hayden said.

The one-time marine corps captain, whose real name is John Hamilton, was the lead-off witness (10 a. m.) in the second phase of the committee's probe of whether Reds have infiltrated the movie capital.

Others Scheduled

In sessions scheduled for the remainder of the week he will be followed by actors Will Geer, Victor Killian and J. Edward Bromberg; actress Anne Revere; writers Richard Collins, Harold Buchman, Waldo Salt, Robert Lees and Paul Jarrico; and Meta Reis Rosenberg, Fred Graff and Sam Moore, not otherwise identified.

Committee Chairman Wood (D.-Ga.) said the question of televising the proceedings had been tabled—at least temporarily—after some members said they considered the nature of the Hollywood hearings entirely different from the widely viewed Senate crime investigation hearings.

Hayden, described in advance of today's session as a "cooperative" witness, was preceded two weeks ago by actors Larry Parks and Howard Da Silva and actress Gale Sondergaard.

Miss Sondergaard and Da Silva face possible contempt citations for their refusal to answer questions about communism.

Hayden, a six-foot four-inch former seafarer, won the Silver Star decoration for valor in World War 2 as a marine corps captain assigned to the Office of Strategic Services (OSS) — the secret "cloak-and-dagger" branch of the army.

As an OSS officer, he operated a small fishing craft off the Dalmatian and Albanian coast aiding downed allied fliers escape to Italy.

Inspection Is Made

Guetersloh, Germany, April 10 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower made his first field inspection of Atlantic Pact troops here today and called for the west to put lesser interests aside "and build up our strength." The Atlantic Pact chief slogged through mud and rain as he watched tough British tankers, infantry and artillerymen go through tactical maneuvers in this British zone headquarters area.

Gaitskell Proposes Biggest Budget

London, April 10 (AP)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Gaitskell today proposed an expenditure for 1951-52 of £4,197,000,000 ($11,751,000,000), the biggest budget in Britain's peacetime history.

Defense spending alone would cost £1,490,000,000 ($4,172,000,000), Gaitskell told the House of Commons.

President Truman has proposed a military budget of $41,421,000,000 for American forces in the 1951 fiscal year. The Soviet Parliament has adopted a record military budget of 96,000,000,000 rubles for 1951, about $24,000,000,000 at the Soviet evaluation of the ruble.

Police Chase Rifleman Who Escapes at Sea

Boothbay Harbor, Me., April 10 (AP)—Five boats carrying police streaked out to sea today trying to get in shooting range of a swift orange and white power craft manned by a rifleman who roared away from a wharf after firing at pursuing officers.

State Police Capt. Edward J. Marks said it was "pitiful" how the power boat outstripped the police boats in the first dash to sea.

The rifleman's boat is seaworthy enough to make Boston if the fuel holds out, Marks added.

It's a 40-foot vessel with one mast, an orange deck and a white hull. It's named "Greyhound."

Marks said the "Greyhound" darted away from Fisherman's Wharf shortly after report of the theft of a powerful rifle and ammunition from a waterfront hardware store.

Patrolmen checking the area ducked bullets from the stolen .30-06 rifle before the rifleman ceased fire and leaped aboard the "Greyhound."

Boerker Says . . .

"The moral for Ulster county seems to be if the woodland owners do not get busy and keep their woodlands in productive condition, some government official is going to get the bright idea of building a lot of dams up in the Catskill valleys. It is happening in the Connecticut valley; it can very well happen in the Catskills."

Should Leave Some

The first thing a woodlot owner should do, when he sells his timber, the letter advised, "is to leave the small stuff below 12 inches to form the basis of the next crop." Timber is always a good investment, he said, and a good practice is to "register your woodlot under the State Forest Practices Act, whereby the state will estimate your timber and give plans on how to log it conservatively so it will always produce timber. Such services do not cost a cent. I have just registered about 300 acres near Willow, so I practice what I preach. The second suggestion I have is watch legislation and advocate passage of conservation laws. Join some conservation organization; it is a great deal of satisfaction to be part of an organization bigger and better than you are. Make the world a better place in which to live."

To Lay Off Railroaders

New York, April 10 (AP)—Several thousand employes of the New York Central Railroad in 11 eastern states are to be laid off later this week. The New York Central says the layoffs are caused by a combination of reasons, including a decrease in freight business, wage increases, higher material costs, and losses from a switchmen's strike. No exact figures on the number to be laid off were given in the railroad's announcement yesterday, but a spokesman said most would be non-operating terminal employes.

Drive Is Below Quota

The Red Cross drive in the Town of Marbletown fell short of its $1,350 quota, Kenneth Davenport, chairman, announced today in listing receipts of $1,054.25. Mr. Davenport said he wished to thank the many workers for their efforts in the 1951 campaign.

Warren's Action Causes Upset in Florida, Capital

Miami, Fla., April 10 (AP) — Echoes of Governor Warren's reinstatement of Dade (Miami) County Sheriff Jimmy Sullivan reverberated throughout Florida today. They reached as far as Washington and New York.

At least two newspapers called for Warren's impeachment. A member of the governor's own cabinet said he was "shocked."

Senator O'Conor (D-Md.), a member of the Kefauver Senate Crime Committee, said in New York he considered Sullivan's reinsatement "of sufficient importance that I plan to bring it formally to the attention of the committee."

Sullivan was suspended last Oct. 16 after a grand jury charged he failed to enforce gambling laws and permitted his deputies to be bribed. The grand jury acted after a Kefauver committee session here.

Warren reinstated Sullivan to the $12,000 a year post yesterday.

In Washington, Senator Hunt (D-Wyo.), another member of the Kefauver committee, said he was "concerned and surprised" to learn of Governor Warren's action.

Rudolph Halley, the Senate committee's chief counsel, called the reinstatement "a shocking thing."

No Violation Revealed

Lifting Sullivan's suspension, Warren said his study of the grand jury's evidence had revealed "no violation of any law of the state of Florida." He was not available for comment after his order went out.

Sullivan had petitioned Warren for reinstatement last Jan. 19, charging that his indictment by the grand jury was a "fraud."

The indictment was voided by the State Supreme Court because it did not specifically charge Sullivan with a crime under state law.

When announcement of Sullivan's reinstatement was made yesterday, State Senator Verle A. Pope of St. Augustine offered a resolution in the Legislature calling for an investigation of Warren's action. The Senate debated the resolution, then referred to the committee on rules and calendar.

Times Is Flabbergasted

The St. Petersburg Times said the reinstatement "flabbergasts us. . . ."

"The governor must have known by this time he was inviting a cry for impeachment," the Times said editorially.

The Miami Herald, in a front page editorial, said Warren should be impeached.

Florida Attorney General Richard Ervin said the reinstatement came as a "distinct shock."

"Crime conditions have improved immensely," Ervin asserted. "This move appears to turn back the clock. It will shock the people of the state who thought things were getting better."

Sullivan, smiling and exuding good humor as he regained the office, said he understood the entire nation was "turning over a new leaf" and the former "liberal" policy of Dade county would have to go.

"There will be no gambling," he said. "I will see to that."

Russians Use Carp

London, April 10 (AP)—The Russians reported today they are now using carp to tend rice fields in the Kazak republic. The official Soviet news agency Tass said 200,000 fish, all yearlings, have been placed in the rice paddies of the area. It explained: "This is very beneficial to the rice plants, as the carp, in search of food, destroy rice pests and the larvae of the malaria mosquitoes. "They also stir up the mud, thus helping the growth of the plants. This increases the rice yield, on an average, by seven centners per hectare." A centner is 110.23 pounds and a hectare 2.471 acres.

Move Rejected

New York, April 10 (AP)—A move by Joseph C. Bancroft, 45, White Plains manufacturer, to keep the Court of Special Sessions from hearing a paternity proceeding was rejected today by the New York state Appellate Division. The vote was 3 to 2. The New York Department of Welfare brought the action on complaint of Dorris Hurst, 26, Texas widow and former photographer's model. She charges that Bancroft is the father of her daughter, born out of wedlock on Nov. 1, 1948.

London, April 10 (AP)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Gaitskell today proposed an expenditure for 1951-52 of £4,197,000,000 ($11,751,000,000), the biggest budget in Britain's peacetime history.

Defense spending alone would cost £1,490,000,000 ($4,172,000,000), Gaitskell told the House of Commons.

President Truman has proposed a military budget of $41,421,000,000 for American forces in the 1951 fiscal year. The Soviet Parliament has adopted a record military budget of 96,000,000,000 rubles for 1951, about $24,000,000,000 at the Soviet evaluation of the ruble.

The first thing a woodlot owner should do, when he sells his timber, the letter advised, "is to leave the small stuff below 12 inches to form the basis of the next crop." Timber is always a good investment, he said, and a good practice is to "register your woodlot under the State Forest Practices Act, whereby the state will estimate your timber and give plans on how to log it conservatively so it will always produce timber. Such services do not cost a cent. I have just registered about 300 acres near Willow, so I practice what I preach. The second suggestion I have is watch legislation and advocate passage of conservation laws. Join some conservation organization; it is a great deal of satisfaction to be part of an organization bigger and better than you are. Make the world a better place in which to live."

General Believes War Could Come If Allies Bombed

Wichita, Kas., April 10 (AP)—A former army commander under General MacArthur said last night bombing across the Yalu river in Manchuria could precipitate an all-out shooting war.

Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger said sending Chinese Nationalist forces into action in China could bring the same result.

Eichelberger formerly commanded the Eighth Army in the Pacific and recently was head of occupation forces in Japan.

"I believe Stalin committed himself to protect China from attack when he succeeded in getting the Chinese Reds into action in Korea," Eichelberger said.

The general added he believes use of Nationalist forces in China or bombing across the Yalu river would be interpreted as a direct threat to the Communist regime in China and therefore would be likely to bring Russia into the war.

America is not prepared to fight a war with Communist Russia, Eichelberger said, and everything possible should be done to avoid all-out conflict at this time.

American factories must be given time to "tool up," the general told a Wichita men's dinner club audience.

Allies Reach . . .

yang airfield, troop units and supply centers.

Rear Adm. Ralph A. Ofstie, commanding Carrier Task Force 77, told a news conference Tuesday his fighters and bombers along the 250 mile northeast Korean coast have knocked one or more spans out of 170 principal bridges in the last two and one-half months. He said nearly 50 other big bridges have been damaged.

MacArthur Denies

For MacArthur, this is an old battle and not merely a month-old controversy. It goes back to the early bitter days of the Pacific war when MacArthur was bypassed in favor of Europe.

The general has hammered consistently during the past decade on the theme that America's future rests in the Orient. He firmly believes, as he has said, that the Kremlin plans to win through Asia.

Board Reports Fire Deliberate

Ottawa, Canada, April 10 (AP)—A government inquiry board reported to the Canadian Parliament yesterday that a fire aboard the Canada Steamships Lines cruiser Quebec last August was set deliberately by unknown persons. Four Americans and three Canadians perished in the blaze.

Mr. Justice Fernand Choquette, in the report, found that the 4,000-ton ship's electric fire alarm system had been put out of order deliberately.

The Americans who died in the fire as the ship neared Tadoussac, at the mouth of the Saguenay river, were: Dr. and Mrs. Pickens Smith McCollum of Clemson, N. C., and Gertrude and Eva Taub, sisters, of Tarrytown, N. Y.

Choquette said the fire and loss of life were not contributed to by any "wrongful act or default" on the part of the owners, the ship's master, Capt. C. H. Burch, or any other persons besides the incendiarist.

However, he added there were "several individual defaults and omissions" by crew members not going to stations assigned to them. He criticized lack of fire-fighting qualifications and training of the crew for emergencies.

Federal Transport Minister Lionel Checrier said the report's recommendations for tightening up safety precautions would receive his department's immediate attention.

General Believes War Could Come If Allies Bombed

Wichita, Kas., April 10 (AP)—A former army commander under General MacArthur said last night bombing across the Yalu river in Manchuria could precipitate an all-out shooting war.

Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger said sending Chinese Nationalist forces into action in China could bring the same result.

Eichelberger formerly commanded the Eighth Army in the Pacific and recently was head of occupation forces in Japan.

"I believe Stalin committed himself to protect China from attack when he succeeded in getting the Chinese Reds into action in Korea," Eichelberger said.

The general added he believes use of Nationalist forces in China or bombing across the Yalu river would be interpreted as a direct threat to the Communist regime in China and therefore would be likely to bring Russia into the war.

America is not prepared to fight a war with Communist Russia, Eichelberger said, and everything possible should be done to avoid all-out conflict at this time.

American factories must be given time to "tool up," the general told a Wichita men's dinner club audience.

Allies Reach . . .

yang airfield, troop units and supply centers.

Rear Adm. Ralph A. Ofstie, commanding Carrier Task Force 77, told a news conference Tuesday his fighters and bombers along the 250 mile northeast Korean coast have knocked one or more spans out of 170 principal bridges in the last two and one-half months. He said nearly 50 other big bridges have been damaged.

MacArthur Denies

military men and diplomats.

For MacArthur, this is an old battle and not merely a month-old controversy. It goes back to the early bitter days of the Pacific war when MacArthur was bypassed in favor of Europe.

The general has hammered consistently during the past decade on the theme that America's future rests in the Orient. He firmly believes, as he has said, that the Kremlin plans to win through Asia.

Board Reports Fire Deliberate

Ottawa, Canada, April 10 (AP)—A government inquiry board reported to the Canadian Parliament yesterday that a fire aboard the Canada Steamships Lines cruiser Quebec last August was set deliberately by unknown persons. Four Americans and three Canadians perished in the blaze.

Mr. Justice Fernand Choquette, in the report, found that the 4,000-ton ship's electric fire alarm system had been put out of order deliberately.

The Americans who died in the fire as the ship neared Tadoussac, at the mouth of the Saguenay river, were: Dr. and Mrs. Pickens Smith McCollum of Clemson, N. C., and Gertrude and Eva Taub, sisters, of Tarrytown, N. Y.

Choquette said the fire and loss of life were not contributed to by any "wrongful act or default" on the part of the owners, the ship's master, Capt. C. H. Burch, or any other persons besides the incendiarist.

However, he added there were "several individual defaults and omissions" by crew members not going to stations assigned to them. He criticized lack of fire-fighting qualifications and training of the crew for emergencies.

Federal Transport Minister Lionel Checrier said the report's recommendations for tightening up safety precautions would receive his department's immediate attention.
